Burlington English's 100ED Fest to empower educators

Chennai, Sep 29: Burlington English's 100ED Fest 2024 successfully concluded its Chennai chapter in its 100-day initiative across 100 cities aimed at engaging over 100,000 educators nationwide. The event, held at Hotel Hablis in Chennai, brought together 150 educators from 100 schools to explore cutting-edge classroom resources and innovative teaching methods designed to transform learning experiences. The Chennai session of the 100ED Fest further advanced the festival's mission of fostering collaboration and introducing innovative ideas within the education community. Educators engaged in hands-on workshops and expert-led sessions, exploring creative approaches that can be easily integrated into everyday teaching practices. For educators in Chennai, these practical strategies will help enhance student engagement and improve learning outcomes, offering new ways to create dynamic, future-ready classrooms. The 100ED Fest underscores Burlington English's ongoing commitment to empowering educators with cutting-edge tools and insights, reinforcing its role as 'The Publisher That Cares.'

trainer Andrew Steele. The session, titled 'The Brain Loves Rhythm,' focused on innovative approaches to teaching pronunciation using rhythm, chants, and songs. Amit Baveja, Managing Director of Burlington English India & Southeast Asia, stated "Through the 100ED Fest, we are committed to fostering impactful learning environments that ensure quality education for students across all regions. Our theme, 'We See Tomorrow,' embodies our vision for a brighter future for learners in Chennai and beyond."

From fighting self-pity to regaining self-confidence, Bhavana's victory over Alopecia

Chennai Sep 29: Hair is a significant part of beauty standards, especially for any Indian woman, and losing it can be traumatic. Every lost strand is filled with emotions, anxieties, and ultimately, stories of resilience.

A vibrant personality in the Media and Entertainment industry, where looks matter and gives one a self-identity, Bhavana never imagined that Severe Alopecia would turn her world upside down, that too while in her prime of life when she was only thirty years of age.

Waking up to clumps of hair on her pillow and a bunch when combed, she started observing bald patches and a visible scalp two years back. Despite the multiple visits for doctor consultations and experimental medications, including painful steroid injections, Bhavana didn't find any solution for her hair.

My worst fears came true in the months and weeks leading up to my wedding, as I was preparing to marry. I was desperately looking for a solution, and that's when through social media I got to know about The Esthetic Clinics QR678. Starting with a consultation appointment, a comprehensive review of my medical history, and scalp evaluation, I discussed a variety of options available, with Dr. Debraj Shome, an American board-certified Facial Cosmetic Surgeon at The Esthetic Clinics, I would have been bald by now, if it weren't for the timely and effective hair loss treatment regimen that I tried and the medications Dr Debraj prescribed me. I did have my concerns about the side effects of this treatment, but the Doctors at the clinic alleviated my fears and told me that there wouldn't be any side effects".

The treatment plan included an eight-session regimen, which didn't require me to take any break from my daily routine and the results were nothing short of extraordinary. Within a few months, I observed a significant improvement in my hair density and overall appearance. The transformation has been so encouraging and incredible, and finally I feel like myself again. I definitely see and feel a difference, and I'm super happy I made this investment. The best part is I am happily and confidently married today and I stand inspiration to many like me," she added. Dr Debraj Shome, an American board-certified Facial Cosmetic Surgeon at The Esthetic Clinics, expressed satisfaction with the results. Bhavana's case is a wonderful example of how personalized treatment plans can make a real difference. QR678 has shown promising results for many of our patients, and Bhavana's success is particularly gratifying that has not only restored her hair, but also her confidence and sense of self.
