'Write-off era over, asset quality review served banking well'

State Bank of India chairman Dinesh Kumar Khara says the banking system has learned from the pandemic...

WHEN WE LOOK AROUND THE GLOBE, THE INDIAN ECONOMY IS DOING VERY BEST. BUT YES, OF COURSE, IT IS MORE BECAUSE WE ARE ALL INTERNALLY FOCUSED...

How is the banking sector performing? The banking sector is doing pretty well. Last couple of years, the way the public sector banks have evolved, it think it is quite remarkable...

Is the era of massive write-offs, which we saw in the past, over now? I would say there were lessons that the banking system learned from past mistakes...

All these factors put together have created an environment which has helped the banking system to ensure that the lending becomes much better and much more informed.

So, I think these are the factors which have led to a situation where I feel that what you mentioned in terms of the era of write-offs, seems to be behind us...

ensure that whatever was required to be provided for, it should be provided for. I think credit growth was there but fortunately covid was behind us.

The kind of provisioning which was done for all such loans which were given during covid period under the ECLGS (Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme)...

RBI has prescribed different provisioning norms, but as we have moved beyond covid, I would say that as far as SBI's ECLGS book is concerned, I can say for sure that our book has behaved much better than what we had expected.

We have actually provided for 30% of that book, and the RBI had prescribed not more than 15%. When we look at the book overall, it has performed much better.

What would have been your exposure to ECLGS loans?

Our ECLGS exposure is about ₹20,000 crore. If I look at total (loan) book, it would be around ₹35 trillion, ₹20,000 crore is too small a number.

Nevertheless, we had actually created about ₹7,000 crore of provision in this particular book.

The recent GDP data showed that manufacturing was the driving force.

When we see the credit growth numbers, the services sector is the highest.

There are different stages in manufacturing. The first stage is the investment which has to happen in manufacturing capacity building. Once the capacity is created, then the actual manufacturing starts.

So, the way I read the situation, particularly for us in the MSME segment, we have grown almost 23%, which is higher than the rest of the segments.

In the small and medium segment, we have seen even stronger activity.

To answer your question, when we look at the GDP number, the growth number in GDP and the actual manufacturing, there is always a lag.

What does the SBI book look like?

The total book size is ₹35 trillion. The retail book is ₹12 trillion, of which ₹7 trillion is mortgages. MSME book would be about ₹8.3 trillion and agriculture is around ₹2.8 lakh. Mid corporate book is around ₹5 trillion and large corporate is ₹4.5 trillion.

That's how it is stacked up. Our international book is ₹5 trillion.

The economy seems to be doing well now. Do you see any concerns going forward?

I would say that perhaps it is a golden phase in agriculture, where, in the first half, there were little concerns, but in the second half we have started seeing economic activity picking up even in the agricultural sector.

When we look at FMCG data as well, the second-half very clearly is showing a positive trend. I think that to extent, practically all the sectors are firing, if I may say so. It's a very positive sign. Also, when we look around the globe, the Indian economy is doing very best. But yes, of course, it is more because we are all internally focused.

How are you seeing rural demand? From the latter half of the second quarter, we have started seeing positive trends in rural demand. FMCG companies are the first ones who actually feel the nerve.

The early indicators that we are getting from FMCG, there is a demand pick up in the rural economy.

Asset quality review was seen as a bitter pill. Do you think it has kind of served the purpose, and we are reaping the benefits of that now?

It did a good job. It could help banks to ensure that whatever was required to be provided for, it should be provided for.
