Why growers of plantation crops need weather-based insurance

Erratic climate pattern taking a toll on producers of tea, coffee, rubber

V SAJEEV KUMAR,

VISHWANATH KULKARNI

Kochi/Bengaluru, September 9 Till July end this year, key plantation districts across South India such as Kodagu, Chikkamagalur, Idukki and Wayanad faced a rainfall deficit. Come August, the heavy downpour in the first fortnight helped wipe out the deficit besides triggering flooding, landslides and inflicting crop losses in some of these districts.

For plantation districts in South, August has turned out to be a dreaded month with several regions witnessing heavy rainfall and flooding for the third consecutive year. Growers attribute such exweather events to climate change and are seeking some sort of protec-output this year. "As the freak weather is be-tion to their crops in the form of an insurance cover. In Assam, heavy rain and flooding has hit coming a new normal, the government should extend the Fasal Bima scheme to plantation crops," says KK Vishwanath, a coffee and pepper grower in Kodagu. Insurance schemes for coffee, introduced some years ago, had failed to take off. The declining rainy days during the year has become a worry for tea growers in Tamil Nadu and Kerala.

Rainfall deficit

In Nilgiris, the rainy days have reduced from around 110 to 90 days a year over the past decade. "We receive almost the same amount of annual rainfall (1,100 mm), but in fewer days and this heavy intensity rainfall poses a big risk as it has been resulting in flooding, erosion of soil and landslides," said HE Sivan, Founder President of the Nilgiris Nelikolu Micro & Small Tea Growers and Farmers' Development Society (NSTF).

Besides, tea growers also face rising instances of frost and drought-like situation due to prolonged dry weather. "The red spider mite, which flares up due to dry weather sucks the sap from both tender and maintenance leaves, is increasingly becoming a problem for the tea growers as it hurts the quality of the crop," said N Lakshmanan Chettiar, a senior planter in Coonoor. "There is a need for insurance cover for both climate and price risks,"

Currently, plantation crops are not covered under the government's crop insurance schemes despite the fact that the sector has been under serious crisis due to factors related to climate, trade policy and other social issues like labour scarcity, productivity challenges etc.

Indira Devi, former director of research, Kerala Agricultural University pointed out that there are few schemes that are weather based which address crop loss due to climate changes. However, it is important that the sector be protected against the risks that it suffers both due to biotic and abiotic

Lacklustre insterest of farmers could be one reason why crop insurance schemes have not taken off in a big way in rubber sector factors. The income loss in the sector is more due to price factors that are more influenced by international forces and trade policies. So it is important that the insurance design addresses these aspects too, she said. The pilot scheme of Revenue Insurance Scheme for Plantation Crops (RIPC) to protect growers of tea, coffee, rubber, cardamom and tobacco from the twin risk of weather and price arising from vield loss due to adverse weather parameters, pest attack, which was supposed to be implemented in 2016-17 never took off for various reasons. A cardamom planter in Idukki highlighted the practical difficulties in launching an insurance scheme, considering the crop's high value and productivity especially in vast stretches of land that the majority of farmers take on lease. Land ownership issues have hindered smooth implementation of insurance schemes. As per official statistics, around 75,000 hectares of land have been used for cardamom cultivation in Idukki.

Insurance in rubber sector Previously, there was a rubber plantation insurance for immature and mature plantations implemented by the Rubber Board in association with a public sector insurer.

The Rubber Board would deduct premium from subsidy given to growers and transfer the collected amount to the insurance company. "As the subsidy scheme discontinued, this process had its natural ending," sources said.

Generally, farmers do not take the initiative in joining insurance schemes. Only those who have cultivation in terrains and more susceptible to natural calamity would prefer to get their crop insured. The lower participation of farmers for insurance schemes may also be a reason for crop insurance not taking off in the rubber sector.

Plantation crops, mainly spices, are being notified under Restructured Weather Based Crop Insurance Scheme (RW-BCIS). The scheme covers selected localised calamity covers under Individual Approach as well as adverse weather incidences under Area Approach. The crops and spices notified under RWBCIS are areca-nut, nutmeg, cocoa, cardamom, cashew, sugarcane, pepper, ginger and turmeric. In Kerala, schemes are gaining acceptance on account of its unique cropping pattern. The diverse agro-ecology of the State also favours such schemes, an official said. For cardamom, a separate scheme on weather based lines coupled with individual cover is on the cards. It is being implemented jointly with the Spices

Board which envisages 75 per cent premium subsidy to be shared by central and state governments.

weather-based crop insurance

"We are also in the process of re-introducing RISC by seeking suggestions from stakeholders including farmers. It will be a weather-based product providing indemnity against uncertainties in the blossom, backing, monsoon and post monsoon rainfalls", officials said, adding that the much accepted Rubber Plantation Insurance (RPI) is also on a re-launch mode.

Tea cover While there have been several rounds of discussions regarding the need for having insurance coverage for tea to cover any possible loss in production of crop or loss in profitability due to lower crop, however, nothing much has happened on the ground, said industry insiders. DP Maheshwari, MD and CEO, Jay Shree Tea, siad that although there was some coverage which was conceived a couple of years ago for tea, there is no insurance scheme in vogue to cover loss in crop at present.

"As planters we do not have any control over tea prices and it is dependent on demand and supply. So it is fairly complicated to work out an insurance scheme," he said.

Atul Asthana, MD and CEO, Goodricke Group Ltd echoed the same views. "It is a complex thing (to have an insurance cover for tea). Everybody has talked about it but nothing really has happened so far," he said. However, Indian Tea Association feels there is a need for an insurance scheme for the tea industry to protect planters from loss of crop due to climatic vagaries. "It is a very good thought we should explore this moving forward," said Vivek Goenka, Chairman, ITA.

Output estimates

The Gujarat government's first advance estimate has projected an all-time high groundnut crop at 54.65 lakh tonnes for Kharif 2020. The expected yield for the current year is expected to be lower at 2,637 kg/ ha, as against 2,764 kg/ha last

Pepper farmers seek help to add'spice', improve output

V SAJEEV KUMAR

Given the rising industrial demand for pepper, the farming community has requested agriculture universities and spice research stations to work in tandem with farmers at grass-root level to increase production as well as the quality of pepper. Majority buyers are looking at pesticide-free pepper to meet the quality standards in the importing countries which are becoming more stringent now. Therefore, an increased pepper production in India with good quality would attract buyers for a premium price. It is the only way for Indian pepper to sustain in the competitive global markets, said Kishore Shamji of Kishor

Meanwhile, the Kochi pepper market was up by ₹1 per kg at ₹320 on an off-take of 18 tonnes. Main buyers in the market was Tamil Nadu based processors. It is interesting to note that the production cost in Tamil Nadu is much lower compared to Kochi, Shamji said.

Tea prices rise 130% in Coonoor sale over last year

PS SUNDAR

The average price at the auctions of Coonoor Tea Trade Association (CTTA) has risen as much as 130 per cent in the last one year.

"At the latest auction bearing Sale No: 36, the average price rose to ₹193.21 a kg from ₹83.81 recorded at the same time last year. This marked a whopping increase of ₹109.40 a kg or 130 per cent," CTTA Vice-Chairman L Vairavan told BusinessLine.

"Floods in some tea-producing states including Assam, West Bengal and Kerala have restricted the flow of teas from the factories there to the market, especially in the North", he said. "On the other hand, the easing of the lockdown has brought traders back to business in many States", he said.

Hence, despite the massive price increase, nearly 94 per cent of the offer at Sale No: 36 was bought.

The Broken Pekoe grade of 'Lakshmi Estate', auctioned by Paramount Tea Marketing Pvt Ltd, topped the entire auctions when Santhosh Tea Industries Ltd bought it for ₹350 a kg. Homedale Estate's Broken Pekoe grade auctioned by

Loan options for property owners

Property, like gold, is a traditional asset that gives one comfort to the owner - one that you can pledge and get a loan, when there is a need.

Lenders offer different loan products with a property as a collateral. Typically, compared to collateral-free loans such as personal loans, these are offered at lower interest rates. For example, the floating reference rate for loans to salaried individuals is 12.9 per cent, from Bajaj Finserv. Loan against property to the same group is in the range of 10.1- 11.5 per cent.

What properties can be used for getting a loan against property (LAP)?

LAP can be availed against residential and commercial properties. The property must be a completed one; LAP is not available for underconstruction property. You can however, get a loan against a plot of land. The age of the property may also be a consideration – LIC Housing Finance requires that the age of the residential property should not be more than 35 years. There must also be no other outstanding loans on the property.

What are the loan terms to pay attention to?

One key term is the interest rate on the loan. This can vary based on the type of property (residential or commercial). Rates for residential properties are slightly lower than that for commercial properties. Loans against plot of land and other special property could have higher interest rates — PNB offers rates starting at 10.75 per cent for Rates vary based on the type of borrower (salaried or running a business). SBI, for example, has a 0.5 per cent lower interest rate for salaried employees versus business owners. Rates may also vary based on the loan amount – higher borrowing may be at higher rate. There are also differences in loan tenure, which may depend on the amount borrowed. These loans are typically long-term in tenure - in the case of LIC, the maximum is 15 years. Typically, the maximum loan amount you can get is about 60-70 per cent of the property value. It may be lower based on other factors. For example, there may be caps on the total loan given, irrespective of the property value. SBI should not be over 60 years for has a cap of ₹7.5 crore for properties in large metros and a lower cap for other locations. With Bajaj Finsery, the maximum loan amount is ₹3.5 crore for business owners, but ₹1 crore for salaried applicants.

There are upfront fees such as for processing. This is about 1 per cent with lenders such as LIC and HDFC. You must also look at prepayment penalties, costs for stamp duties and additional expenses for document handling.

What may be some restrictions to getting the

The age of the borrower may be a factor to consider. Bajaj Finserv limits LAP to salaried employees in the age range of 33 and 58 years. In the case of PNB, the borrower's age salaried employees (and 65 years for self-employed), at the time of loan maturity. Your residential status may be a factor as well. For instance, LAP from lenders such as LIC and HDFC, is available only to Indian residents. SBI's loans are open to NRIs also.

Is LAP a better option than top-up home loan?

No, the terms for LAP are less attractive than a top-up loan you can get on your existing home mortgage. For example, the interest rates for top-up loans are closer to existing home-loan rates, which are usually attractive.

However, the advantage of LAP is the higher amount of loan you can get. For example, with HDFC Bank, the maximum outstanding loans plus the top-up cannot exceed 80 per cent of the property value (for loans up to ₹75 lakh).

What can I use the borrowed money for?

Unlike a home loan, there are typ ically no major restrictions on what the loan amount can be used towards. You can use it for any personal or business expenses.

How does LAP compare with other property-related loans?

LAP compares favourably against other options such as loan against rent receivables (LARR) and overdraft against property. For properties that have rental income, LARR may be an option, but the interest rates may be higher, and tenures may be lower (based on the lease tenure). The interest rate for overdraft against property may be higher, for example, HDFC offers an overdraft against property at 9.75 to 10.85 per cent rate versus LAP at 9.25 to 10.35 per cent. The advantage of overdraft is that you need not borrow the entire amount but only what is to be
