Details of instruments/facilities in Annexure-1.

Rationale and key rating drivers

Reaffirmation in ratings assigned to bank facilities of Faze Three Limited (FTL) reflects its healthy operating and financial performance in FY24 and CARE Ratings Limited's (CARE Ratings') expectations of continued performance over the coming quarters on the back of its strong customer base and diversified product portfolio. The company's revenue growth remained flat in FY24 at ₹564.5 crore despite a volume growth of ~5% Y-o-Y owing to declining realisations on the back of normalisation in raw material prices during the year. FTL's profit before interest, lease rentals, depreciation, and taxation (PBILDT) margin also moderated by ~300 bps Y-o-Y to 15.3% in FY24 (the margin remained elevated in FY23 due to high raw material price volatility) on the back of stabilisation of gross margin and transient impact of global supply chain bottlenecks and certain one-time costs. While reaffirming ratings, CARE Ratings notes that FTL's PBILDT margin dipped to 11.2% in Q4 FY24 owing to one-time expenses considering setting up of a showroom in the US and operationalisation of capacity in Panipat and rising polyester prices. Nevertheless, with export demand headwinds largely subsiding, CARE Ratings expects FTL's revenue to record healthy growth over the coming years with increasing utilisation of newly added capacities and addition of new customers. Its PBILDT margin is expected to remain between 15% and 16% p.a. over the next 2-3 years.

Ratings continue to factor in FTL's comfortable financial risk profile, which is reflected by its strong net worth base, negligible debt repayment obligations, sizeable free cash, liquid investments, and its strong debt coverage metrics aided by healthy cash flow from operations. Ratings favourably factor in FTL's established track record with its customers, diversified product portfolio, and experienced promoters.

However, ratings are constrained by the high geographical concentration of revenue with exports to the US accounting for more than 50% of its revenue over the last three years. Ratings continue to factor in the working capital intensive operations and exposure of FTL's revenue and margins to raw material price volatility and fluctuation in foreign exchange rates.

Rating sensitivities: Factors likely to lead to rating actions

Positive factors

- Increasing scale of operations above ₹750 crore while maintaining profitability translating into healthy cash flow from operations on a sustained basis.

Negative factors

- Significantly declining revenue or profitability impacting the debt coverage indicators and liquidity position on a sustained basis.
- Large unanticipated debt-funded capex or acquisition resulting in deteriorating capital structure.
- Deteriorating working capital cycle leading to increasing total debt/ PBILDT above 2.00x.

Analytical approach: Consolidated

CARE Ratings has analysed FTL's credit profile by considering the consolidated financial statements owing to the financial and operational linkages between the parent and its subsidiaries. The list of subsidiaries is presented in Annexure-6.

Outlook: Stable

The Stable outlook reflects CARE Ratings' expectations that the company will maintain a comfortable financial risk profile over the medium term due to steady accretion to reserves on the back of improving volumes and negligible debt repayment obligations.

Detailed description of key rating drivers:

Key strengths

Experienced promoters

FTL was founded by Ajay Anand in 1985, who currently serves as its Chairman and Managing Director. The promoter group also includes Sanjay Anand (brother of Ajay Anand). FTL's promoters have over three decades of diverse knowledge and experience in the home and technical textiles industry and international marketing of home interiors and furnishings fabrics and made-ups. Vishnu Ajay Anand has been involved in operations and management since 2017 as a succession planning initiative. The promoters are supported by a team of qualified senior managerial personnel.

Long-term relationship with reputed clientele, diversified product portfolio

FTL's major customers include global big-box retailers in the US, the UK, and Europe such as Walmart, Costco, Target, and Sainsbury, among others. The company benefits from established and long-term relationships with key customers, which are expected to result in high repeat orders and increasing wallet share, supporting revenue visibility. Moreover, the company has a wide product portfolio, including bathmats, bathrugs, blankets, mats, chairpads, carpets, beach towels, and other top-of-the-bed products, with top three products accounting for ~60% of revenue in FY24. CARE Ratings observes, going forward, the diversified product portfolio is expected to support revenue growth over the medium term.

Comfortable financial risk profile and debt coverage metrics

The company's financial risk profile continues to remain comfortable as reflected by its overall gearing of 0.52x and total outside liabilities to tangible net worth (TOL/TNW) of 0.64x as on March 31, 2024 (PY: 0.63x, 0.89x, respectively) majorly considering improvement in its net worth base due to its sustained profitability in the recent years and limited reliance on external borrowings. FTL's debt coverage indicators remain healthy with interest cover of 7.69x and total debt/PBILDT of 1.96x in FY24 with negligible debt repayment obligations. Going forward, the company is expected to maintain a conservative capital structure with overall gearing below 0.5x level and interest cover above 7x over the medium term.

Key weaknesses

High working capital intensity of operations

FTL has an elongated working capital cycle owing to large inventory holding requirements given the limitation of capacity involved in the handloom operations and credit offered to customers. The company maintains an average inventory of 80-90 days towards raw material stocking and to meet the delivery timelines. The average collection period from customers has remained at ~60 days over the last three years. The company's working capital has remained elongated, though it showed improvement from 130 days in FY23 to 122 days in FY24. Nevertheless, order backed stocking of raw materials mitigates the risk of inventory write-downs to an extent.

Geographical and customer concentration of revenue

FTL's revenue profile continues to be moderately concentrated with the top five customers contributing nearly 32% of the total sales in FY24 (PY: around 49%), although the risk is mitigated to some extent given the established and long-standing relationships with these customers. The majority of export revenues, nearly 63% of the total export sales, is being derived from the US. The company is also present in the UK and European region and has also expanded in new markets such as Canada and Australia among others, which is expected to improve the geographical revenue mix over the medium-to-long term. The high revenue concentration exposes FTL to the risks arising from loss of major customer and evolving demand prospects in the US, its key market.

Susceptible to raw material price and forex rate fluctuation

The company's revenue and earnings remain exposed to the risks arising from volatility in prices of cotton and polyester. However, the risk is mitigated to a certain extent by the order-based procurement policy, which aids in passing on the raw material price volatility to customers, despite with a lag. Moreover, the company is inherently exposed to foreign currency fluctuation risk due to its export-oriented business, in the absence of a defined formal forex hedging policy.

Liquidity: Strong

The company is expected to generate gross cash accruals (GCA) of ₹70-80 crore p.a. over the next 2-3 years (FY24 GCA stood at ~₹69 crore). Against this, it has negligible debt repayment obligations for lease liabilities and capex plans of ~₹30 crore p.a. The average utilisation of sanctioned fund-based limits stood at ~54% for the 12-month period ended April 30, 2024. The liquidity position is supported by free cash and liquid investments of ~₹20 crore as on March 31, 2024. It has a satisfactory quick ratio of ~1x as on March 31, 2024.

Covenants: Not applicable

Environment, social, and governance (ESG) risks

Environmental: FTL has in-house effluent treatment plant at its factory in Silvassa and Panipat for the treatment of waste water generated from its dyeing unit. Also, the company has 2.8 MW of rooftop solar power capacity installed at its factory at Silvassa, which reduces its overall carbon footprint. Any tightening of and/or non-compliance with pollution control norms could lead to material financial impact on the company.

Social: To promote women empowerment, FTL has increase its female workforce over the years which comprised ~20% of the total employees on company's payroll as on March 31, 2024. As on July, 2024, total strength of its permanent employees stood ~3,200. FTL also strictly complies with Prohibition And Prevention Of Sexual Harassment (POSH) regulations. FTL is also engaged in assisting the employees' family and relatives among others for finding out employment opportunities in separate manufacturing units of the company to increase income levels of its workers' families and build loyalty among the workforce at the same time.

Governance: Majority of the representation of board members constitutes of independent directors, including two foreign directors.
