CO TO MANUFACTURE EXPLOSIVES, AMMUNITION AND SMALL ARMS

R-Infra to Invest ₹10,000 crore in Maharashtra Defence Project

Company plans largest greenfield project in the defence sector in India by a private sector company

Our Bureau

Mumbai: Reliance Infrastructure on Tuesday said it will set up the largest integrated project to make explosives, ammunition and small arms in Ratnagiri, Maharashtra, at an investment over ₹10,000 crore over the next 10 years.

Through its subsidiaries, Reliance Infrastructure has exported defence equipment worth more than ₹1,000 crore over a period of time, it added.

"The company has been allotted 1,000 acres in Watad industrial area of Ratnagiri to develop the Dhirubhai Ambani Defence City (DADC). DADC will be the largest greenfield project in the defence sector in India by any private sector company," the company said in a statement.

Reliance Infrastructure's wholly owned subsidiary Jai Armaments Limited and Reliance Defence Limited already have licences from the government of India for the manufacturing of arms and ammunition.

The proposed projects envisage potential joint ventures with up to six leading global armament companies.

The ammunition range will include small, medium and large calibre and terminal guided munition (TGM). The small arms portfolio will address the export markets for both civil and military applications.

Reliance already has joint ventures (JVs) at MIHAN, Nagpur, Maharashtra, with two of the leading global defence companies— Dassault Aviation and Thales of France. Dassault Reliance Aerospace Limited (DRAL) and Thales Reliance Defence Systems (TRDS) export 100% of their production.

The company's scrip ended at ₹254.25, down 4.99% on the BSE on Tuesday.

Aakash Digital to Get ₹100 cr Revamp

PTI

New Delhi: Test preparatory firm Aakash Educational Services plans to invest around ₹100 crore in rebuilding and scaling up its edtech unit Aakash Digital after it has come out of the control of beleaguered edtech company BYJU'S, managing director and CEO Deepak Mehrotra said.

In an interview to PTI, Mehrotra said that as part of Aakash 2.0 journey, the company will scale up Aakash Digital classrooms to cater to students across the country including in those areas where it is not feasible to set up physical rooms.

"We have brought the Aakash Digital Program back under Aakash, we are building on it and investing heavily. We believe that over the next 18 to 24 months, we will be spending close to ₹100 crore on building this programme - investing in technology content, teacher capabilities, and delivery. This investment will go into the Aakash Digital Classroom Program," Mehrotra said.

BYJU'S had acquired a majority stake in Aakash Educational Services (AESL) in April 2022 but due to financial trouble at the company, BYJU'S had to sell a significant stake in Aakash to Mamigal Group chairman Ranjan Pai. With the stake sale to Pai, AESL is no longer a subsidiary of Think and Learn, the owner of the BYJU'S brand, BYJU'S at present holds around 36 per cent stake in AESL.

Mehrotra said that AESL will offer everything in the Aakash Digital Classroom it offers in physical classrooms. "This year, we restarted Aakash Digital under Aakash. We have more than 10,000 students this year. Until last year, those enrolled in this programme were BYJU'S students, not Aakash students," he said.

Mehrotra said AESL gets high engagement of students because the number of students per class is limited to 70 to 80 and therefore teachers are able to manage the students effectively. "The student-teacher ratio is a key aspect of Aakash's philosophy. Even today we have close to 80 to 100 faculty members operating, and this number will obviously increase dramatically as we try to scale the number of Aakash Digital students. Our aspiration is to reach about 1 lakh students over the next two years," Mehrotra said.

He said that few teachers from BYJU'S have been retained for Aakash Digital but most of the teachers have been deployed by AESL.

AESL has also absorbed around 250 sales professionals who were working with BYJU'S.

At present AESL has about 4 lakh learners in its entire system, Mehrotra said that the test preparatory firm aspires to take the number to about a million.

AHEAD OF ADDITIONAL TARIFFS KICKING IN...

China's EV Exports to EU Soar in September

China exported more than 60,000 electric vehicles to the European Union in September, with shipments jumping to the second-highest level on record ahead of additional tariffs expected to take effect at the end of this month.

Firms from Asia's biggest economy shipped 60,617 EVs to the 27 nations in the European trade bloc last month, up 6% from last year, according to customs data. The previous peak of 67,457 vehicles was in October 2023, when the European Commission announced that it was launching an anti-subsidy investigation into China-made EVs.

The EU introduced provisional duties in June and required targeted companies to set aside guarantees, but officials said in August the bloc wouldn't collect them retroactively. Member states voted on October 4 to impose new tariffs of up to 35%, with 10 countries including France, Italy and Poland in favor of the measure. While China and the EU continue to negotiate an alternative solution, it's expected the tariffs will take effect at the end of October. The surge in shipments suggests that Chinese EV makers are hoping to avoid impending tariffs. Regardless, such measures are expected to slow but not deter those keen to expand into the lucrative European market.

Chinese cars can often be sold at a greater premium versus what they would fetch back home, spelling fatter margins for automakers.

BYD plans to set up production in Hungary and Turkey, and other manufacturers including Xpeng and Zhejiang Geely Holding Group's premium EV brand Zeekr say they're considering localising production. APF

IMF Sees Beijing's Property Sector Woes Worsening, Lowers '24 Growth Forecast

The IMF revised its forecast for China's growth this year down slightly to 4.8% on Tuesday, warning that a persistent downturn in the real estate sector could potentially worsen. China's leaders are targeting annual growth of 5% this year, a goal challenged by weak consumption and a prolonged debt crisis in the property sector. Last week, Beijing posted its slowest quarterly growth in a year and a half, and acknowledged "new problems" were hampering economic development.

The IMF on Tuesday said it had revised its growth estimate for China down from a 5% assessment in July. "Despite persisting weakness in the real estate sector and low consumer confidence, growth is projected to have slowed only marginally to 4.8% in 2024," the fund said in its World Economic Outlook report Tuesday. The fund had initially predicted in April growth of 4.6% this year. Tuesday's projection remains below the official target set by Beijing, and well below the double-digit increases that drove China's rise to a global economic powerhouse. APF
