World Bank chief raises 2023 growth outlook slightly

Washington: World Bank Group President David Malpass said on Monday that the lender has revised its 2023 global growth outlook slightly upward to 2 per cent from a January forecast of 1.7 per cent but the slowdown from stronger 2022 growth will increase debt distress for developing countries. Malpass told a media briefing that the upward revision was due to an improved outlook for China's recovery from Covid-19 lockdowns, with growth now pegged at 5.1 per cent this year compared to 4.3 per cent in the bank's January Global Economic Prospects report. REUTERS

Reduction in gas prices may prune fertilizer subsidy bill

MAJOR BOOST. '$1 decrease in price can benefit fertilizer firms up to ₹1,000 cr a year'

Shishir Sinha
New Delhi

Subsidy bill for fertilizers is likely to come down on account of the new domestic gas pricing mechanism that has come into effect from April 1. The fertilizer sector is the biggest consumer of natural gas. Domestic gas contributed over 53 per cent of the overall gas requirement.

"We estimate that a $1 decrease in the gas prices can benefit fertilizer companies up to ₹1,000 crore a year," a senior government official told businessline. Following the Cabinet decision, the price of domestic natural gas for April 8-30 has been notified as $7.92 per million British thermal units (mBtu) on a gross calorific basis (GCV).

Further, for the gas produced by ONGC/Oil India (OIL) from their nomination fields, the above mentioned APM price shall be subject to a ceiling of $6.50 per mBtu on GCV basis for the same period. Before the revision, the price was $8.57.

According to the Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell (PPAC), the fertilizer sector has the largest share among various sectors using natural gas. During April-January 2023, the consumption of natural gas was 55.5 BCM (billion cubic metre), out of which the fertilizer sector had the highest share of 29 per cent. With respect to FY22, sectoral consumption in FY23 in the fertilizer sector decreased by 4 percentage points.

TOP CONSUMER. The fertilizer sector has largest share among various sectors using natural gas

34 UREA UNITS

The Fertilizer Ministry data show that there are 34 gas-based urea manufacturing units in the country with installed annual capacity of 258.34 LMT approx.

As cost of natural gas is key to fertilizer output price, any reduction in former will bring down the latter, which in turn will have an impact on the subsidy bill. According to the International Energy Forum, natural gas is used as a feedstock to produce ammonia, a source of nitrogen essential for fertilizer plants.

Ammonia is further processed and combined with other plant nutrients like phosphorous and potassium to produce different types of fertilizer. While a majority of global ammonia production uses natural gas, coal gasification is also used.

"Because of the prevalent use of natural gas in the production of ammonia-based fertilizers, natural gas prices tend to be correlated with the fertilizer prices. Positively correlated (close to 1) when the rising natural gas prices push fertiliser prices higher and negatively correlated (close to -1) when the falling natural gas prices cause the fertilizer prices to go down," it said in an article titled 'High natural gas prices contribute to rising fertilizer and food prices,' some time back.

SUBSIDISED COST

The government provides urea to farmers at a statutorily notified maximum retail price which is ₹242 per 45 kg bag of urea (exclusive of charges towards neem coating and taxes as applicable).

The difference between the delivered cost of urea at the farm gate and the net market realisation by the urea units is given as a subsidy to the urea manufacturer/importer by the government which ensures farmers getting urea at subsidised cost.

Due to the steep increase in the international prices of fertilizers and inputs including gas prices, the government decided to absorb the increased prices by increasing the subsidy on P&K fertilizers, including DAP. This resulted in revising the subsidy estimate for all types of fertilizer to ₹2.25-lakh crore in FY23 from the Budget estimate of ₹1.05-lakh crore. For FY24, the Budget estimate is ₹1.75-lakh crore.

SC allows Sterlite to carry out upkeep of Tuticorin plant

NOD FOR MAINTENANCE. The plant has been closed since 2018, following protests on environmental concerns REUTERS

A three-member Supreme Court Bench, headed by Chief Justice DY Chandrachud, on Monday allowed Sterlite Copper to carry out the upkeep of the plant at Tuticorin in Tamil Nadu. The plant has been closed since 2018, following protests on environmental concerns.

The first Bench, comprising Chief Justice DY Chandrachud, Justice Pami-dighantam Sri Narasimha and Justice JB Pardiwala, was hearing an application filed by the company seeking relief from the Supreme Court to ensure proper upkeep of the plant. It considered the report of the High Powered Expert Committee (HPC) and recommendations of the State government for grant of permission.

On March 6, 2023, the Additional Chief Secretary of the State government sent a communication to the District Collector, Tuticorin district, granting permission to proceed with various actions, including evacuation of remaining gypsum. The required manpower as requested by the unit, was also permitted.

PROPOSAL

The unit shall submit a detailed proposal and time schedule, including the manpower, machineries, number of trucks required for removal of the remaining gypsum. Once the evacuation of the gypsum is over, the manpower and the machineries permitted for that purpose should be withdrawn.

To undertake the green belt maintenance and clear the wild bushes and dried trees, the same shall be carried out under the supervision of BDO, Ottapidaram. The activities shall be carried out under the supervision of the Local Level Monitoring Committee.

The District Collector had not recommended activities undertaking civil and structural safety/integrity assessment study in the plant premises; removal and transportation of spares/equipment and evacuation of in-process reverts and other raw materials lying idle in the premises of the plant/stores.

CS Vaidyanathan, Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the Tamil Nadu government, said that the State government will once again evaluate whether any further or supplementary directions should be issued in that regard.

Darius Khambata, Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of Vedanta, submitted that with due regard to the serious deficiencies, which were reported by the HPC, there is no reason why the other steps as proposed by the Committee should not be taken. The petitioner states that it is willing to undertake those activities at its own costs. The matter is now posted for further hearing on May 4, 2023.

A Sumathi, Chief Operating Officer, Sterlite Copper, in a release said, as the court considered the report of the HPC and the recommendations of the State Government, the company looks forward to carrying out the upkeep activities at the plant.

To keep BigTech at bay, digital start-ups pitch for separate competition law

KR Srivats
New Delhi

Domestic digital start-ups have urged law makers to pro-actively and quickly move to enact a separate Digital Competition Act with an ex-ante regulatory framework, so as to prevent abusive anti-competitive conduct by BigTech.

In the absence of an ex-ante Digital Competition law, BigTech would gain immensely at the cost of Indian digital start-ups, said a spokesperson for the Alliance of Digital India Foundation (ADIF), a policy think-tank for digital start-ups.

"ADIF strongly feels the need for such a law, owing to business dynamics specific to digital markets," a spokesperson added.

"Indian start-ups are seeking basic rights, including the absence of conflict of interest, BigTech not resorting to self-preferencing, non-bundling of particular services by BigTech, as announced by CCI in its latest order, thus leading to a fair, transparent and democratic internet ecosystem, to create a level playing field for Indian start-ups and to promote fair competition in the digital economy."

This demand is significant as it comes at a time when India is contemplating whether there is need for a separate Digital Competition law at all.

EX-ANTE APPROACH

Put simply, an ex-ante approach requires putting in measures to prevent any abusive anti-competitive practices by BigTech, sometimes referred to as Gatekeeper platforms.

India currently legally ad-

PROMOTING TRANSPARENCY. Domestic start-ups have pitched for the law to prevent abusive anti-competitive conduct opts only an ex-post regime, where attempts are made to resolve issues after the damage is done.

"While regulatory interventions in an ex-post regime can, to some extent, minimise some of this damage, the market will never revert to the position that prevailed prior to the commencement of BigTech's anti-competitive conduct and policies," the ADIF spokesperson added.

Contrary to traditional platforms, the cost of serving each additional customer on a digital platform decreases with an increase in the number of users on the platform. Thus, large platforms would keep decreasing their marginal costs with an increase in the number of users, implying new players would never be able to compete with them.

Contrary to traditional markets, larger the number of users, more the number of users are likely to join that particular platform. These dynamics make these platforms a 'Winner takes it all' market, creating entry barriers for new players, and may tempt dominant players in the market to resort to abusive practices.

ADIF said a proactive approach is needed in the new-age digital world to safeguard the interests of both consumers and start-ups.

"The present system allows BigTech to unilaterally define the rules of the game for the digital internet ecosystem without any negotiation power on the other side," the ADIF spokesperson said.

VARIOUS RESTRICTIONS

These practices include restrictions on the use of third-party payment mechanisms; restrictions on communicating with consumers using a particular app via email; charging exorbitantly high service fee on app purchases, in-app sales and subscriptions; displaying warnings when a user attempts to install an app from a source other than the official app stores; force original equipment manufacturers to pre-install BigTech apps, and at the same time not allow pre-installing of other apps to block out competition, among others.

TN Governor clears Bill to ban online gambling

Our Bureau
Chennai

Tamil Nadu Governor RN Ravi on Monday approved a Bill to ban online gambling, including online rummy and poker with stakes. This will be a big blow to the nascent but fast-growing skill gaming sector. The E-Gaming Federation said it is examining the legislation and would take appropriate action in due course.

Last month, the Governor returned the Bill after 131 days since it was passed in the Assembly. However, for the second time, the Assembly passed it again and for Governor's approval.

The Governor's consent on Monday comes after the Assembly passed a resolution on Monday urging the President and the Centre to instruct him to clear the Bills within a timeframe.

On September 26, 2022, the Tamil Nadu Cabinet headed by Chief Minister MK Stalin approved an Ordinance to ban online gaming in the State. An Ordinance is promulgated after getting the Governor's consent.

Reacting to Governor's approval, Malay Kumar Shukla, Secretary, E-Gaming Federation, reacting to the Governor's consent, said, "It is extremely unfortunate and a disappointing development for the online gaming industry. We are examining the legislation and shall be taking appropriate action based on legal advice in due course of time."

HDFC twins' merger, co-lending pose challenges to retail asset securitisation

Anshika Kayastha
Mumbai

Retail asset securitisation saw a jump in FY23, reverting nearly to pre-Covid levels, led by a largely stable environment and positive economic outlook. However, going ahead, growth and the inflation trajectory will remain the main driving forces amid both domestic challenges and global uncertainty.

"The reduction in the volume expected from the culmination of the merger of the HDFC twins and the evolving situation with the growing adoption of the co-lending model will have a major impact on the how the retail securitisation market evolves in the near future," Sriram Rajagopalan, Associate Director at CARE Ratings, said.

RETAIL ASSETS

The secondary market for standard retail assets – both PTC (pass through certificates) and DA (direct assignment) – revived after two years to see a growth of 56 per cent in FY23, pushing the total market volume over ₹1.76-lakh crore.

This reflects the resilient performance of retail asset pools and the preference of banks to grow retail assets and meet priority sector lending (PSL) requirements, CARE said, adding that DA transactions grew 49 per cent in FY23 and constituted 61 per cent of securitisation volumes.

Of this, the share of mortgage-backed securitisation (MBS) was at 50 per cent. asset-backed securitisation (ABS) transactions comprised 31 per cent, and microfinance (MFI) loan transactions for 19 per cent of DA volumes.

TRANSACTION VOLUME

PTC volumes were mainly driven by ABS pools, which accounted for 76 per cent PTC transactions, followed by vehicle loan financing for 62 per cent and MFI loans for 13 per cent. The ratio of DA to PTC transactions remained largely unchanged over the years.

On the other hand, the volume of wholesale securitisation transactions was around ₹6,600 crore for FY23. The overall number of originators increased 30 per cent across banks, small finance banks, NBFCs and HFC, the ratings agency said. The market saw participation from one of the leading PSU banks as investors in PTC transactions, a deviation from their preferred mode of taking exposure through the DA route.
