YTD Dec FY25

Gross Margin contracted marginally over corresponding period last year on account of

- Product price reduction undertaken in last financial year
- Currency depreciation in the current quarter
- Some inventory impact of monomer price increase .
However, prices have now started coming down

Operating margin was lower on a YoY basis, however improved sequentially on the back of some operating leverage

Operating margin however remained on the higher end of the band of 15% to 17% as guided earlier

Profit growth at Net level saw an uptick aided by dividend received from BJN Nepal

Performance - Consolidated: Q3FY25

- Company's overseas subsidiary, Bolix S.A, Poland had a steady topline growth in the quarter. However, profitability was muted on account of some one-off project expenses.
- Company's overseas subsidiary, BJN Nepal had a robust turnaround performance on topline aided by a low base and improvement in business conditions. Profitability growth was strong aided by the scale effect.
- Company's subsidiary, STP Ltd had a quarter of steady topline growth. However, profitability suffered on account of deterioration in product mix owing to low traction in Admixture.
- SBL Specialty Coatings Ltd also had a modest growth in topline and a flat growth at operating profit level.
- The Joint venture Berger Becker Coatings had another quarter of healthy growth both on topline and profitability.
- Company's Joint venture Berger Nippon Paint Automotive Coatings Pvt. Ltd. had a strong topline growth and profitability showed significant improvement aided by gross margin expansion

Business Outlook

- We remain optimistic on decorative business improving its growth sequentially on the back of :
 - Likely improvement in consumer sentiment fuelled by favourable budget announcements and adequate monsoon
 - Volume - value gap expected to bridge due to weaning of price decrease impact in the coming quarter
- Protective business prospects seen better on the back of government spending on infrastructure
- Automotive and other industrial businesses likely to perform better in the coming quarters
- Geopolitics and currency depreciation appear as likely risks
