LinkedIn shares tips to help professionals avoid job scams & stay safe online

EOI CORRESPONDENT

KOLKATA, FEB 11--/This Safer Internet Day, it's a good time to rethink how we approach online job searches: what to watch out for, what to avoid, and how to stay protected. Here are some essential tips to help you spot scams, safeguard your information, and navigate job opportunities with confidence on LinkedIn.

AditiAhuja, Head - Legal & Public Policy, LinkedIn India says, "Safer Internet Day is an opportunity to reflect on how we can improve safety across the internet. At LinkedIn, we are committed to helping people stay safe in their job search. It's essential to approach job postings with caution and review all available information before applying. To support this, we've introduced measures that highlight verified details about job postings, companies, and recruiters helping job seekers make informed decisions with greater confidence."

LinkedIn tools to improve safety: Check for verified information on job postings. A verification badge on a job posting means there is verified information about the company or job post. This includes if the poster is affiliated with an official company page, has verified their association with a particular workplace, or has verified their identity through one of our identity verification partners. Enable message warnings, including a LinkPreview that automatically detect and filter harmful content, which may detect potentially harmful scams. Filter by jobs with verifications. You can now filter your job search to show only jobs with verifications. The filter allows you to search exclusively for jobs posted by companies with a verified LinkedIn Page and current job posters associated with those companies. Set up a passkey. Turn on two-step verification. Two-step verification uses more than one form of verification to access an account and can reduce unauthorized access to most accounts from unknown computers or devices.

CMD/BCL highlights importance of quality of Castings for wagon stocks at Indian Foundry Congress

EOI CORRESPONDENT

KOLKATA, FEB 11--/MdAsadAlam, Chairman and Managing Director, Braithwaite & Co. Limited (BCL) delivered a speech on the Quality requirements of Castings for wagon stocks at the prestigious 73rd Indian Foundry Congress and IFEX 2025, organised by The Institute of Indian Foundrymen (IIFF).

Mr Alim emphasized that castings are fundamental to ensuring the strength, stability, and reliability of India's railway network. He also highlighted BCL's legacy in wagon manufacturing and steel fabrication, underscoring the company's commitment to excellence. "As a pioneer in the railway industry, BCL has been at the forefront of manufacturing and steel fabrication, continuously setting higher benchmarks for quality and innovation," he stated.

Md. Alim stressed that approximately 2 lakh tonnes of casting components are required every year for freight stocks alone. These castings, including bolsters, side frames, coupler assemblies etc, play a vital role in maintaining railway safety and efficiency.

He concluded by reaffirming dedication of foundry units to driving innovation and fostering collaboration within the foundry sector. "Quality castings are not just a manufacturing necessity, they are a national priority. Together, we can build a stronger and more efficient railway system for India's future."
