VALUATION APPROACHES AND METHODOLOGIES

- For the purpose of valuation, it is necessary to select an appropriate basis of valuation amongst the various valuation techniques. It is universally recognized that valuation is not an exact science and that estimating values necessarily involves selecting a method or approach that is suitable for the purpose. The application of any particular method of valuation depends upon various factors including the size of company, nature of its business and purpose of valuation. Further, the concept of valuation is all about the price at which a transaction takes place i.e., the price at which seller is willing to sell and buyer is willing to buy. Accordingly, a fair and reasonable approach for valuing the shares of the company is to use a combination of relevant and applicable valuation methods.
- As per Regulation 165 of the ICDR Guidelines, “Where the shares of an issuer are not frequently traded, the price determined by the issuer shall take into account the valuation parameters including book value, comparable trading multiples, and such other parameters as are customary for valuation of shares of such companies. Provided that the issuer shall submit a certificate stating that the issuer is in compliance of this regulation, obtained from an independent valuer to the stock exchange where the equity shares of the issuer are listed”. We understand that the shares of the Company are frequently traded. Since the equity shares of ADPL are frequently traded, the price for preferential issue has been determined as the minimum issue price as per prescribed under Part IV of Chapter V of SEBI ICDR Regulations.
- Regulation 164(5) of Chapter IV of SEBI ICDR Regulations reads as under-
For this Chapter, “Frequently traded shares” means shares of the issuer, in which the traded turnover on any recognized stock exchange during the 240 trading days preceding the relevant date, is at least ten per cent of the total number of shares of such class of the shares of the issuer.

Explanation: For this regulation, ‘stock exchange’ means any of the recognized stock exchange(s) in which the equity shares of the issuer are listed and in which the highest trading volume in respect of the equity shares of the issuer has been recorded during the preceding 90 trading days prior to the relevant date.”

The equity shares of the Company are traded on the NSE and the BSE. However, as per Explanation to regulation 164(5) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations, the exchange on which higher trading volume of equity shares during the preceding 90 trading days prior to the relevant date, is recorded, is to be considered for the pricing computation.

- Details of trading volume on the NSE and BSE for 90 trading days prior to the relevant date is summarized as under:

Number of Trading Days	Total trading volume of equity shares
	Trading Volume on NSE (Number)	Trading Volume on BSE (Number)

Since NSE has recorded highest trading volume in respect of equity shares during the preceding 90 trading days prior to the relevant date, we have considered market price on NSE to compute the Applicable Minimum Price based on the regulations 164(1) of the SEBI ICDR regulations.

Detailed day wise trading volume for 90 trading days prior to the relevant date is attached in Annexure II.

In this case 70.39% of the total number of shares are traded during the 240 trading days preceding the relevant date as detailed in Annexure III.

- As per Regulation 166A of the ICDR Guidelines, “Any preferential issue, which may result in a change in control or allotment of more than five percent of the post issue fully diluted share capital of the issuer, to an allottee or to allottees acting in concert, shall require a valuation report from an independent registered valuer and consider the same for determining the price.

Provided that the floor price, in such cases, shall be higher of the floor price determined under sub-regulation (1), (2) or (4) of regulation 164, as the case may be, or the price determined under the valuation report from the independent registered valuer or the price determined in accordance with the provisions of the Articles of Association of the issuer, if applicable.

Provided further, that if any proposed preferential issue is likely to result in a change in control of the issuer, the valuation report from the Registered Valuer shall also cover guidance on control premium, which shall be computed over and above the price determined in terms of the first proviso.

We understand as per Regulation 166A of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2018, that any preferential issue, which may result in a change in control or allotment of more than 5% of the post issue fully diluted share capital of the issuer, to an allottee or to allottees acting in concert, shall require a Valuation Report from an Independent Registered Valuer and the Price determined under the Valuation Report from the Independent Registered Valuer or the Price determined in accordance with the provisions of the Articles of Association of the issuer, as the case may be considering the aforesaid requirements under Regulation 166A of the Securities and Exchange

Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2018, the Articles of Association of the Company.

Our choice of Methodology and valuation has been arrived using and conventional methodologies adopted for purposes of a similar nature and our reasonable judgement, in an Independent and bonafide manner based on our previous experiences of assignment of similar nature.

- IVS 301 read with IVS 103 specifies that generally the following three approaches for valuation of business / business ownership interest are used:
 - Cost Approach
 - Market Approach
 - Income Approach

Cost Approach – Net Asset Value (NAV) method

- The value under cost approach is determined based on the underlying value of the assets which could be on book value basis, replacement cost basis or on the basis of realizable value. Under NAV method, total value of the business is based either on net asset value or realizable value or replacement cost basis. NAV methodology is most applicable for the business where the value lies in the underlying assets and not the ongoing operations of the business. NAV method does not capture the future earning capacity of the business. Given the nature and specifics of the business, we have considered the Adjusted NAV method, wherein we have assessed the fair value of the subsidiaries recorded in the books of the Company and replaced the book value with the fair value (as per last financial available with u), as relevant and applicable.

Income Approach – Discounted Cash Flows (DCF) method

- Under the Income Approach, business is valued by converting maintainable or future amount of cash flows to a single current amount either through discounting or capitalization. DCF Method seeks to arrive at the value of the business based on its future cash flows generating capability and the risks associated with the said cash flows. FCFF or free cash flows to the firm (“FCFF”) represents the cash available for distribution to both the owners and the creditors of the business. Risk-adjusted discount rate or Weighted Average Cost of Capital (“WACC”) is applied to free cash flows in the explicit period and that in perpetuity. Adjustments pertaining to debt, surplus/non-operating assets including investments, cash & bank balance and contingent assets/liabilities and other liabilities, as relevant, are required to be made in order to arrive at the value for equity shareholders. The total value for the equity shareholders so arrived is then to be divided by the number of equity shares to arrive at the value per equity share of the company.

We have not considered Discounted Cash Flows (DCF) method under the income approach due to unavailability of business projections of ADPL as we understand that projections of ADPL would be price sensitive information, which was therefore not made available to us.

Income Approach - Profit Earnings Capacity Value (PECV) method

- We have considered Profit Earning Capacity Value (PECV) method to determine the value of the shares of the Company. This method is used while valuing a going concern business with reasonable history of business operations and profitability. It involves determining the value based on the historical profits of the business. We have considered the PECV method to determine the value of the shares of the Company.

Market Approach – Market Price method

- Under the Market Price method, the market price of an equity share as quoted on a recognized Stock Exchange is normally considered as the value of the equity shares of that company, where such quotations are arising from the shares being regularly and frequently traded. Generally, market value is reflective of the investors' perception about the actual worth of the company. However, in certain situations, the value of the share as quoted on the stock market would not be regarded as a proper index of the fair value of the share especially where the market values are fluctuating in a volatile capital market. We understand that the shares are frequently traded on NSE Limited and BSE Limited.

- Regulation 164(5) of Chapter IV of SEBI ICDR Regulations reads as under-

For the purpose of this Chapter, “Frequently traded shares” means shares of the issuer, in which the traded turnover on any recognised stock exchange during the 240 trading days preceding the relevant date, is at least ten per cent of the total number of shares of such class of the shares of the issuer.

Explanation: For the purpose of this regulation, ‘stock exchange’ means any of the recognized stock exchange(s) in which the equity shares of the issuer are listed and in which the highest trading volume in respect of the equity shares of the issuer has been recorded during the preceding 90 trading days prior to the relevant date.”

The equity shares of the Company are traded on the NSE and the BSE. However, as per Explanation to regulation 164(5) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations, the exchange on which higher trading volume of equity shares during the preceding 90 trading days prior to the relevant date, is recorded, is to be considered for the pricing computation.

Since, ADPL is a listed company and equity shares of ADPL are traded on NSE Limited and BSE Limited over a reasonable period (more than 90 days), we have considered Market Price method to determine the value of equity shares of ADPL. The shares of the Company have a consistent trading history of 240 days and the overall turnover is more than 10% of the outstanding share capital. We therefore understand that the shares of the Company are frequently traded. We have therefore considered Market Price method and pricing under ICDR guidelines as one of the methods to determine the value of equity shares of the Company. We have been informed by the Management that the valuation date to be considered 04th August 2023.

Market Approach – Comparable Companies’ Multiple (CCM) method

- Under CCM Method, the value of shares of the subject company is determined on the basis of multiples derived from valuations of comparable companies. Relevant multiples need to be chosen carefully and adjusted for differences between the circumstances. The Comparable Companies’ Multiple Method arrives at the value of the company by using multiples derived from valuations of comparable companies, as manifest through stock market valuations of listed companies. This valuation is based on the principle that market valuations, taking place between informed buyers and informed sellers, incorporate all factors relevant to valuation. Relevant multiples need to be chosen carefully and adjusted for differences, such as growth potential, past track record, size, company dynamics, etc.
- Management has provided us with name/s of listed comparable companies, which we have considered for the said Valuation Purpose.

For arriving at the value per equity share of ADPL and considering valuation inputs available for determining valuation under PECV method, Adjusted NAV method and Market Price, we have applied appropriate weights to arrive at the value per equity share of ADPL.
