● COVID UPDATE: 21 CASES REPORTED IN 3 STATES

All samples detected new variant JN.1: Genome lab

ANONNA DUTT
NEW DELHI, DECEMBER 20

ALL THE SARS-CoV-2 samples sequenced over the past two weeks have been found to be that of the newly designated variant of interest (JN.1), according to data uploaded Wednesday by India's Covid-19 genome sequencing consortium INSACOG.

This data, however, does not give an accurate picture of the variants that are in circulation in India as laboratories from most states stopped sending in genome sequences from June-July.

In May this year, the World Health Organization (WHO) announced that Covid-19 was no longer a public health emergency, but urged all countries to keep up surveillance to monitor changing trends in infections.

On Tuesday, WHO designated JN.1 as "a variant of interest", but underlined that the additional global public health risk posed by the new variant is currently evaluated as low – implying that the existing therapies and vaccine will continue to provide protection against severe Covid-19 infection.

Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya on Wednesday urged the states and UTs to ramp up testing and refer a large number of samples of Covid positive cases and pneumonia-like illness to INSACOG on a daily basis for sequencing.

The reiteration came at a review meeting with the states, where Mandaviya also suggested that mock drill at hospitals be conducted every three months to ensure they are prepared in case of a surge. The states have been continuously asked to undertake genome sequencing as it is an important tool for surveillance, which ensures an early warning for any increase in cases. It also helps keep track of the variants in circulation, and whether the variant in circulation leads to any changes in symptoms, hospitalisation patterns.

terms, or failure of testing kits and therapies.

The past two weeks' INSACOG data indicates that the new JN.1 variant could likely become the dominant one in circulation in the coming weeks in India, seen in countries such as the USA and Singapore.

According to the official data, 21 cases of JN.1 have been detected here so far – 19 from Goa, one from Kerala and one from an area near the Goa-Maharashtra border. There has been no clustering of cases, according to the Union Health Ministry.

Despite the importance of genome sequencing, INSACOG laboratories from states such as Andhra Pradesh, Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Assam and Meghalaya stopped sending in samples in June and July, according to data analysed by The Indian Express and officials in the know.

The single laboratories in Punjab and Chennai stopped sending samples in April and March, respectively. The laboratory in Bihar stopped sending samples last October.

Not all states have a laboratory and some of the bigger laboratories also process samples from neighbouring states.

From states where the JN.1 variant was detected, the samples were submitted in the past two months. The last batch of sequences from the Goa laboratory came on December 7, from one of laboratories in Maharashtra on November 5.

Even in Kerala, which is known for its public health measures, surveillance of Covid-19 has not been up to the mark.

WHO tags 'variant of interest'

WITH CASES OF THE Covid-19 sub-variant JN.1 on the rise across several countries, the World Health Organization (WHO) on Tuesday designated it as 'variant of interest' separate from its ancestor BA.2.8 that is commonly referred to as Pirola.

"Due to its rapidly increasing spread, WHO is classifying the variant JN.1 as a separate variant of interest (VOI) from the parent lineage BA.2.8," said a statement from the inter-governmental body. It was previously considered to be a VOI as part of Pirola sub-lineages.

Robin Minz: 'Ranchi's Gayle', breaks into IPL after guidance from Dhoni

PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi, December 20

IT WAS JUST another Tuesday for 48-year-old retired Army man Francis Xavier Minz. Working as a security guard, employed by a firm, at Ranchi airport, he was helping passengers with their boarding passes when Gujarat Titans signed his 21-year-old son Robin for Rs 3.60 crore after an intense bidding war with Mumbai Indians.

"A CISF jawan came to me, hugged me saying, 'Arrey Francis, aapko nahi karo gaye' [You have become a millionaire]," Francis tells The Indian Express.

The Minz family has roots in Teliganj, a village in the tribal belt in Gumla district. Cricket is not the biggest sport in the region that has produced several world-class hockey players. The Lakra siblings Bimal, Bindra and Arunata are from Gumla. Francis, too, was into sports, and it was his love for athletics that got him into the army.

After joining the armed forces, the family moved to Ranchi. It was here that Robin picked up cricket and like most kids in the 2000s, aspired to be like the city's cult hero M S Dhoni.

Chanchal Bhattacharya, Robin's childhood coach, would take Robin under his wings. The young boy would pick up wicket-keeping and was also soon hitting the ball out of the ground. "When Mahi made his India debut, there was only one cricket academy in Ranchi. Now there are 15. I am not exaggerating in saying that in Ranchi, wicket-keeping gloves are more in demand than young cricketers like to have long hair," says Chanchal.

Minz, 21, with his parents. He was picked for Rs 3.60 crore

Robin trains at Sonnet Cricket Club in Ranchi under three coaches. Asif Haque, who works on his batting, and compatriots him to West Indian powerhouse Chris Gayle.

"We call him Ranchi ka Gayle. He is left-handed, well built, and hits big sixes. A new-age cricketer, who loves to take on the bowlers from ball one, believes in batting at a strike rate of 120%," says Asif.

"I and S P Gautam (former Bihar cricketer) work on his batting and try to convince him to play shots along the ground, but that's a difficult task. But as Chanchal da says, he reminds him of young Mahi, because he can bat anywhere from No 3 to No 11 if a floater."

Chanchal agrees and offers his argument: "Cricketers in Ranchi relate to the Mahi of old, who had the long hair, those big sixes."

Like Robin, there was another wicketkeeper-batsman from Jharkhand, Kumar Kushal.

gra, 19, who was picked by Delhi Capitals for Rs 7.20 crore at Tuesday's auction. A couple of years ago, Mumbai Indians had signed Ishan Kishan, another wicketkeeper-batsman who honed his skills in Ranchi, for Rs 15.25 crore.

"After Dhoni, we have seen Ishan coming for India. This auction, Kishan and Robin have made it. All of them are wicketkeepers and dashes with the bat," says Chanchal.

However, both coaches — Chanchal and Asif — want Robin to remember what Dhoni told him during a camp at the ISCA Stadium in Ranchi. "Archie kehlo ho, nik le kheho [You are a good player, but spend time at the crease]. Don't throw your wicket, try and take a single after hitting a six; don't try and hit sixes in one over," Asif recalls the conversation.

"He is a bit like young Mahi. He is fearless and loves to attack all the bowlers. He is more worried about how far he has hit a six than how much time he has spent at the crease. He has got his discipline from his father since he has been raised like this," says Chanchal.

At Ranchi airport, Minz Sr has become an instant celebrity but stays grounded. "I will be here when he will fly to play in the IPL. I have a job and two daughters who are studying, and I want Robin to complete his graduation too," says Francis.

Anti-cold drug combination for kids under 4 banned

KANJYIK GHOSH
Mumbai, Dec 20

INDIA'S DRUGS REGULATOR

has banned the use of an anti-cold drug combination in children aged below four and ordered that drugs should be labelled accordingly, in the wake of the deaths of at least 141 children globally linked to cough syrup.

The regulator said concerns raised about promotion of an unapproved anti-cold drug formulation in infants prompted a discussion and a resulting recommendation to not use the combination for that age group.

The order comes as India sees a spate of child deaths since 2019 that authorities linked to toxic cough syrups made in the country, including at least 141 deaths in Cambodia, Uzbekistan and Georgia since the middle of last year.

With India, authorities said at least 12 children died and four others were left with severe disabilities in 2019 after consuming domestically-made cough syrups.

The deaths have cast a shadow over the quality of exports from India, often dubbed the 'world's pharyngeal' due to its supply of life-saving drugs at low prices.

The order by the regulator, the fixed-dose combination (FDC), issued on Dec. 18 and made public on Wednesday, requires drugmakers to label their products with the warning that the FDC "should not be used in children below 4 years of age".

The fixed drug combination comprises chlorphenamine maleate and phenylephrine hydrochloride.

ramine maleate and phenylephrine hydrochloride - medication that is often used in syrups or tablets to treat common cold symptoms.

The World Health Organization said it did not recommend the use of over-the-counter cough syrups or medicines for the treatment of coughs and cold symptoms in children younger than five years of age.

India has introduced mandatory testing for cough syrup exports since June and stepped up scrutiny of drugmakers.
