How instability in Myanmar fosters drug trade, affects India's security

It is said that China's frustration was with the Tatmadaw's inability to control cybercrime, cyber slavery, trafficking, money laundering, and illicit gambling that had a direct impact on its citizens. This resulted in China backing the Three Brotherhood Alliance with the very successful Operation 1027. It was easy enough to achieve as the leader of Myanmar National Democratic Alliance Army (MNDAA), Peng Jiasheng, who was also known as the "King of Kokang", was one of the most influential people in the Kokang region of Shan State. Peng had been ousted to China by none other than the present Senior General Min Aung Hlaing, who led the coup in 2021. Consequently, with the success of Operation 1027, there was much hope around the world that Myanmar would stabilise, democracy would return, and the region would no longer be lawless. However, these observations may have been either premature or looking at the situation in Shan State—piecemeal. Northern Shan State has a history of illegal activities. If Peng Jiasheng was known as the "King of Kokang", there was much before him—the "Princess of Kokang"—Olive Yang. She was the second daughter of the ruling prince from the House of Yang, who went on to become the largest producer of opium and heroin in the world.

Born in 1927, Olive was expected to, as other girls of her stature, have her feet broken and bound in order to get married into a family of equals. However, at an early age she was found carrying pistols to school and commanding hundreds of boys who came to be known as "Olive's Boys", her own personal army. It was Olive in the 1950's who first delivered opium packed on mules to Thailand and later by truck to the Golden Triangle. Olive became one of the most powerful militia leaders in the region, later expanding from opium production to methamphetamine.

Historically, drug trade and militias have been long connected with this region, irrespective of the change in power centres in Myanmar. It was the nationalist Chinese Kuomintang Army in the late 40's that set up labs on the border of Thailand and Shan State. In the '60s, with China ramping up support for the Communist Party of Burma (CPB), many militias became a part of it. Later, apart from Crime (UNODC) Report for 2021, between mid-February and early April of 2020, Myanmar authorities conducted a series of operations in northern Shan State. The operations resulted in seizures of 193 million methamphetamine tablets (equivalent to 17 tonnes) and 500 kg of crystalline methamphetamine seizures at a record high, even during the pandemic, are indicative of the vast trafficking networks, easy procurement of precursors, and high demand.

An oversupply has kept the prices low, making synthetic drugs in the region easily accessible. In 2020 alone, more than 867 million tablets were seized. The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) follows the 10 per cent rule based on the assumption that authorities only catch 10 per cent of trafficked narcotics. If that is the case, it would be surprising to know that in 2010, it was estimated that 1 billion Yaba tablets were trafficked to Thailand from Myanmar alone. International Crisis Group estimates the total value of the Mekong drug trade is estimated at over $40 billion per year and rising. However, it is not just countries like Thailand, Cambodia, Laos, or Vietnam that are affected seven years. In September 2023, the Director General of Assam Rifles, PC Nair, said that in the past four years, drugs valued at Rs 4200 crores were seized. This year alone, Mizoram recorded seizures of 3,380 kg of heroin worth Rs 2022, 60,000 in 2023, and 2000 tablets in 2024. A recent methamphetamine worth Rs 1,96,97,600, and 10,385 kg of crystal meth worth Rs 31,15,50,000. Nagaland seized 32 kg of opium and 26.63 kg of heroin. Meghalaya recovered nearly 19,000 Yaba pills in 2022, 60,000 in 2023, and 2000 tablets in 2024. A recent Border Security Force report suggests that Tripura has the highest seizures of drugs, which includes increasing seizures of meth tablets and Yaba. Ironically, as Shan State continues to remain fractured with semi-autonomous groups, profiteering militias with the only drugs cutting through the ethnic and political divides, the quality of Yaba and other methamphetamine pills has come down.
