Didi: Cabinet rejig tomorrow, 5-6 new faces to be inducted

Don't Disrespect The Party, CM Warns Ministers

Suman Chakraborti & Debashis Konar | TNN

Kolkata: West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee on Monday warned her cabinet colleagues against "disrespecting the party in any manner" before making a public announcement that there would be a cabinet reshuffle on Wednesday. A few minutes before the CM's cabinet reshuffle announcement, the Trinamool Congress effected a major organisational shake-up across several districts. All three developments came in a span of an hour on Monday, and that he was "a victim of a conspiracy".

Mamata Banerjee

The cabinet reshuffle was necessitated by multiple vacancies, Banerjee explained. "Our senior ministers Subrata da (Mukherjee) and Sadhan Pande have died, and Partha da (Chatterjee) is in jail. Who will do their work? Someone will have to do that," the CM said, adding that several departments are headless. "It is not possible for me to look after all the departments," she said. Banerjee is now in charge of 11 departments. The CM indicated that

The TMC supremo also effected a major organisational shake-up. It came a day after former minister Partha Chatterjee said the money seized by ED was not his five-six persons would be inducted in the cabinet. Bengal now has 20 cabinet ministers (besides Banerjee herself), 10 ministers of state with independent charge and nine junior ministers. Bengal, according to norms, can have 44 ministers (15% of its assembly strength of 294 MLAs). Banerjee slammed speculation that there would be a complete overhaul of the cabinet because of Chatterjee's arrest. "I have no such thing in mind. A reshuffle is in the offing. It will be done on Wednesday afternoon," she said.

There is intense speculation about the probables, with the names of Partha Bhowmik, Babul Supriyo, Tapas Ray and Udayan Guha doing the rounds. The organisational rejig saw several key leaders being dropped, an important exception being Birbhum district chief Anubrata Mandal. Barasat MP Kakoli Ghosh Dastidar will now head the Barasat organisational district. Bagda MLA Biswajit Das, who switched over to TMC after winning polls on a BJP ticket, is now the Bongaon unit head. The party seniors said, was trying to limit multiple responsibilities for one person as much as possible. Chatterjee had four cabinet berths and five party posts and was a vocal obstacle against the one-person-one-post policy.

Venkayya's last wish was to have his body draped in Tricolour

Venu.Lanka@timesgroup.com

Vijayawada: Pingali Venkayya, who created the design of the Tricolour, was born on August 2, 1878 — exactly 146 years ago to this day. Venkayya never had an easy life. He would go to become a teacher, agriculturist, author and linguist, but somehow struggled to make ends meet. While he refused to cash in on his reputation as the man behind the Tricolour, Venkayya's pride in his creation didn't dim till his death on July 4, 1963. His last wish was to have his body draped in the Tricolour till the burial ground. He then wanted the flag to be tied to a tree until his funeral was completed.

on designing the flag and published a book, 'Bharatha Deshaniki Oka Jatiya Patakam' (National flag for India), in 1916. He also published 30 draft designs of flags, explaining their significance and relation with Indian culture and heritage. The Congress meeting at Victoria hall in erstwhile Bezawada (Vijayawada) on March 31, 1921, became the venue for the acceptance of draft design of the Congress flag, a precursor to the Tricolour. Gandhi asked Venkayya to submit a design at the Bezawada AICC session, which he did within three hours. Gandhi introduced the flag and Venkayya to lakhs of people who attended the public meet at Swaraj Maidan (Andhra Gymkhana Grounds in Vijayawada) on April 1, 1921. But for all the honour bestowed on him, he led a life in penury after Independence and died in abject poverty.

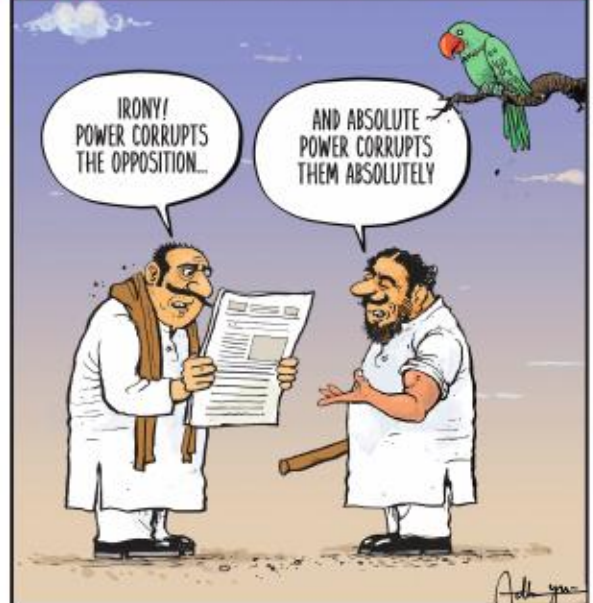

His son Chalapati Rao, died after Venkayya faced difficulty in getting treatment for him. Even the hut in Chintanagar that he lived in stood on a plot received as a token of appreciation for his service in the army. Venkayya did not have a single rupee with him at the time of his death.

DESIGN IN 3 HOURS

Growing up in rural Andhra Pradesh, freedom and Gandhian non-violence had been the last things on young Venkayya's mind. He was attracted to the armed forces, and joined the British Indian Army at the age of 19. He participated in the Boer War in South Africa, which is where he first met Mahatma Gandhi. The AICC session in then Calcutta under the leadership of Dadabhai Naoroji in 1906 inspired Venkayya to design a flag for the Indian National Congress. He strongly opposed hoisting the British flag at Congress meetings. Venkayya worked hard

Confident Maha people will display their large heart & forgive me: Guv

Prafulla Marpakwar

Mumbai: Tendering an apology for his remarks against the people of Maharashtra, governor B S Koshiyari said on Monday, "In the last three years, the people of Maharashtra have given me immense love and affection. I have tried by best to enhance the prestige of Maharashtra and Marathi language. But on that day, it appears I inadvertently committed a mistake. I am confident that the people of Maharashtra will display their large heart and forgive this humble servant of people. I cannot even imagine insulting people of a state like Maharashtra, which has a great tradition and a history of saints." Leaders of the rival Shiv Sena factions, BJP, Congress, NCP and MNS as well as citizens had criticised Koshiyari for his comment at a chowk-naming ceremony last week. Shiv Sena president Uddhav Thackeray, who is at loggerheads with Koshiyari over MLC nominations, had demanded an unconditional apology to the people of Maharashtra and said it was time that Koshiyari be shown the 'Kolhapuri chappal'. NCP president Sharad Pawar, his daughter Supriya Sule, and Congress leaders Nana Patole and Balasaheb Thorat had condemned the statement. Chief minister Eknath Shinde and his deputy Devendra Fadnis had distanced themselves from Koshiyari, saying they do not agree with his statement. Meanwhile, NCP activists, led by former housing minister Jeetendra Ahwad, who were marching to Raj Bhavan on Monday, were detained by the police.

SC names ex-judge as mediator in Lalit Modi family dispute

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Monday persuaded quarrelling members of K K Modi family — former IPL commissioner Lalit Modi, his mother Bina Modi, sister Charu and brother Samir, promoters of Godfrey Phillips and estimated to own assets worth Rs 11,000 crore — to attempt resolution afresh through mediation under former SC Judge R V Raveendran. Earlier attempts, under the mediation of two former apex court judges Vikramjit Sen and Kurian Joseph, had failed to resolve the festering dispute between the trustees after demise of K K Modi in 2019 over the sharing of the assets.

When top advocates for both sides — Harish Salve and A Singhvi for Lalit and Kapil Sibal and Mukul Rohatgi for Bina — remained locked on whether status quo on assets should be ordered pending hearing of Lalit's appeal in the SC, senior advocate Shyam Divan, appearing for Samir, suggested fresh attempt at mediation and said issues were not unresolvable. The CJ-led bench then, with consent of parties, appointed Justice Raveendran as the mediator to attempt resolution of all outstanding grievances of parties as expeditiously as possible. TNN
