Novelis unfazed by DOJ move to block $2.6-bn Aleris deal

BY BUREAU
Mumbai, September 5

ONE DAY AFTER the United States Department of Justice (DOJ) filed an antitrust lawsuit to block Novelis' near $2.6-billion acquisition of Aleris Corp, citing that the deal would reduce competition in the North American market for aluminium auto body sheet, Novelis on Thursday said it is fully committed to closing the proposed acquisition notwithstanding the lawsuit to block the same.

In a statement, the company, a subsidiary of Aditya Birla Group-led Hindalco Industries, said: "Novelis intends to vigorously defend against the DOJ's challenge, which it believes is without merit."

Raising objections to the deal, the department on Wednesday said the lawsuit of the antitrust division alleges that the transaction would combine two of only four North American producers of aluminium auto body sheet. Calling Ohio-based Aleris an 'aggressive competitor', the lawsuit alleges that "if this deal were allowed to proceed, Novelis would lock up 60% of projected total domestic capacity and the vast majority of uncommitted capacity, enabling the company to raise prices, reduce innovation and provide less favourable terms of service to the detriment of automakers and ultimately American consumers."

However, in response to the DOJ lawsuit, Novelis has said the lawsuit challenging the Aleris acquisition is without merit. Novelis said the lawsuit ignores the full scope of automotive body sheet competition as it is based on the contention that the only relevant competition among automotive body sheet providers is among aluminium manufacturers such as Novelis and Aleris. The company said the department ignores competiautomotive industry is currently used in the market.

In July 2018, the company announced its acquisition of Aleris, a US-based aluminium products major aluminium company with a market value of $2.6 billion. Once completed, the deal will create a new aluminium company by combining Novelis' advanced technology and capabilities in the automotive segment with Aleris' facilities and expertise in the automotive segment.

Steve Fisher, CEO of Novelis, said he was disappointed that the deal was not completed, but that in the next process, the full competition will be recognised and appropriate merger with Aleris will strengthen our competitive position against steel, aluminium, achieve our goals and bolster our ability platform.

Stating that the deal is confident of regulatory hurdle, the company said that the agreement, Novelis has agreed with the DOJ on a timeline for resolution. The suit is not expected to close the deal by January 21, outside date under competitive concerns.

The development comes close on the heels of regulatory hurdles that the deal has been facing in the European Commission. In May 2019, the European Commission had "stopped the clock" on its in-depth investigation into Novelis' proposed acquisition of Aleris, as it raised concerns that customers would face a choice in suppliers as well as prices for ABS.
