HCL Technologies Announces Strategic Partnership with The Mosaic Company for Digital Transformation

HCL Technologies to deliver process-led IT modernization services to Mosaic's global businesses

NOIDA, INDIA — July 9, 2021 – HCL Technologies (HCL), a leading global technology company, today announced a five-year, global agreement to provide digital transformation and managed services to The Mosaic Company, a Fortune 500 company and the largest U.S. producer of phosphate and potash. As part of the agreement, HCL will manage and transform Mosaic's global application and infrastructure environments to enhance the company's agility and ability to drive growth in the marketplace.

As part of this endeavor, HCL will deploy a scaled Agile/DevSecOps delivery model across North America and South America to deliver process-led transformative services across applications, infrastructure and business analytics environments.

This partnership with Mosaic capitalizes on our strong focus on the agriculture business, mining and chemical segments. In addition, Mosaic will benefit from our presence in the Latin American market where the company will be able to execute on go-to-market models for different segments, including B2B and B2C firms.

"Our partnership with HCL will allow Mosaic to create a stronger digital and analytics foundation to accelerate the ROI for key enterprise transformation priorities through innovation, insights, speed, and scale," Jeff Wysocki, CIO for The Mosaic Company, said.

"We recognize the strong focus of our customers to move to a more product-centric, stream-driven delivery model, which is an exceptional area of strength for us," Ajay Bahl, Executive Vice President for HCL America, said. "We're thrilled to help Mosaic scale its global capabilities with our transformative services." As a partner and key enabler, Mosaic will rely on HCL Technologies to use its services to drive its strategic priorities, including functional collaboration and efficiency.
