Kerala to partner with TN to woo investment

LifeCell forays into skin care

Chennai, Aug 9: The Kerala government has called on Tamil Nadu to collaborate in attracting investments that would benefit both states. Speaking at a roadshow ahead of the Global Investors Meet scheduled for next year, Kerala Industries Minister P. Rajeev emphasized the potential for the two states to work together as partners rather than competitors.

During his address on Thursday, Minister Rajeev dispelled concerns about bureaucracy and delays in the state's administrative processes. He noted that Kerala has introduced several reforms, including penalties for officials who delay the approval process, to create a more business-friendly environment.

Highlighting Kerala's industry-friendly policies, Rajeev acknowledged the state's limited availability of land and explained that Kerala is promoting private industrial parks, which will be granted the same status as government-run parks.

The Minister also discussed innovative strategies such as land pooling, which aims to involve landowners as stakeholders in industrial development. Additionally, Kerala has implemented geotagging and registered 2.5 lakh MSMEs over the past two years as part of its broader industrial initiatives. The state has identified 22 key areas for future industrial growth as part of its long-term development plan.

Chennai, Aug 9: LifeCell, India's pioneering stem cell bank and a leader in diagnostics, genetic testing, and pre-conception care, is poised to disrupt the world of mother-baby skincare with the launch of AreoVeda. With this, the brand has unveiled a product range, especially crafted for pregnant women, new moms, and newborns, that shatters existing norms through its uncompromising standards of purity, potency, and safety. Masterfully harnessing the regenerative powers of natural ingredients, the company introduces a cellular science-backed approach that is single-handedly redefining how clean skincare is perceived.

Its products undergo 10+ cellular tests on lab-grown human skin cells in LifeCell's accredited labs via tests like:

Cytotoxicity to evaluate the toxicity of product ingredients on skin cells, Anti-irritation test that assesses a cosmetic product's safety by using ELISA technology, Bone formation assay, which evaluates the product's ability to enhance and stimulate bone formation, Cell-migration assay which helps decode the wound-healing effects of the products on dermal cells, Anti-ageing test to assess skincare product effectiveness by using RT-PCR technology and much more!

Taru Mayur, Co-founder of AreoVeda, said, "An EWG study revealed that 200+ chemicals were found in a baby's umbilical cord blood that came from what the mother had been exposed to."
