Kamala blooms!

V.V.S. Manian

People of Indian origin in USA and those in India are proud that Kamala Harris is slated to become the winner in the tough race for presidential candidate. As of now, the indications are that Joe Biden and Kamala Harris are on the way to restore the soul of America and take America to greater heights. Trump's trumpeted theme "Make America great again" appears to have misfired.

The prospect that Kamala could occupy the second-highest political office in the US is viewed with admiration and appreciation amongst people in the world especially in India. There are also deep speculations of how US-India relationship is going to turn out. The immediate issue could be about the recent 'military and diplomatic convergence between the two countries to counter their shared rival China.'

One thing is certain - that the India-US relationship has concreted with security and defense cooperation during the last four years. President Trump has exhibited open admiration of Modi's leadership. Knowing the hero worship of Modi among the Indian population in the US, he tried to capitalize and woo the Indian American voters to his side.

The Democratic challenger Joe Biden and running mate Kamala have voiced concern about Kashmir's semi autonomous powers. India might have to justify and convince the new team of its best intentions. Modi who has charisma and diplomatic leadership can easily do this. Joe and Kamal have great backing from both the Asian Americans and African Americans.

India might not see any catastrophic change to its position. The trajectory for the US-India relation will be stable and favourable for both. US and India are well aware of this.
