Prayers of gratitude as 'daughter of India' elected VP of US

SUDARSHAN VARADHAN CHENNAI, November 8

INDIANS BURST FIRECRACKERS on Sunday and offered prayers of gratitude over the election of Kamala Harris as the next US vice president, declaring it a proud moment for Indian-Americans.

Harris, born to an Indian mother and a Jamaican father, both of whom immigrated to the US to study, made history by becoming the first woman to win the second-highest US office.

At her ancestral Thulasendrapuram village in Tamil Nadu, about 8,000 km from Washington DC, children clutched posters of Harris as people gathered at a temple to thank the gods for her and president-elect Joe Biden's victory.

"A woman hailing from this small village now holds one of highest positions in US. It's a proud moment," said Tamil Nadu minister R Kamaraj, who joined the celebrations.

Harris, who visited the village when she was five, has often recalled walks with her maternal grandfather on the beaches of Chennai during annual trips from the US. Those conversations with her grandfather, who was among millions of people who joined India's independence movement, left a profound impact, Harris said in a 2018 speech.

She has been in close touch with her family in India and her uncle said he planned to attend the inauguration in January. "It's great (the victory). It was needed and it was good. And the next four years will be good," G Balachandran, a leading defence scholar, said at his home in New Delhi, where like millions of people worldwide, he watched every turn and twist of the election.

win. So, I was not tense, except I wanted the final results to come in so that I could go and sleep," he said.

In Mumbai, people shot off fireworks and artists painted a portrait of Biden and Harris.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who faced criticism from some quarters for tacitly endorsing President Donald Trump at a massive "Howdy Modi" rally in Texas last year alongside Trump, said Harris's win was historic late on Saturday.

"Your success is pathbreaking, and a matter of immense pride not just for your chittis, but also for all Indian-Americans," he said in a tweet, referring to the Tamil word for aunts that Harris referred to in her acceptance speech for the Democratic Party nomination.

Several prominent Indians and Americans of Indian origin also took to social media to congratulate Harris, including actors Priyanka Chopra Jonas and Mindy Kaling. Kaling tweeted images of Harris and wrote, "Crying and holding my daughter, 'look baby, she looks like us'"
