Management Discussions & Analysis

BACKGROUND

The Company is registered with the Reserve Bank of India as a Non-Banking Financial Institution. Non-banking finance companies (NBFCs) continued to play a critical role in making financial services accessible to more of India's population. Given their unique business models and, for many, their focus on operational excellence, NBFCs should continue to strengthen their position in the financial services space in India.

ECONOMY AND MARKETS

Financial year 2014-15 (FY2015) began on a positive note. The country seems to be witnessing a slow but perceptible pick-up in growth. Gross Value Added (GVA), the newly calculated measure of national income, grew by 7.5% in 2014-15 versus 6.6% in 2013-14. In addition, there has been the benefit of significantly reduced crude oil prices which, alongwith lower food prices, has led to a drop in consumer price inflation from an average of 8.69% between 2012 and 2015 to 5.17% in March of 2015. The current account deficit is at 1.7% of GDP, which is far better than what it was earlier. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) cut policy rate by 50 basis points and also cut the statutory liquidity ratio (SLR) in three tranches.

As a result, Sensex and BSE Midcap index closed FY2015 with returns of 24.9% and 49.6% respectively. Mid-caps outperformed large caps substantially. Financials, capital goods, technology, pharmaceuticals and automobiles outperformed the Sensex while metals, energy and consumers underperformed.

Despite the easing of liquidity and reduction in policy rates, credit growth at 9.5% was the lowest in the last 18 years. Low credit growth coupled with high non-performing assets (NPAs) resulted in banks being reluctant to pass on the benefits of the eased liquidity and rate cuts.

By the end of FY2015 markets started correcting and the same continued to date. Sensex dropped by nearly 7% over March ~ April 2015. The unseasonal rains brought to fore agricultural and farmer distress and its negative impact on economy. Furthermore, worries over Greek exit from Eurozone, continued slowdown in Asia's biggest economy (China) and less than normal monsoon prediction for India weighed heavily on investors.

MINOLTA FINANCE LTD.

THREATS & CONCERNS

Many developing countries including India have reaped handsome rewards from surging capital inflows in recent years. This is widely regarded as a very welcome phenomenon, raising levels of investment and encouraging economic growth. But surging capital inflows can also be something of a double-edged sword, inflicting rather less welcome and destabilizing side effects, including a tendency for the local currency to gain in value, undermining the competitiveness of export industries, and potentially giving rise to inflation. Why inflation? Capital inflows result in a buildup of foreign exchange reserves. As these reserves are used to buy domestic currency, the domestic monetary base expands without a corresponding increase in production: too much money begins to chase too few goods and services.

To ease the threat of currency appreciation or inflation, central banks often attempt what is known as the "sterilization" of capital flows. In a successful sterilization operation, the domestic component of the monetary base (bank reserves plus currency) is reduced to offset the reserve inflow, at least temporarily. In theory, this can be achieved in several ways, such as by encouraging private investment overseas, or allowing foreigners to borrow from the local market. The classical form of sterilization, however, has been through the use of open market operations, that is, selling Treasury bills and other instruments to reduce the domestic component of the monetary base. The problem is that, in practice, such sterilization can be difficult to execute and sometimes even self-defeating, as an apparently successful operation may raise domestic interest rates and stimulate even greater capital inflows. Unfortunately, many developing countries also lack the tools available to run a classical sterilization policy, or find it simply too costly to do so. This is often the case wherever the financial system is not fully liberalized.
