At BRICS, Jaishankar pitches for 'more equitable global order'

TRADE PUSH. Shares 5 suggestions, including strengthening independent platforms, reforming established institutions and creating more production hubs

Our Bureau
New Delhi

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar pitched for a 'more equitable global order' and came up with suggestions to achieve it at the BRICS outreach session in Kazan, Russia, on Thursday.

While there is the steady diversification of production and consumption, many inequities of the past also continue, the Minister pointed out in his speech at the session hosted by Russian President Vladimir Putin.

"In fact, they (the inequities) have assumed new forms and manifestations. We see that in the access to developmental resources and modern technology and efficiencies...the benefits of globalisation have been very uneven. Adding to all that, the Covid pandemic and multiple conflicts have aggravated the burdens borne by the global south. Concerns of health, food and fuel security are particularly acute," Jaishankar said. Elaborating on steps that could be taken to build a more equitable global order, the Minister said that platforms of an independent nature needed to be strengthened and expanded. This is where BRICS can make a difference for the Global South, he said.

CALL FOR REFORMS

Jaishankar also reiterated the call for reform of established institutions and mechanisms, especially the UN Security Council in the permanent and the non-permanent categories. Reforms are also needed for the multilateral development banks, whose working procedures are just as outdated as that of the UN. "India initiated an effort during its G20 Presidency and we are glad to see Brazil take that forward," he added.

Another suggestion put forward was that of creation of more production hubs in order to democratise the global economy.

"The Covid experience is a sharp reminder of the need for more resilient, redundant and shorter supply chains. For essential needs, every region legitimately aspires to create their own production capabilities," he said.

The Minister also called for correction of distortions in global infrastructure that are a legacy from the colonial era. The world urgently needs more connectivity options that enhance logistics and mitigate risks, he said, adding that it must be a collective endeavour.

NEW INITIATIVES

Finally, Jaishankar stressed on the importance of sharing experiences and new initiatives. "India's Digital Public Infrastructure, its Unified Payments Interface and the Gati Shakti infrastructure, all hold a larger relevance. The International Solar Alliance, the Coalition for Disaster Resilient Infrastructure, the Global Biofuel Alliance, Mission LiFE and the International Big Cat Alliance are similarly initiatives of common interest. As a First Responder, be it for natural calamities, health emergencies or economic crises, we seek to do our fair share," he said.

Chinese President asks BRICS Plus nations to strive for common security

Press Trust of India
Kazan

The Global South marching together is monumental in world history and unprecedented in human civilisation, Chinese President Xi Jinping said on Thursday and called on BRICS Plus countries to firmly uphold peace and strive for common security.

Addressing the BRICS Outreach/BRICS Plus meeting, Xi said the 'BRICS Plus' countries should be a stabilising force for peace, strengthen global security governance, and explore ways to address both the symptoms and root causes of hotspot issues.

Noting that the collective rise of the Global South is a distinctive feature of the great transformation across the world, Xi said that Global South countries marching together toward modernisation is monumental in world history and unprecedented in human civilisation.

BRICS PLUS

According to Russia's state-run TASS news agency, the Outreach/BRICS Plus is an extended format, which includes more than the 10 BRICS members, and was hosted by Russian President

Vladimir Putin on the final day of the BRICS Summit.

According to China's state-run Xinhua news agency, Xi said the Global South "emerges for development and prospers through development" and urged BRICS Plus countries to make themselves the main driving force for common development.

BRICS Plus countries should play an active and leading role in the global economic governance reform, and make development the core of international economic and trade agenda, Xi added. These countries should also be advocates for exchanges among civilisations, he said, and called on the BRICS Plus countries to enhance communication and dialogue, and support each other in taking the path to modernisation suited to their respective national conditions.

He also said that China will coordinate with others to form a Global South Think Tanks Alliance to promote people-to-people exchanges and experience-sharing in governance. No matter how the international landscape evolves, China will always keep the Global South in heart, and maintain its roots in the Global South, he added. The meeting was attended by delegates from nearly 40 countries, including leaders of a number of Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS), Asian, African, West Asian, and Latin American countries.

Amid economic strain, Maldives President to take a 50% salary cut

Mohamed Muizzu

Maldives President Mohamed Muizzu will take a 50 per cent salary cut as part of his government's efforts to cut costs as the country braces itself for a possibly severe financial crunch.

President Muizzu announced "special measures" in line with his government's economic reform agenda proposed as part of the 2025 national budget. "As an initial step, the President stated he will not be taking 50 per cent of his salary," his office said in a statement. Further, the salary of all political appointees and staff of state-owned enterprises, excluding banks, will be reduced by 10 per cent.

"When the 2025 Budget is presented, under the economic reform agenda, a number of measures will be taken to reduce government spending... for a period of 2 years," Muizzu said on social media platform 'X'.

His announcement comes in the wake of growing concerns over the island nation's dwindling foreign reserves. In its latest update, the World Bank said the Maldives' foreign exchange reserves have declined to "critically low levels", with rising liquidity risks, driven by an elevated current account deficit and increasing external debt repayments. "Official reserves fell from $590.5 million at end-2023 to $443.9 million at end-August due to rising debt repayment obligations and high import needs," the Bank said. Official reserves are at their lowest level since 2017, sufficient to cover only one month's worth of imports to the Indian Ocean archipelago. The tourism-reliant country's debt reached $8.2 billion or an estimated 115.7 per cent of GDP in the first quarter of 2024, it said.

CURRENCY PACT

Earlier this month, India signed a critical currency swap agreement with the Maldives for $750 million, after Prime Minister Narendra Modi met with President Muizzu in New Delhi.

The swap arrangement for $400 million and an additional $3,000 crore ($357 million), signed between the Reserve Bank of India and the Maldives Monetary Authority under the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation Currency Swap Framework, will remain until 2027. It is aimed at helping the Maldives cope with its foreign currency crunch, officials said.
