Job scam: CBI follows ED, arrests top SSC officials

PNS/SAUGAR SENGUPTA ■ NEW DELHI/KOLKATA

Days after the Enforcement Directorate arrested former Bengal Education Minister Partha Chatterjee and his aide Arpita Mukherjee on money laundering and other charges, the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) on Wednesday made its first arrest in the school-level recruitment scam taking into custody Dr SP Sinha a former Controller of an advisory committee created by the State Government to supervise the recruitment procedures of the School Service Commission and Dr Ashok Saha a former Secretary and Chairman of the SSC.

The State Government had earlier created a five-member advisory committee to advise the SSC — an autonomous body responsible for making appointments to all the school-level posts — in appointments of Group C, D and secondary level teaching staff. The duo have been charged with criminal conspiracy and corruption in making appointments, etc. sources said.

A judicial committee under Justice AK Bag formed by the Calcutta High Court had earlier indicted the members of the state committee for illegally making appointments to hundreds of posts apparently in the name of money and had advocated criminal charges against them. The Committee was formed when Partha Chatterjee did not cooperate with the investigators, sources said.

The Education Minister investigations have till now revealed 381 fake appointments out of whom 222 candidates not even appeared in any kind of examinations. The High Court has asked both the CBI and the SSC to find out the number of candidates who were given fake appointments.

According to sources in the CBI money might have played a big role in the fake appointments which may run into several thousands. About the modus operandi some sources said that a parallel channel of the advisory committee by-passing the SSC.

Accordingly SP Sinha would recommend the names of ineligible candidates and get appointment letters prepared through Saha and some other top officials before handing them over to the respective candidates. All the money that came from the cheque was sent to the topmost level of the government. Opposition Leader Nripendra Adhikari said adding at least 50,000 fake appointments have been given to ineligible candidates stoking a scam that could be in the vicinity of Rs 1,000 crore.

Incidentally, Adhikari himself on Wednesday got a big cheque from the High Court which turned down a PIL seeking order for the CBI to hasten up investigation against him in Narada and Sharda cell fund cases.

Meanwhile, in a related development and in the backdrop of increasing incidents of public booking of the TMC Chatterjee, eight TMC ministers on Wednesday held a joint press conference wondering why only they would face a public booking and why the Left and the Congress leaders would be left alone.
