Rajnath bats for local in defence purchases

75% of capital outlay in 2023-24 for domestic firms

MANASH PRATIM BHUYAN
Bengaluru, February 15

INDIA WILL SPEND 75% of the total defence capital outlay for procurement from domestic defence manufacturers in 2023-24, defence minister Rajnath Singh said on Wednesday in a significant decision aimed at boosting the indigenous production of various weapons and military platforms.

The move will mean setting aside of around ₹1 trillion for procurement from domestic sources out of the total defence capital outlay of ₹1.62 trillion announced in the Union Budget for the next fiscal, officials said. According to official data, the value of India's indigenous defence production from 2019-20 to 2021-22 was ₹2.58 trillion.

In 2020-21, the government had set aside 58% of defence capital outlay for procurement from the Indian defence industry which was increased to 64% in 2021-22. The allocation was further enhanced to 68% in 2022-23.

Officials said over 250 business-to-business pacts and MoUs were signed up at Aero India which are estimated to unlock investment to the tune of over ₹79,000 crore.

The defence minister made the announcement of increasing the allocation further at an event where several agreements and technology transfer pacts were signed up among a large number of defence companies which participated in Aero India 2023.

"The trust of the government and the society in our defence industry is increasing so much. The share of procurement from Indian vendors last year was 68%. Inspired by the 'Amrit Kaal', that share has been directly increased to 75%," he said.

"If you take one step, the government has promised that it will take 10 steps forward for that. You talked to us about land to run on the path of development. But looking at your speed and height, we are moving towards providing you the full sky," Singh said, drawing loud applause from representatives of domestic defence firms.

The defence minister described the decision to enhance the allocation for the domestic industries as a "very significant" one for overall growth of the domestic defence sector.

"After this step, our defence industry will move forward with even more enthusiasm and will contribute in making the country's defence manufacturing sector more powerful and prosperous," Singh said.

"It is a matter of great pleasure that Aero-India 2023 witnesses this unprecedented decision," he said.

BBC says India probing its tax structure

INDIA IS LOOKING into the BBC's tax structure, the British news organisation said in an internal memo on Wednesday, as officials searched its premises in New Delhi and Mumbai for a second day, weeks after India banned a BBC documentary as propaganda.

A senior Indian government official said the income tax survey, which began on Tuesday, was not vindictive or "done out of a sense of pique".

The BBC documentary focused on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership as chief minister of the western state of Gujarat during riots in 2002 in which at least 1,000 people were killed, most of them Muslims, though activists put the toll at more than twice that number. The government last month dismissed the documentary, "India: The Modi Question", as propaganda and blocked its streaming and sharing on social media.

The foreign ministry said last month the documentary was meant to push a "discredited narrative", was biased, lacked objectivity and showed a "continuing colonial mindset".

The BBC has stood by its reporting for the documentary and said it was cooperating with Indian tax officials. The BBC was served tax notices in the past but the organisation had not provided a convincing response to tax authorities, Kanchan Gupta, senior adviser at the ministry of I&B, told Times Now news channel.

"The Income Tax Department is conducting a survey of the BBC's tax status and affairs in India. We understand officers from the department may wish to speak to members of staff about the BBC in India," Liliane Landor, director of the BBC World Service, said in the note sent to staff and reviewed by Reuters on Wednesday.

A spokesperson for the BBC did not immediately respond to a request for comment from Reuters.

"Questions about the BBC's structure, activities, organisation, and operations in India are within the remit of the investigation and should be answered," Landor said in the note.

"It goes without saying that you should not delete or conceal any information on any of your devices."

A spokesperson for the BBC did not immediately respond to a request for further comment. India's Income Tax Department has so far declined to comment on the reason for the search. Media organisations inside India criticised the search.

"We demand that this intimidation be stopped and journalists are left to do their jobs without fear or favour," the Mumbai Press Club said in a statement. An editorial in the Indian Express newspaper said the government's action "smacks of bullying".

India ranks low on the Reporters Without Borders World Press Freedom Index, falling eight places last year to No. 150. The government has said it does not agree with conclusions drawn by the index. — REUTERS

With 38% ad share, digital topped TV in 2022: Madison

FMCG TOP AD CATEGORY

- FMCG continues to be the largest advertising category, though its share has declined from 38% in 2020 to 32% in 2022
- HUL, Reckitt, Reliance Industries, Dream11 & Mondelez were the top five advertisers last year
- Advertising spends will grow by 16% this year to reach ₹1.04 trn with digital taking 41% of the pie

CHRISTINA MONIZ
Mumbai, February 15

DIGITAL ADVERTISING EXPENDITURE (AdEx) has doubled over the last couple of years in size from ₹16,974 crore to ₹34,405 crore in 2022, according to the Pitch Madison Advertising Report. Last year was also the first time when digital advertising, with a 38% share of the AdEx overtook TV advertising, which was at 34%.

India's AdEx reached ₹89,803 crore in 2022, registering a growth of 21% over the previous year. India's advertising growth story is fairly bright compared with the global AdEx growth rate, which according to WARC, the leading global source of advertising trends, was only 8% in 2022.

Digital advertising saw a growth of 35% in 2022 but it was AdEx on traditional advertising (which includes TV, print, radio and outdoor advertising) which dominated with 62% growth. This is unlike the global scenario, where the digital share in growth was much higher at 68%. What was also positive for traditional media in 2022 was the fact that it finally crossed the pre-pandemic mark of ₹52,136 crore in 2019 to reach ₹55,399 crore last year. The audio visual medium, which included linear TV and digital video, contributed to 45.6% of the total ad spending.

The report predicts that advertising spends will grow by 16% this year to reach ₹1.04 trillion with digital taking 41% of the pie, followed by TV at 32% and print at 19%.

Digital will fuel advertising in 2023, and is expected to record a 25% growth to reach ₹43,036 crore. Outdoor advertising, radio and cinema advertising are expected to clock 4%, 2% and 1% growth respectively.

Video, social, display, e-commerce and search are the key drivers for digital advertising. Digital video continues to dominate the digital AdEx with 40% growth and a 30% share. While Google and Facebook account for the lion's share of digital ad spending, Amazon and Flipkart account for almost 80% of e-commerce spends.

Among the advertisers, FMCG continues to be the largest advertising category, though its share has moved declined 38% in 2020 to 32% in 2022. The report notes that the top five advertisers last year were HUL, Reckitt, Reliance Industries, Dream11 and Mondelez.

There are only 11 startups among the top 50 advertiser list as opposed to 15 last year, with VC funding drying up. TV and advertising continue to be popular media for the top 50 advertisers, accounting for 87% of their spending.
