GDV OF AROUND ₹1,800 CR
Raymond Realty Arm Inks Pact for Hsg Project in Mumbai

Kallash Babar

Mumbai: Raymond's real estate subsidiary has entered into an agreement to jointly develop a residential project on a 2-acre land parcel in central Mumbai's Mahim locality through a revenue-share model.

The project will be implemented through its step-down subsidiary, Ten X Realty West, and it holds a gross development value (GDV) of around ₹1,800 crore. The project is part of Raymond's broader strategy to expand its footprint in the country's largest and most expensive property market by leveraging joint development partnerships.

As per the terms of the agreement, the company will share 18-20% revenue with the partner that holds the rights to develop the land parcel comprising a mix of slum rehabilitation and a layout of the Maharashtra Housing and Area Development Authority.

The project marks Raymond's second venture in Mahim and the 5th project outside of its existing developments in Thane.

"The project will leverage connectivity, established catchment and healthy demand especially due to the location in proximity to Bandra-Kurla Complex. The catchment will also benefit from infrastructure augmentation in the last few years," said Saurabh Shaidal, MD, Capital Markets and Head Retail-India at C&W, which acted as the transaction advisor. He said inventory levels are low and strong demand in the micro market will help to achieve healthy and sustained sales velocity for the residential project.

Industry Late to the Party to Raise Prices: Britannia

Cos going through phase of inflation-deflation, Britannia to hike prices by 6% by yr-end: Berry

Sagar Malviya

Mumbai: Britannia executive vice-chairman and managing director Varun Berry said the company slashed prices during the deflationary cycle only to quickly follow them up with a few rounds of price increases as the industry misread volatility in inflation.

He also said that prices will increase by over 6% by the end of the year, a bulk of which the company has already taken.

"We have been going through a phase of inflation-deflation, so towards the beginning of the year, it seemed that the environment is not going to be inflationary and we had taken pretty steep price increases towards the last year. So, we started to correct and as we were doing that, there was a huge inflation which came at us and we have now started to take the price increases," Berry said.

On Thursday, the country's biggest cookie maker by value reported a 4.8% year-on-year growth in net profit for the October-December quarter, as revenue climbed by 6.5% after the company increased prices to offset higher input cost. "We started with the feeling that it's going to be a deflationary year and then it started to turn on us and hence everyone's been late to the party to increase prices. But as we speak, everyone is becoming alive to the fact that this inflation is not going away," he added.

Production costs at most companies have swelled due to a 22% increase in import duty on edible oils in September 2024 and up to 40% in 2024. In 2023, too, the cost of key commodities such as sugar, wheat flour and coffee had surged. The Nustli Wadia-owned company said it will closely monitor commodity price inflation and implement targeted price increases for specific brands and categories, as needed.

Britannia's input costs rose 11% during the quarter and it expected inflation to stabilise in some of the commodities which didn't. "We were measured because we were not clear where the inflationary trends are going from deflation to inflation. And not just us, but the entire industry was hopeful that maybe the duties on fat (palm oil), et cetera will go away. We are now clear that it's

We were measured because we were not clear where the inflationary trends are going from deflation to inflation... We are now clear it's not going away not going away and we are taking very decisive action on pricing," said Berry.

Britannia, which had capital expenditure of about ₹500-₹600 crore last year, said it is taking a break from capex and will spend less than half next year since most of the capacity expansion and plant openings have been done for the medium term.

Over the past year, urban demand for groceries has been challenging due to inflationary pressures, low-wage growth and higher housing rentals. The persistent slump in demand for daily groceries and staples, especially in cities, are leading to companies forecasting subdued revenue growth for the next few quarters.

Britannia said it is piloting a new route to market strategy in cities to deal with emerging channels and at the same time manage traditional retail, which are impacted due to the new-age channels. This includes developing in-house capability to have a model which will capture data-based consumer insights, which will then lead to a personalised approach. And, rewriting its route to market to leverage high potential outlets which require higher service frequency and increase feet on street.

Airtel to go Easy on Capex Spends from FY25: MD

Moderate capex spends follow completion of big rollouts, 4G to see no investments, says Vittal

Kalyan Parbat & Himanshi Lochhab

Kolkata | Mumbai: Bharti Airtel's annual capex spends will see a sharp moderation in FY25 and FY26 versus the record ₹33,000 crore spends scaled in FY24 as the nation's second-largest telco has concluded its pan-India 5G rollout and won't be spending extra cash on 4G capacity expansion going forward, the telco's vice-chairman and managing director Gopal Vittal said.

Headed that the strong take-up of Airtel's 2GB plans—offering unlimited 5G data—is driving data monetisation and the telco would go flat out to accelerate the next round 2G to 4G/5G conversions and even target a potential 80 million top-end prepaid users to go postpaid to ring in the next wave of ARPU (average revenue per user) growth.

Airtel's top executive is also pinning his hopes on a change in India's telecom price architecture that results in prepaid rates steadily moving up, a potential scenario, which, he said, could pave the way for postpaid pricing to increase from its current 2x of prepaid levels, and further shore up telco ARPUs.

"Airtel's capex as a percentage of revenue will trend downwards from FY25 and soon be at the level of global peers... this is since our radio (network) capex has decelerated very significantly, and will continue decelerating next year with the completion of the big rollouts (read: 5G), and we're also not putting any investments in 4G capacity," Vittal said at the Sunil Mit-tal-led telco's fiscal third quarter earnings call on Friday. Going forward, Airtel's capex spends, he said, would primarily be channelled in bolstering transport network infrastructure that is vital to the telco's mobile, home broadband and B2B businesses, including data-centres.

Bharti Airtel shares closed 3.6% higher at ₹1677.8 on the BSE on Friday, a day after it reported a nearly six-fold surge in net profit in Q3FY25, boosted mainly by one-time gains on the consolidation of Indus Towers and July tariff increases, which raised the ARPU at the country's second-largest telco.

Vittal said Airtel's 2GB data plans offering unlimited 5G had been a big draw and driving data monetisation and prompting more customer upgrades to the next-gen mobile broadband service in the December quarter.

Employees at Samsung's TN Unit Resort to Sit-in Protest

Our Bureau

Chennai: Around 500 workers held a sit-in protest at the Samsung Electronics unit in Sriperumbur near Chennai on Friday, demanding withdrawal of suspension of three employees.

This comes less than six months after employees returned to work on October 17 last year, following over a month-long strike that began on the September 19.

The plant is an important part of Samsung's supply chain as it contributes to around 20-30% of its $12 billion revenue in India.

The factory manufactures televisions, colour monitors, refrigerators and washing machines.

However, reports suggested that even though around 500 of the 1,800 employees were part of the protest, the operations of the unit were not affected, as the company deployed contract workers to fill the gap. The protesters were demanding the withdrawal of the alleged disciplinary actions taken against employees.

Only last month on January 27, the Tamil Nadu labour department registered the SIWU under the Trade Unions Act, 1926, making it the country's first Samsung workers' union.

According to the union, the current move by the management goes against the deal that was struck between the striking workers and the company to call off the strike in October that barred any retaliatory action against the workers.

Queries sent to Samsung remained unanswered as of press time Friday.

ITC Needs to Step Up FMCG Play Amid High Costs, Falling Margins

Post demerger of the hotels biz, ITC faces pressure to post resilient earnings show

ET ANALYSIS

Kiran Kabtta Somvanshi

ET Intelligence Group: ITC's December quarter results demonstrated how its multi-business conglomerate structure offers limited advantage in posting a resilient performance during tough times.

While its flagship cigarette business along with sectors like agri and hotels did help ITC post an 8% increase in standalone revenues, its profitability nevertheless got impacted with the profit (excluding the demerged hotel business) remaining flat.

Except for agri business, the profit margins of the other businesses including cigarettes, FMCG and paper declined last quarter compared to the year-earlier period. Price increases of key raw materials such as edible oil, wheat, potato, leaf tobacco and wood ate into the company's profitability.

With the demerger of the hotels business, which had posted its best quarterly perfor-

A Mixed Bag

Paper & Packaging	205	-31
Agri Business	412	22
Operating Profit Margin (% of net sales)	32	-210 bps
Profit from continuing operations	5,421	0

mance for December, the company needs to fire on all its cylinders to grow the business, particularly the non-cigarette FMCG business.

For the December quarter, this segment contributed 28% of ITC's total segmental revenues but only 8% of the overall segmental profits.

At 8.5%, the segment's margin is much lower than that commanded by its peers in the FMCG industry. The company has been making strategic acquisitions in the FMCG space—the latest one being frozen and ready-to-eat foods company Prasuma. While the acquisitions have been an attempt to buy growth, they have not proved to be yielding resilience to the company's overall FMCG portfolio, especially evident in a quarter characterised by subdued consumer demand.

The growth prospects of its cigarettes business face inherent challenges of being a sin product with health hazards, risk of high tax levy, risk of increase in consumer aversion and risk of illegal imports.

Besides, post the demerger of the hotels business, investors would wonder if more business demergers were in the offing. The paperboard, paper and packaging business, could be one. The segment faces competition from low-priced Chinese and Indonesian products at a time when the domestic demand is soft, and the wood prices have surged.

The ITC stock closed at ₹430.90 on the BSE on Friday, down 2.38% from its previous close, despite the company rolling out an interim dividend of ₹6.5 per share.

If the December quarter performance is any indication, the Street's perception about ITC being a dividend stock rather than a growth one is being reinforced. And this aspect is unlikely to change anytime soon.

Pharma Exports to Beat FY25 Target

Exports near 99% target with biologicals and formulations accounting for 75% of shipments

Teena Thacker

New Delhi: India's pharma sector has seen remarkable growth in exports, with 99% target already being achieved before FY25, government data suggests. India's drug formulations business and surgicals business have been a booster dose to domestic pharmaceutical companies, witnessing a robust growth. "By October last year 99% of the target was achieved. By this speed we may exceed the target," said a senior pharma executive.

According to the data by Directorate General of Commercial Intelligence and Statistics (DGCIIS), drug formulations and biologicals are the mainstay, making up a major portion of India's pharmaceutical exports accounting for 75% of the total and logging a 11% growth.

For bulk drugs there has been a volume growth but value has declined. "This is due to the drop in prices of APIs and intermediates by China," said another expert.

A weak vaccine demand has also been seen, logging a decline of 9% with Covid pandemic gone. Ayush and herbal products saw an 13% growth with more Indian companies qualifying from good manufacturing practices, he said.

According to the data, exports to the US climbed substantially. "North America has already done $6.2 billion. At this rate, it will end up doing $10 billion by March this year," he said. He also said it's a hefty and significant growth in spite of back orders and drug shortages. "If these issues were not there, it would have grown by 25% instead of 17% logged now.

The data suggests that growth in Europe has been stagnant. "Primarily due to the Netherlands and Belgium... While exports in the UK have grown by 22%, Germany has seen a growth of 6% over last year in spite of recession," the pharma executive said.

He said a significant growth has been seen both in the US and Europe. "From $5.5 billion last year, Europe has already logged $8.2 billion.

These two major markets growing significantly is a potential European business from the current level of $5.5 billion last year this year from April to October 2024.

As far as the Africa market is concerned, it saw exports worth $4 billion last year. Although it has degrown by 3%, experts say with political stability coming in, they expect a level playing field again and going forward it may cross $10 billion.

Experts say Russia could be a gamechanger. "There are significant shortages in Russia due to the war. It has a potential to grow by 15% as nobody is willing to take consignments to Russia. Russia holds a huge potential," he said.
