Choppers under Udan likely to use airports

The ministry was earlier looking to launch helicopter services by the end of this month. Recently, minister of state of civil aviation Jayant Sinha said there are not many well-capitalised companies in the country. "The challenge right now with helicopters is that we don't have sufficient well-capitalised companies that can really take a long-term view on helicopters and build out a helicopter business in India," Sinha said at the CAPA India Aviation Summit 2019 last week.

The chopper services were introduced under the subsidised air travel scheme under round II of Udan to push tourism in hilly areas and connect places where airports are unfeasible.

Pawan Hans, in which the government holds 51% stake, bagged 46 routes under competitive bidding. Skyone Airways, Heritage Aviation and Heligo Charters are other operators of helicopter services.

Chanda Kochhar appears before ED in Mumbai

Officials said the investigating officer of the case will record their statements under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA).

The ED on Friday conducted searches at the premises of Chanda Kochhar, former chairman ICICI Bank, and Venugopal Dhoot of Videocon Group in Mumbai and Aurangabad, respectively. A total of five premises were covered, officials said. The two were grilled by the agency officials on Friday too.

The ED has registered a criminal case under the PMLA early this year against Chanda Kochhar, Deepak Kochhar, Dhoot and others to probe alleged irregularities and corrupt practices in sanctioning of ₹1,875-crore loans by ICICI Bank to the corporate group.

TV not reporting agenda but setting it: FM

"The conventional role of the media was to report and present views on the editorial page, but (now) we will not report the country's agenda but set it," he added.

He said since this journey began one has to search with a remote for news while the agenda is everywhere.

He highlighted the power of radio, its impact as a source of both news and entertainment, its huge geographical reach and as a jotted learning language. Aideley said Prime Minister Modi started using the medium of radio for governmental communication in order to establish direct communication with people by identifying its wide reach.

Central Bank puts NPAs on the block

If it fails to do so, it would call for records and pass an order. The appellate tribunal further listed the matter for March 13.

It is fairly well-known that delays in resolution owing to excessive litigation, among other factors, have prompted bankers to go for quick cash-based recoveries, sometimes even at a haircut compared to the expected recovery in event of a successful resolution under the IBC.

Central Bank of India has also listed Bombay Rayon Fashions Limited for sale at a reserve price of ₹33.78 crore. The state-run lender has set a reserve price of ₹415 crore for Essar Steel India, ₹709.50 crore for Bhushan Power & Steel and ₹197.63 crore for Alok Industries.

The bank announced the auction for all of the above accounts through "Swiss challenge method" under Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act (SARFAESI Act), 2002, "without recourse basis based on an existing offer of firm bid in hand from an investor who will have the right to match the highest bid".

The cut-off for submission of expressions of interest for all four accounts is March 5, while the e-bidding process has been scheduled for March 20.

Huawei said to plan billions in dividends for staff despite row with US

REUTERS Hong Kong, March 2

CHINA'S HUAWEI IS set to reward employee shareholders with a 3% rise in cash dividends that are worth billions of dollars, according to company sources and Reuters calculations — a move expected to boost morale as it battles a US-led drive against its telecom gear.

The payout also appears to indicate profit growth as well as confidence the company can survive US accusations that its telecom network equipment may enable espionage by the Chinese government, analysts said.

Known for its so-called "wolf culture" that demands high levels of dedication from employees in return for high pay, Huawei Technologies boasts that some 80,000 of its workers own nearly all of the company's shares — a scheme viewed as unique for a firm of its size.

The cash dividend per share for 2018 is expected to rise to 1.05 yuan per share from 1.02 yuan, six employee-shareholder sources told Reuters, citing internal notices handed down over the past month.

Total returns per share dropped 7% to 2.61 yuan, they added. That follows a stock split. There will also be a 1 to 1.56 stock split for 2018, the sources said. "I am satisfied with the number given the macro environment," said one of sources. Like the other employee shareholders, the source was not authorised to speak to the media and asked not to be identified.

A spokesman for Huawei, the world's largest telecommunications equipment maker and No. 2 manufacturer of smartphones, said the company does not publicly disclose its dividend policy.

The payout comes amid an unprecedented crisis for Huawei as Washington calls on governments around the world to stop using its gear, particularly in 5G networks.

The United States has also charged Huawei with bank fraud related to sanctions against Iran and is seeking to extradite Meng Wanzhou, its CFO and the daughter of founder Ren Zhengfei, from Canada on related charges. Canada on Friday authorised an extradition hearing.

Huawei has repeatedly denied its equipment represents a security risk and Meng has said she is innocent of the allegations made against her.

Unlisted Huawei discloses very little about its employee shareholder scheme beyond the number of participants and the 1.14% holding of founder Ren.

But the state-owned Securities Times in February 2018 reported a figure for outstanding shares and a stock split, citing a Huawei internal memo. That implies 20.3 billion shares currently outstanding, which would translate to a cash dividend of 21.3 billion yuan ($3.2 billion).

"The dividend shows business fundamentals are good," said Zhou Zhanguo, an independent Huawei analyst, adding that profits for its smartphone business are likely to come in ahead of expectations.

Analysts said the calculations of total dividend payouts seemed accurate based on available information.

Huawei said in December it expects 2018 revenue to rise 21% to 1.09 billion, its fastest pace in two years. The company, which made a net profit of 47.5 billion yuan in 2017, is due to announce figures for last year in late March.

According to the Securities Times report, its total dividend payout for 2017 was 16.8 billion yuan, equivalent to 35% of net profit.
