The company is engaged in the business of the manufacturing Cables of various sizes for the Telecom Sector and the company also trades in cable accessories.

During the previous year the Company had acquired 100% shareholding of its erstwhile subsidiary - M/s Shilpi Cabletronics Ltd. Thereafter Shilpi Cabletronics Ltd has now been merged with the Company with the approval of the High Court along with its business and manufacturing plant at Bhwadi, Rajasthan.

Despite the worldwide economic challenges, your Company remained steadfast in delivering excellent performance during last financial year. Your Board hopes that with the support from the Telecom & Automotive market, your Company will accelerate the process to forge ahead towards the goal of being a top-class company in this sector.

Industry Structure, Developments & Outlook

The Indian cable market has been witnessing growth owing to the increasing subscriber base. With over 900 million users, the Indian telecom market is the second largest in the world. An expanding subscriber base and broadband growth have led to telecom operators adopting new technologies to increase the capacity of existing networks and offer improved quality of service (QoS).

Active infrastructure in a telecom network comprises components such as radio frequency (RF) feeder cables, base transceiver stations (BTSs), switches and antennas. RF feeder cables are used for connecting BTSs to antennas, and given the large number of BTSs deployed in the country; there exists a large market for this component.

As far as telecom cable sector is concerned; the key components that will drive the demand of feeder cables in India in future are:

- Strong subscriber base and healthy growth estimates based on expansion of mobile telephony in rural India;
- Demand for cell sites is expected to increase with each operator vying for geographical expansion of their network;
- Mobile Number Portability (MNP)
- 3G services
- Replacement of existing cables

Sharing of active infrastructure will also allow operators to share key electronic components such as antennae, radio access networks, transmission system and backhaul. Globally, sharing of active infrastructure elements has been in commercial operation by 2G and 3G players.

Opportunities & Threats

In other mature economies, the market trend is changing favorably. The strategy of the company is to get higher profitability and stable cash flow generations in these markets.

Threats

Slow down: A slowdown of the World Economy mainly European economy is quite possible for the short term due to current global developments. Due to the strong linkage of the manufacturing industry to the economy, such an event would adversely impact growth in the short term for the Company.

Competition: Competition whether domestic or international has always been taken as a challenge. Transforming challenges into opportunities has been a practice at our company.

Foreign Exchange: The business includes foreign currency risk due to outsourcing from low cost countries and selling in other geographies. As it has been the market practice followed by other major competitors and all companies working on a global platform, the market absorption of the change is natural.

The Company is also exposed to changes in foreign exchange rates and commodity prices across its various business segments. Further, the Company also has exposures to other foreign currency denominated assets and liabilities. In many cases, such exposures are partly off-set by suitable pass-through clauses built into contracts with customers.
