A 50-DAY-OLD newborn who had been rescued from the fire at Baby Care New Born Hospital in East Delhi's Vivek Vihar succumbed to her injuries on Friday morning, polices aid

Police said the child did not suffer from

Police said the child did not suffer from any burning juries. She was among five children to be rescued when the fire broke out last Saurday night. Sox others had died. On May 26, at 10.55 pm, a suspected short circuit in the generator, which had been stored on the roof of the building, sparked off a massive fire. It soon spread to oxygen cylinders stored in the hospital, leading to multiple explosions. Skreen fire tenders were called to the spot almost 30-35 minutes later.

According to the fire department, the neonatal hospital had neither a fire NOC (no-objection certificate) nor any proper fire-combat arrangements.

Dri Naveen Brickit, the owner of the facility, and Dr Akash, who was on dury Saturday night, were arrested Sunday evening.

Police also plan to question hospitals bat refer the fulliden to the neonatal unit. Said an officer, "We will question the hospitals where the newborns were initially admitted and if they checked the credentials of the Week Vhar hospital before referring the patients there."

tals of the Vivek Vihar hospital before re-ferring the patients there."
Police Wednesday said they had recorded the statements of 15 persons, in-cluding family members of the newborn babies and staff members of the hospital. A senior police officer said the staff members had been questioned about their shift timings, their qualifications with proof of degrees and corroboration with their universities, their floation at the time of the incident, among other things. They were duestioned about Dr Rhich and the process he followed in hining them," said an officer. The officer said that families of the deceased newborns have recorded their statements wherein they have been asked questioned to the control of their said of all details per taining to their children and their admission to the hospital have been obtained.
