British author Samantha Harvey wins Booker Prize

 $B^{\text{ritish author Samantha Harvey}}_{\text{has won the 2024 Booker Prize}}$ for her ambitious and beautiful 'Orbital', which becomes the first novel set in space to win the 50,000pound literary prize selected from a historic shortlist that was dominated by women this year.

'Orbital', the biggest-selling book on the shortlist in the UK, takes place over a single day in the life of six astronauts and cosmonauts aboard the International Space Station who observe 16 sunrises and sunsets on Earth spinning past continents and cycling past seasons.

It was named the winner at a ceremony at Old Billingsgate in the City of London on Tuesday evening after the judges described it as a compact yet beautifully expansive novel which invites readers to reflecting on the individual and collective value of every human life. "I originally thought, 'Why on earth would anybody want to hear from a woman at her desk in Wiltshire writing about space, imagining what it's like being in space when people have actually been there," said Harvey, who dedicated her award to everybody who "speaks for and not against the Earth".

"I thought of it as space pastoral a kind of nature writing about the beauty of space," said the nearly 50year-old author. She is the first British writer since 2020 to win the prestigious Booker.

At just 136 pages long, the winning title is the second-shortest book to win the prize and covers the briefest time frame of any book on the shortlist, taking place over just 24 hours.

'Samantha Harvey has written a observe Earth's splendour whilst novel propelled by the beauty of 16 sunrises and 16 sunsets. Everyone and no one is the subject, as six astronauts in the International Space Station circle the Earth observing the passages of weather across the fragility of borders and time zones. With her language of lyricism and acuity, Harvey makes our world strange and new for us," said artist-author Edmund de Waal, chair of the 2024 Booker

'All year we have celebrated fiction that inhabits ideas rather than declaiming on issues, not finding answers but changing the question of what we wanted to explore. Our unanimity about 'Orbital' recognises its beauty and ambition. It reflects Harvey's extraordinary intensity of attention to the precious and precarious world we share," he said.

The judging panel included award-winning British Indian musician

Nitin Sawhney, novelist Sara a dramatic increase in global sales Collins, fiction editor of 'The and a career transformed Guardian' newspaper Justine Jordan and Chinese American writer and professor Yiyun Li.

The female-dominated shortlist this year included American author Rachel Kushner for the spy thriller 'Creation Lake', Canadian Anne Michaels for her familial tale 'Held', Australian Charlotte Wood for her philosophical 'Stone Yard Devotional' and Yael van der Wouden, the first Dutch author to be shortlisted, for her debut novel 'The Safekeep'. American writer Percival Everett was the only male among this year's finalists announced in London this week for his Mark Twain ode 'James'. Each of the shortlisted authors will receive GBP 2,500 and a bespoke bound edition of their book.

As the winner, Harvey can expect instant international recognition, and a career transformed overnight. The Booker Prize 2023 was won by Paul Lynch with 'Prophet Song', which saw a 1,500 per cent increase in sales in the week after its win. In the year since, sales of the English-language edition of his book have increased by more than half a million copies, with sales across all formats now totalling more than 560,000 world-

The Booker Prize trophy, presented to Harvey, was originally designed by children's author and illustrator Jan Pienkowski in 1969 and was reinstated in 2022. A lifesized replica of the trophy named Iris, after Booker winner Iris Murdoch, was displayed for the first time at the Booker Prize 2024 ceremony and will be moved to Waterstones bookstore at Piccadilly in central London.

Stage set for parliamentary polls in Sri Lanka today

Sri Lanka is set to hold on Thursday its snap parliamentary election - first after the 2022 economic crisis – amid deployment of nearly 90,000 security personnel across the country.

Voting will take place at over 13,314 polling stations across the country, from 7 am to 4 pm local time with over 17 million voters from the island's 21 million population eligible to vote for the 225 member parliament for a five-year term.

Nearly 90,000 security personnel from the police and the military would be deployed to provide security at the election venues. There will also be mobile police patrols, police spokesman Niĥal Thalduwa

Director General of the Elections Commission Saman Sri Ratnayaka on Tuesday said that all ballot boxes and other equipment needed at the polling stations would be dispatched on Wednesday.

on Wednesday," Ratnayaka said. Thursday's vote would be the first major test of the popularity of the ruling party, National People's Power, led by President Anura Kumara Dissanayake. Having failed to secure 50 per cent of the vote at the September 21 presidential election, Dissanayake is pleading for a stronger parliament with well over a simple majority of 113 seats in order to implement his anti-corruption accountability reformist programme.

This will be the first parliamentary election since Sri Lanka plunged into an economic crisis when the island nation declared sovereign default in mid-April of 2022, its first since gaining independence from Britain in 1948. Almost civilwar-like conditions and months of public protests led to the fleeing of the then president Gotabaya Rajapaksa.

Since assuming office, Dissanayake has stayed on course with his predecessor Wickremesinghe's

Olaf Scholz to seek trust vote in Dec

erman Chancellor Olaf Scholz has announced that he will Gask for a vote of confidence on December 16, paving the way forward for an early parliamentary election in February.

Scholz declared his plans for a vote of confidence during a speech in parliament on Wednesday, one week after his three-party coalition government collapsed.

He had initially wanted to have an early election only by late March — before the vote that is regularly scheduled for September 2025. However, the centre-right Christian opposition pushed for a quicker vote in the parliament to speed up the next election. In the end, party leaders across the political spectrum agreed on Wednesday on the two dates for the vote of confidence and the new election.

The developments come after the collapse of Scholz's three-party coalition last week, at a time when the leaders of Europe's biggest economy have been grappling with ways to revive Germany's anemic economic growth. Experts predict the economy will shrink or at best stagnate this year, due to external shocks and homegrown problems including red tape and a shortage of skilled labour.

Scholz had previously announced that he would seek a vote of confidence on January 15 that could lead to an election as soon as March. The vote had otherwise been due next September.

senior police officer Awarned Tuesday of calls for more rioting in Amsterdam, after dozens of people armed with sticks and firecrackers set a tram on fire Monday night and the city faces tensions following violence last week targeting fans of an Israeli soccer club.

Olivier Dutilh, of the Amsterdam police force, told a court hearing that "we have signals that there are calls for similar" unrest in the west of the city. Streets in the area were relatively calm as evening fell, and the security presence was lowprofile. The Amsterdam mayor, chief of police and top public prosecutor published a report Monday

week, including new details about actions by Maccabi Tel Aviv fans ahead of the Maccabi Tel Aviv-Ajax soccer match. Local authorities had decided against banning the game, but beefed up security. Pro-Palestinian demonstrators were banned by local authorities from gathering outside the stadium. The day before the game, authorities reported incidents and saw social media posts threatening Maccabi fans. Around midnight, Israeli fans ripped a Palestinian flag off a downtown building and several of them took off their belts and attacked a cab, the document said. Cab drivers sought to mobilize online in response, and centered on a casino where some 400 Israeli fans were gathered. Police mobilized to avoid a major confrontation. The morning of the game, authorities were "specifically worried about the Maccabi fans and the reaction of cab drivers," the document said Amsterdam Mayor Femke Halsema pleaded with the Israeli ambassador for officials in Israel to make clear "that this is about a sporting event and should not be mixed with pol-
