PM IN BALI FOR G20 SUMMIT

Prime Minister Narendra Modi arrives in Bali for the G20 Summit on Monday

Global growth and energy security to top Modi's agenda

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, November 14

PRIME MINISTER NARENDRA Modi on Monday said he will huddle with leaders of the G20 grouping in Bali to find ways to address challenges such as reviving global growth, ensuring food and energy security and handling issues relating to environment, health and digital transformation.

In a statement ahead of his three-day visit to attend the G20 summit in Indonesia, Modi also highlighted India's "unwavering commitment" to jointly address global issues. India's upcoming presidency of the G20 will promote the theme of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam or "One Earth, One Family, One Future", he added.

The summit will likely discuss the Ukraine war and its impact on global inflation, food and energy security and supply chains. Last week, US treasury secretary Janet Yellen alleged that Russia has been using its gas supply as a weapon against Europe. "On the sidelines of the G20 Summit, I will meet with Leaders of several other participating countries, and review the progress in India's bilateral relations with them," Modi said in the statement. He will address the Indian community in Bali at a reception on Tuesday.

Indonesian president Joko Widodo will hand over the G20 Presidency to India at the closing ceremony of the Bali Summit. India will officially assume the G20 Presidency from December 1. "I will also extend my personal invitation to G20 Members and other invitees to our G20 Summit next year," Modi said. The G20 represents around 85% of the global GDP, over 75% of trade, and about two-thirds of the world population.

The IMF has warned of a possible recession in advanced economies next year. It has projected global growth to decelerate further to just 2.7% in 2023 from 3.2% this year. The WTO expects global trade growth to ease to just 1% in 2023, from 3.5% this year.

The IMF last month slashed its FY23 growth projection for India by 60 basis points from its July forecast to 6.8% but retained its FY24 prediction for the country at 6.1%. Of course, despite the downward revision, India's growth rates for this fiscal and the next would still be way above the agency's projected global economic expansion rates of 3.2% and 2.7%, respectively.

EXPLAINER

G20 SUMMIT: A LOT ON THE PLATE

The 17th G20 Heads of State and Government Summit is being held in Bali on November 15-16. With Russian President Vladimir Putin choosing to skip the meet, the US-China stand-off and looming global recession, the summit is seen as one of the most strained in the history of the multilateral grouping. Prasanta Sahu takes a look at G20's evolution, the main agenda of the current summit and India's presidency from December

What is the main agenda of the ongoing summit in Bali, Indonesia?

At this 17th summit (November 15-16, 2022), G20 leaders are scheduled to deliberate on the Russia-Ukraine war, the simmering tension between the US and China, high global inflation, the coordinated monetary tightening among major central banks, and, of course, the impending "global recession". Food and energy security, and post-Covid health issues, too, are high on the summit's agenda. While the global climate meet is taking place separately in Egypt, the pressing issue of global warming will also be discussed. While several bilateral meetings between the leaders are also being held, the one between US President Joe Biden and Chinese president Xi Jinping on Monday was keenly watched as all countries looked for an agreement between the two on the contours of the global recovery.

How did the G20 come into being?

The G20 or Group of Twenty is a forum comprising 19 advanced and emerging economies and the European Union (EU) striving for international coordination in economic policy. Though it was founded in 1999 in the wake of the Asian financial crisis, it gained in importance with the 2009 summit held in the backdrop of the 2007-08 global financial meltdown. Since 2008, the group has convened at least once a year with summits involving heads of governments/states, as well as finance ministers and central bank governors. While the stated objectives of the grouping is to ensure global financial stability and furtherance of sustainable development, topical issues of the global economy have invariably figured in the discussions, as the last one and half a decade has been tumultuous for the world economy and the global financial system. Its principal function has therefore come to be regarded as crisis-solving.

85%
G20's share in gross world product (global GDP)

75%
The group's share in world trade

79%
G20's contribution to global growth in the 10 years to 2021

What are the drawbacks of the group and how efficacious has it been?

G20 was an improvement upon the G7 group of rich countries thanks to its embracing of the emerging economies. It did help in mitigating the ripple effects of the financial meltdown in the aftermath of the global financial crisis, but the common resolve has since weakened with national priorities taking precedence. The forum lacks enforcement powers and is also alleged to be undermining multilateral bodies like the IMF, World Bank and the WTO. The G20 has no permanent secretariat and the work is coordinated by G20 leaders' personal representatives, known as sherpas.

How does the G20 presidency evolve?

The presidency rotates every year among members, with the country that holds the presidency working together with its predecessor and successor, the three together known as Troika, to ensure the continuity. Indonesia took over the presidency from Italy in December 2021 and India will assume the position on December 1, 2022.

What are the priorities of India for the current and next G20 summits?

Before emplaning for Bali, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said "he will hold extensive discussions with G20 leaders on key challenges such as reviving global growth, ensuring food and energy security and addressing issues relating to health and digital transformation". Modi said India's G20 Presidency will be grounded in the theme 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam' or 'One Earth, One Family, One Future'. Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman has recently stressed the need for detailed deliberations in G20 on the "spill-over effect" of the global turmoil, caused by actions of few nations, on emerging and low-income economies. She also listed eight priority areas — including reforms in multilateral institutions, global strategy to regulate cryptocurrencies and food and energy security in the wake of the Ukraine war — for discussions.
