Voting ends in Sri Lanka presidential elections

Close contest between Wickremesinghe, Premadasa and Dissanayake

REUTERS Colombo, September 21

SRI LANKANS VOTED on Saturday in an election to pick a president who will face the task of bolstering the country's fragile economic recovery following its worst financial crisis in decades. The election is predicted to be a close contest between President Ranil Wickremesinghe, main opposition leader Sajith Premadasa, and Marxist-leaning challenger Anura Kumara Dissanayake.Dissanayake narrowly led in one recent opinion poll.

Voting closed at 4 PM and counting started afterward, with results expected to be announced by the Election Commission on Sunday. Postal votes were to be counted first, senior commission official Saman Sri Ratnayake said.

The country's election system allows voters to cast three preferential votes for their chosen candidates. If no candidate wins 50% in the first count, a second round of counting determines the winner between the two top candidates, using the preferential votes. Analysts say this will likely be the case given the close nature of the election.

People queue up to vote at a polling station in Colombo

Saturday's voting was peaceful across the South Asian island nation and queues outside booths lengthened as the day progressed, local TV channels showed. More than 13,000 polling stations were set up and 2,50,000 public a supporter of Dissanayake. officials were deployed to manage the election, the election body said. More than 17 million of Sri Lanka's 22 million people were eligible to vote in the election, contested by 38 candidates.

At Visakha Vidyalaya, a school about 15 km from Colombo, brisk polling was seen early in the morning as families, some of them accompanying their ageing parents, lined up next to coir ropes that created orderly lines for voters. "I think we desperately need a change and I think a lot of people feel the same way. For us to have a future, the entire country must have a future, first," said Niroshan Perera, 36,

This was Sri Lanka's first election since the economy buckled in 2022 under a severe foreign exchange shortage, leaving the country unable to pay for imports of essentials including fuel, medicine, and cooking gas.

Thousands of protesters marched in Colombo in 2022 and occupied the president's office and residence, forcing the then-President Gotabaya Rajapaksa to flee and later resign. Buttressed by a $2.9 billion bailout programme from the International Monetary Fund, the economy has posted a tentative recovery but the high cost of living is still a critical issue for many voters.

Although inflation cooled to 0.5% last month from a crisis high of 70%, and the economy is forecast to grow in 2024 for the first time in three years, millions remain mired in poverty and debt, with many pinning hopes of a better future on their next leader.

"This is an election that will change the history of Sri Lanka. People are voting enthusiastically," Dissanayake said after casting his vote at a temple in the outskirts of Colombo.

takeover of Intel

BLOOMBERG September 21

INC QUALCOMM approached Intel Corp to discuss a potential acquisition of the struggling chipmaker, a person with knowledge of the matter said, raising the prospect of one of the biggestever M&A deals.

California-based Qualcomm proposed a friendly takeover for Intel in recent days, according to the person, who asked not to be identified discussing confidential information. The approach is for all of the chipmaker, though Qualcomm hasn't ruled out buying or selling parts of Intel in a combination. It's uncertain whether the initial approach will lead to an agreement and any deal is likely to come under close antitrust scrutiny. Qualcomm has been speaking with US regulators and believes an all-American combination could allay any concerns, the person said.

Qualcomm is looking at Intel at a time when its smaller rival is in the most difficult period in its 56-year old history. Under Chief Executive Officer Pat Gelsinger, Intel is working on a plan to reshape the company and revive its flagging share price. He still believes the turnaround plan could be sufficient to remain an independent company, the person said.

Group of 20 nations agreed to push for overhauls of the United Nations, the World Trade Organization, and multilateral lenders in a breakthrough following one-and-ahalf months of negotiations.

A call for reforms will be launched on Wednesday during a meeting of G-20 foreign ministers proposed by Brazil on the sidelines of UN General Assembly, according to a draft communique seen by Bloomberg News.It's the first time that the world's 20 largest economies formally agreed to make a joint effort to modernise global governance institutions that were created about 80 years ago, reflecting a post-World War II reality.

"There is a growing perception that the United Nations, the Bretton Woods Institutions, and the World Trade Organization are in urgent need of reform," reads the draft of the communique that will be released during the G-20 meeting, which for the first time will be open to all UN member states.

"It is essential that these institutions update their governance structures and practices of their membership and improve their capacity to address today's web of political, social, and economic challenges," according to the statement.The reform of global institutions has been a long-standing battle cry for Brazil's Luiz Inacio Lula da Silva, who's presiding over the G-20 this year. The joint statement to be published under his leadership is a step in the direction of reforms, even though nations have not agreed on a timeline for the changes to be implemented.

The threepage document details the reforms agreed on by the G-20 on three different fronts: the UN, the international financial architecture, and the multilateral trading system.Among the changes to better represent the diversity proposed to the UN are the G-20's calls for a reform of the that enable trade and invest-Security Council, with an expanded composition that

Zelenskiy to pitch 'victory plan' to Biden

VOLODYMYR ZELENSKIY SAID he'll present Ukraine's "victory plan" to President Joe Biden and both presidential hopefuls in the coming week, as well as making it public more generally to allies and others. "The Victory Plan, this bridge to strengthening Ukraine, can contribute to more productive future diplomatic meetings with Russia," Zelenskiy told reporters in a briefing on Friday. "Russia should see it." The broad contours of the proposal include ensuring Ukraine's place in the global "security architecture," boosting its weapons capabilities, and economic development, Zelenskiy said. Ukraine's leader is expected to travel to the UN General Assembly in New York, with the nation's speaking slot in the general debate set for Wednesday, and from there to Washington to meet with Biden. He's also expected to hold talks with Vice President Kamala Harris, the Democratic candidate for president, Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump, and key members of Congress.

Ukraine's incursion into Kursk, the first foreign military offensive inside Russia since World War II, also plays a role in the plan that Zelenskiy didn't elaborate on.

Talk green with 'dead tree' emoji

BLOOMBERG September 21

AVIDTEXTERS WILL soon have a newway to talk about the growing impacts of climate change an emoji depicting a tree without leaves.

Approval of the emoji was revealed in an update earlier this year from the Unicode Consortium. The leafless tree — also known as the "dead tree" or "dying tree" emoji — was first pitched in 2022 by Brian Baihaki, who saw a gap in messaging graphics that touch on environmentalism.

"Drought is a natural part of the climate cycle... but the climate is changing [and] drought [is becoming] more frequent, severe, and even [spreading] to other places," Baihaki noted.

"Eventually, all the resources that the trees have will be exhausted."

Since Baihaki submitted his pitch, the threat of drought has only grown globally. This year alone, drought has affected trade on the Mississippi River and in the Panama Canal, crops in Brazil, reservoir levels in Spain, and tourism in Mexico, among other impacts. A recent United Nations report noted that drought conditions are expected to worsen throughout the 21st century — even if there are reductions in greenhouse gas emissions.

"That something from 2022... is still relevant today actually speaks to the longstanding relevancy of the concept," says Jennifer Daniel, chair of the emoji subcommittee at the Unicode Consortium. "Because two years in digital space might as well be 200 years." Emoji may not be high on the list of tools needed to combat the impacts of climate change, but the dead tree reflects people's need to communicate about those impacts, says Scott Varda, an associate professor of communication at Baylor University.

AI helping shape 2024 US presidential polls

ASSOCIATED PRESS Washington, September 21

WITH THE 2024 election looming, the first since the mass popularisation of generative artificial intelligence, experts feared the worst: social media flooded with AI-generated deepfakes that were so realistic, baffled voters wouldn't know what to believe. So far, that hasn't happened. Instead, what voters are seeing is far more absurd: A video of former President Donald Trump riding a cat while wielding an assault rifle. A mustachioed Vice President Kamala Harris dressed in communist a passionate embrace. AI is playing a major role in the presidential campaign, even if the greatest fears about how it could threaten the US presidential election haven't materialised yet. Fake AI-generated images regularly ricochet around the web, but many of them are so cartoonish and absurd that even the most attire.Trump and Harris sharing

Fake AI-generated images regularly richochet online REUTERS

naïve viewer couldn't take them seriously. Still, even these memes can be problematic. Eyecatching AI-generated photos and videos, some striving to be funny, have become useful tools for spreading false, sometimes racist messages with a clear political bent — and candidates and their supporters are among those sharing them on social media. For example, Trump and many of his allies not only repeatedly promoted the unfounded conspiracy theory that Haitian migrants are stealing and eating cats and dogs in Springfield, Ohio, they also spread related AI-generated memes. Francesca Tripodi, an expert in online propaganda, said such AI-made images are vehicles viral new, carryage-old anti-immigration narratives."The memes that are amplifying this claim are anything but humorous."

When you have elected officials who are utilising this imagery as a way of perpetuating racism and xenophobia, that's a huge problem," said Tripodi, a sociologist at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.Republicans defend the images as lighthearted jokes and byproducts of Trump's personality."There is a culture of personality surrounding Donald Trump that encourages that sort of over-the-top communication style that turns things into comical memes," said Caleb Smith, a Republican strategist. "The intent is to entertain, not to deceive. That is what it should be."

Not just Trump supporters Trump and his supporters aren't the only ones creating AI memes, but they appear to be using AI image generators more than their Democratic counterparts. Some left-leaning users have posted AI images making fun of billionaire Elon Musk, the owner of X and an outspoken supporter of Trump's campaign. Democrats also posted AI-generated images of Trump in handcuffs and being chased by police when he was in court in Manhattan last year.

But Kamala Harris' campaign has not leaned into amplifying AI-generated content, sticking instead to TikTok trends and other memes that don't require AI models to create. "Currently, the only authorised campaign use of generative AI is for productivity tools, such as data analysis and industry-standard coding assistance," Harris campaign said spokesperson Mia Ehrenberg. Trump campaign spokesman Steven Cheung did not respond to specific questions from The Associated Press but said its strategy had not changed since May, when he provided an emailed statement saying the campaign did not "engage or utilise" tools supplied by any AI company. Using fake, entertaining, often preposterous images to score political points is hardly new. But unlike cobbledtogether Photoshop images or political cartoons, AI-generated images pack a stronger punch.

भारत, जर्मनी ने स्वच्छ ऊर्जा, गतिशीलता क्षेत्रों में सहयोग बढ़ाने का फैसला किया

नई दिल्ली, 21 सितंबर (भाषा)

जर्मन चांसलर ओलाफ शोल्ज की भारत यात्रा से पहले नई दिल्ली और बर्लिन ने नवीकरणीय ऊर्जा, शहरी विकास, कृषि पारिस्थितिकी और गतिशीलता के क्षेत्रों में सहयोग बढ़ाने का निर्णय लिया है। जर्मन अधिकारियों ने शनिवार को कहा कि भारत के आर्थिक मामलों के विभाग और जर्मनी के संघीय आर्थिक सहयोग और विकास मंत्रालय के नेतृत्व में विकास नीति वार्ता में इन प्रमुख क्षेत्रों में सहयोग बढ़ाने पर चर्चा हुई। उन्होंने कहा कि दोनों पक्ष आने वाले वर्षों में नवीकरणीय ऊर्जा, शहरी विकास, गतिशीलता और कृषि पारिस्थितिकी के क्षेत्रों में सहयोग जारी रखने पर सहमत हुए हैं।

भारत-जर्मनी सहयोग रणनीतिक रूप से 'हरित और सतत विकास के लिए साझेदारी' पर आधारित है, जिसे 2022 में प्रधानमंत्री नरेंद्र मोदी और शोल्ज के बीच वार्ता के बाद लागु किया गया था। जर्मन चांसलर अगले महीने भारत आने वाले हैं। वार्ता में जर्मन प्रतिनिधिमंडल की प्रमुख व्यापार समझौते को उन्नत करने, निवेश को बढ़ावा देने पर चर्चा की
