Srei lenders may explore possibility of selling accounts to ARCs

MITHUN DASGUPTA Kolkata, August 5

LENDERS TO SREI group companies, which are in the process of resolution, may explore the possibility of selling these accounts to asset reconstruction companies (ARCs)

The lenders have earlier extended the deadline to submit resolution plans for the insolvent Srei firms by 10 days to August 10

When contacted, SoftBank said it was not clear if the lenders will see if any of the ARCs, including NARCL, are interested in these assets and if they are interested in Srei, what is the price they are offering

Whether they have any interest. Because the decision has to be taken by the court, this is an option we can explore. It is not that I am saying that I will take this option. We will have to look at various options

SC: Right to use Quick Heal Antivirus software not liable to service tax

INDU BHAN New Delhi, August 5

IN A RELIEF to antivirus software developers, the Income Tax Court on Friday ruled that the right to use Quick Heal Antivirus software would amount to 'deemed sale', thus not liable to service tax as sought by the revenue authorities

Expanding the Customs Tribunal's January 2020 judgment that held Quick Heal Antivirus software to be 'goods' and the transaction that results in the right to use the software would amount to deemed sale

The tribunal had held that the antivirus software did not have an element of mere utility and the proprietary rights would not attract service tax

The department had appealed against the tribunal's order that had ruled in favour of Quick Heal Technologies that supplied antivirus software along with the user code/keys to either online or on the restricted CD/DVD to the end-customers in India
