Mastek Partners with OpenAna to Accelerate AI-Driven Innovation

Mumbai, India, 10th February 2025: Mastek (NSE: MASTEK; BSE: 523704), a trusted digital engineering and cloud transformation partner, today announced its strategic partnership with OpenAna, an innovative AI-driven platform modernizing software development lifecycle (SDLC) processes. This partnership marks a significant milestone in Mastek's journey to enhance its Generative AI capabilities, enabling businesses to innovate faster, optimize development workflows, and accelerate digital transformation.

OpenAna is transforming software engineering with Ana, an AI-powered Autonomous Software Engineer revolutionizing how technology teams deliver software. As an integral engineering teammate, Ana enables enterprises to accelerate delivery, scale effortlessly, and achieve unparalleled efficiency—all while empowering teams to focus on innovation and strategic growth.

The collaboration will focus on integrating GenAI into SDLC processes by harnessing OpenAna's next-gen AI capabilities and Mastek's deep expertise in digital transformation. Together, the partnership aims to empower organizations to navigate complex digital challenges and seize new growth opportunities. This will streamline development cycles, enhance operational efficiency, and accelerate time-to-market.

"We are excited to partner with OpenAna, as it aligns with our shared vision of transforming Software Development through Gen AI. By leveraging the Ana platform, we aim to empower our customers by developing and maintaining software applications more efficiently and effectively. This collaboration further strengthens Mastek's commitment to helping our customers unlock greater value through AI," said Raman Sapra, President & Chief Growth Officer at Mastek.

"With Ana as an Autonomous Engineer, our partnership with Mastek aligns with our mission to make software development better, faster, and more secure. This partnership accelerates vision into reality by empowering engineering teams and enabling enterprises to ship faster, innovate smarter, and operate with unparalleled confidence." said Rajiv Sondhi, CEO OpenAna.
