MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

Industry Environment

The achievements of the Indian pharmaceutical industry during the last three decades are spectacular by any standards. From a mere processing industry, India's pharmaceutical industry is today highly sophisticated possessing advanced manufacturing technology, modern equipment and stringent quality control. From being a major importer of bulk drugs and formulations, the Indian pharmaceutical industry has today become a net exporter of pharmaceutical products. Now, Indian pharmaceutical products are being exported to a large number of countries including USA, Canada, Germany, France and Latin American countries.

Segment-wise performance

Your Company only operates in this one segment.

Opportunities, Threats, Risks and Concerns

The present market environment and imminent changes pose significant challenges for the players in the industry.

Trade Related Intellectual Property Rights (TRIPs) under the umbrella of The General Agreement on Tariff and Trade (GATT), have provided guidelines for harmonisation of IPR laws in the World Trade Organization (WTO). The pharmaceutical industry in India is moving towards a TRIPS-driven Product Patent Regime post-2005. This implies that in the long term, survival of pharmaceutical companies is going to depend not only on their production efficiency but also on their ability to create intellectual property leading to development of New Chemical Entities (NCEs) /Novel Drug Delivery Systems (NDDS).

These changes mean different things for MNCs and for domestic companies. Many MNCs have kept some of their onpatent drugs away from the Indian market because of the patent laws and regulatory issues. As these changes come in, the MNCs may decide to launch these products in India and further leverage their overall product portfolio. On the part of domestic companies, while some have already made aggressive investments towards R&D in NCEs/NDDS, others would have to follow suit. Furthermore, making investments is really the first step. The end game is in their ability to bring profitable NCEs/NDDS to market.

The pharmaceutical industry in India is among the most challenging places to be in. As the rules of the game evolve and change, companies would need to rapidly realign themselves. This realignment would involve building new areas of competence and strengthening existing ones.

Your Company will also pursue new opportunities and will ensure adequate internal preparedness to take maximum advantage of such opportunities going forward.

INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEM

The Company has installed an adequate system of internal controls in all spheres of its activity. The Management regularly reviews the internal controls and takes appropriate steps to implement the suggestions and observations.

HUMAN RESOURCES
