Turkey, Syria quake survivors struggle to stay warm, fed

AP ■ ANKARA

Thousands who lost their homes in a catastrophic earthquake huddled around campfires and clamoured for food and water in the bitter cold, three days after the tremor and series of aftershocks hit Turkey and Syria, killing more than 19,300.

Rescuers continued their race to pull more people alive from the rubble, with the window closing to find trapped survivors.

While stories of miraculous rescues briefly boosted spirits, the grim reality of the hardship facing tens of thousands who survived the disaster cast a pall in the Turkish city of Antalya, dozens of people scrambled for aid in front of a truck distributing children's coats and other supplies.

Ahmet Tokgöz, a survivor, called for the government to evacuate people from the devastated region.

While many of the tens of thousands who have lost their homes have found shelter in tents, stadiums and other temporary accommodation, others have spent the nights outdoors since Monday's 7.8 magnitude quake.

"Especially in this cold, it is not possible to live here," he said. "People are warming up around campfires, but it's not possible to stay here because of the cold."

Meanwhile, the first UN aid trucks to enter rebel-held northwest Syria from Turkey since the quake arrived Thursday morning.

Smaller aid organisations have sent in shipments, but the UN is only authorised to deliver aid through one border crossing and road damage has prevented that thus far.

Winter weather and damage to roads and airports from the quake have hampered the response throughout a region already contending with the repercussions of more than a decade of civil war in Syria.

The conflict displaced millions of people within Syria and left many more outside, though humanitarian aid, while also sending millions more over the border into Turkey to seek refuge.

Some in Turkey have complained the response was too slow.

Zelenskyy, in Brussels, urges EU to grant Ukraine membership

AP ■ BRUSSELS

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said Thursday that "a Ukraine that is winning" should become a European Union member, arguing the bloc wouldn't be without his country being an integral part of the EU.

Zelenskyy made his comments during an address to the European Parliament on a rare trip outside Ukraine, which he was trying to repel a full-scale invasion by Russia for nearly a year. The Brussels visit came as Russia intensified its attacks in eastern Ukraine amid signs that Moscow was under way to begin the February 24 anniversary of the war.

Zelenskyy, who also visited the UK and France on a whirlwind European tour that started on Wednesday, will already head home with heaps of goodwill and commitments of more military aid to arrive in the European Parliament to rapturous applause, cheering and hoots from legislators, insisting in his opening speech that Ukraine's fight for the freedom of Europe as a whole.

"A Ukraine that is winning is going to be member of the European Union," Zelenskyy said to applause, building his address around the common destiny that Ukraine and the 27-nation bloc face in confronting Russia head-on.

"Europe will always be, and remain Europe as long as we take care of the European way of life," he said.

Zelenskyy added that Russia wants to destroy the European way of life, but "we will not allow that."

He held up an EU flag after his address and the entire legislature stood in sombre silence as the Ukrainian national anthem "Ode to Joy" was played one after the other. Zelenskyy then headed to the turn-shaped Europa building, where the 27 EU leaders were meeting in a summit, to push those same points.

Before Zelenskyy spoke, European Parliament President Roberta Metsola said allies should consider "quickly, as a next step, providing long-range systems" and fighter jets to Ukraine. Metsola said the response to Russian President Vladimir Putin's war was against the threat, and the threat is existential.

Metsola also told him that "we have your back. We were with you then, we are with you now, we will be with you for as long as it takes."

EU leaders were hoping to impress on Zelenskyy that the powerful bloc is steadfast in support for Ukraine as Russia is feared to be making moves for a new offensive.

The latest draft of the summit conclusions says "The European Union will stand by Ukraine with steadfast support for as long as it takes." Military analysis says Putin is hoping that Europe's support for Ukraine will wane.

Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov charged last week that the West was considering turning Moldova into "another Ukraine."

It alleged that the West backed the 2020 election of the pro-Western Sandu, claiming that she is eager to take the country into NATO, merge Moldova with Romania and "practically is ready for anything."

Zelenskyy: Ukraine intercepted plans to destroy Moldova

AP ■ BRUSSELS

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said Thursday that his country has intercepted plans by Russian secret services to destroy Moldova.

Speaking to European Union leaders in Brussels, Zelenskyy said he recently told Moldovan President Maia Sandu about the alleged scheme.

"I have informed her that we have intercepted the plan of the destruction of Moldova by the Russian intelligence," Zelenskyy said through a translator.

Zelenskyy said the documents showed "who, when and how the plan would break the democracy of Moldova and establish control over Moldova."

Zelenskyy said the plan was very similar to the one devised by Russia to take over Ukraine. He added that he did not know whether Moscow ultimately ordered the plan to be carried out.

Ties with US in unprecedented crisis: Russian diplomat

AP ■ MOSCOW

Russia-US relations are in a state of "unprecedented crisis" without any sign of improvement, a senior Russian diplomat said Thursday.

Deputy Foreign Minister Sergei Ryabkov argued that the White House's emphasis on increasing weapons supplies to Ukraine to ensure Russia's defeat leaves no room for diplomacy.

"I don't see any prospect for a productive political and diplomatic process," Ryabkov said at a briefing. "We have a very deep and unbridgeable rift between Russia-US relations. The Biden administration has driven them into a deadlock."

Ryabkov warned that the US and its allies must carefully assess the risks stemming from supplying increasingly powerful Western weapons to Ukraine.

"The Americans need to thoroughly and deeply weigh the risks linked to their unabashed expansion of the assortment of arms deliveries," he said.

He rejected the US argument that Russia's refusal to allow the resumption of inspections of its nuclear facilities represents a breach of the New START treaty, the last remaining nuclear arms control pact between the two countries.

The New START treaty, signed in 2010 by President Barack Obama and Russian President Dmitry Medvedev, limits each country to no more than 1,550 deployed nuclear missiles and 700 deployed warheads.

The agreement envisages sweeping on-site inspections to verify compliance.

Ryabkov noted that Moscow doesn't trust Western statements about self-imposed restrictions on a range of weapons supplied to Ukraine in order to avoid escalation, adding that such assurances in the past have served as cover for a steady escalation of the conflict.
