Google rolls out AI model Gemini

NANDAGOPAL RAJAN
New Delhi, December 6

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model— Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and seamlessly understand, operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

MULTIMODAL & STATE OF THE ART

■ To be optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro and Nano

■ Gemini Ultra to be the largest and most capable

SUNDAR PICHAI, CEO, GOOGLE

THIS NEW ERA OF MODELS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING EFFORTS...

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

From December 13, developers and enterprise customers will be able to access Gemini Pro via the Gemini API in Google AI Studio or Google Cloud Vertex AI. Android developers will also be able to build with Gemini Nano via AI Core, a new system capability available in Android 14, starting on Pixel 8 Pro devices. Since Gemini Ultra is still completing trust and safety checks, it will be available to select customers, developers, partners and safety and responsibility experts for early experimentation and feedback before it is rolled out to developers and enterprise customers early next year.

Meanwhile, Bard will get a "specifically tuned version of Gemini Pro in English for more advanced reasoning, planning, understanding and more" from today. Early next year, Google will introduce Bard Advanced, which gives users first access to our most advanced models and capabilities — starting with Gemini Ultra.

Asked if Gemini has been able to overcome issues with hallucinations that have been plaguing AI (artificial intelligence) models since their launch, Eli Collins, vice-president, product, Google DeepMind, told indianexpress.com: "We have done a lot of work on improving factuality in Gemini, so we've improved performance with regards to question answering and quality, but the LLM is still capable of hallucinating. When we integrate these models with products like Bard, we have additional techniques to improve the accuracy of responses."

Google claims Gemini Ultra's performance "exceeds current state-of-the-art results on 30 of the 32 widely-used academic benchmarks" used in large language model research and development. With a score of 90.0%, Gemini Ultra is the first model to outperform human experts on massive multitask language understanding, which uses a combination of 57 subjects.

PoK-born cricketer with three sons in England's fast lane

PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi, December 6

LAST DECEMBER, Naem Ahmed saw his son Rehan become the youngest player to make an England Test debut. At 18 years and 128 days, Rehan received the cap from former skipper Nasser Hussain in Karachi, and his father was in the England huddle to witness the memorable occasion.

A year later, Naem, who hails from Mirpur in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, may have another reason to celebrate as his youngest son Farhan, 15, is expected to be named in the England Under-19 World Cup squad. "As a father, I am over the moon," Naem tells The Indian Express from Antigua.

Naem has got used to travelling around the world to watch his sons' exploits first-hand. He spent a month in India when Farhan was playing a quadrangular series for England U-19 in Vijayawada. "I have become a globe-trotter because of them. Last month, I was in Vijayawada, watching Farhan play for England U-19. A week later, I am in the Caribbean, watching Rehan playing for England. The cricketer in me is satisfied, the father in me is happy but the coach and mentor wants them to double their hard work," says Naem.

Farhan picked up five wickets in four outings in the Quadrangular series. "He is a modern-day off-spinner. He keeps it tight. He is only 15 now, so it's hard to say what's in the future, but I think he will only get better. I have told him to enjoy it, it was the same thing I told Rehan when he made his international debut. At this age, he should play without any pressure," the proud father adds.

Naem, a budding cricketer in his late teens, moved to Nottingham from Pakistan in 2001 with his newlywed wife Musrat Hussain in search of a better life. He drove a taxi to make ends meet, and his sole aim was to give their three sons — Raheem, Rehan and Farhan — a better life. "I wanted to be a fast bowling all-rounder. I played till club level before moving to England, but never pushed my sons to play cricket. Raheem and Rehan are in the same age group. Our home became a little playground. I am a cricket tragic and would also join them sometimes," laughs Naem.

Despite having two England players in the family, Naem feels his firstborn, Raheem, is the most talented and could have played for England U-19 in the World Cup with Rehan if not for a stress fracture. "I can't compare my three sons but I feel Naem was really good: a left-arm quick, a useful batsman down the order. He suffered a stress fracture at the age of 16, which kind of derailed his progress. Otherwise, I am sure, he would have played the U-19 World Cup in 2022. But he is making his comeback, and is now in the Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. I am sure you will hear his name in the future as well," Naem says. "Raheem is a left-arm pacer but loves Shoaib Akhtar. He has a bit of Shoaib in him as well."

Looking back, he considers Rehan receiving his Test cap from Hussain in Karachi last year "an emotional moment". "Rehan was always on the radar of the England selectors. He had been lauded by his idol Shane Warne, but at that moment in Karachi, I felt everything froze." "In his first spell, he got a taste of international cricket. He gave away 37 runs in five overs and had to wait for 17 overs for his first Test wicket, Saud Shaqueel. In the second innings, he bagged a fiver and ran through Pakistan's middle order, including Babar Azam," says Naem.

Rehan had attracted attention at just 11, when he dismissed Ben Stokes and Alastair Cook in the England nets. Later, he received high praise from Warne when the legend saw him bowling in the nets at Lord's.

"That's a awesome man, really really good, I'm going to keep a close eye on you. I think we're going to be commenting on you really soon. I think you'll be playing first-class cricket by the age of 15," Warne had said.

In 2016, Rehan was bowling at the Nottinghamshire nets when former Pakistan leg-spinner Mushtaq Ahmed, who was strolling by, stopped to watch him bowl.

Naem says Warne's words still echo in his ears. "The way he spoke to Rehan and told him that he would be keeping an eye on him made me think that if Shane Warne thinks this, there is something special in Rehan," he says. Rehan was the pick of England's bowlers during their defeat to the West Indies in the first ODI, claiming 2 for 40 in his 10 overs. Ahmed is known for his googlies and leg-breaks, which spin sharply both ways.

12 BJP MPs elected to state assemblies quit Parliament

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 6

UNION MINISTERS Narendra Singh Tomar and Prahlad Singh Patel resigned from the Lok Sabha on Wednesday as the BJP decided that all of its 12 MPs recently elected to state assemblies will quit Parliament, amid strong indications that they may join the new governments

in Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan.

The move has given rise to the view that the party leadership may bring in new faces at the helm in all the three states. Senior leaders, however, declined to comment on such a development.

BJP president JP Nadda accompanied 10 of them as they tendered their resigna-

tions from Parliament. Two others, Union minister Renuka Singh and Mahant Balaknath, will also be quitting, party leaders said.

Other MPs who quit are Rakesh Singh, Uday Pratap Singh and Riti Pathak from Madhya Pradesh; Kirodi Lal Meena, Diya Kumari and Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore from Rajasthan and Gomati Sai

and Arun Sao from Chhattisgarh. All except Meena are Lok Sabha members. Meena is a Rajya Sabha member.

Patel said they took Prime Minister Narendra Modi's blessings before tendering their resignations.

All three Union ministers will also be quitting the Modi government as a procedural formality.

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model— Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and seamlessly understand, operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

MULTIMODAL & STATE OF THE ART

■ To be optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro and Nano

■ Gemini Ultra to be the largest and most capable

SUNDAR PICHAI, CEO, GOOGLE

THIS NEW ERA OF MODELS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING EFFORTS...

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

From December 13, developers and enterprise customers will be able to access Gemini Pro via the Gemini API in Google AI Studio or Google Cloud Vertex AI. Android developers will also be able to build with Gemini Nano via AI Core, a new system capability available in Android 14, starting on Pixel 8 Pro devices. Since Gemini Ultra is still completing trust and safety checks, it will be available to select customers, developers, partners and safety and responsibility experts for early experimentation and feedback before it is rolled out to developers and enterprise customers early next year.

Meanwhile, Bard will get a "specifically tuned version of Gemini Pro in English for more advanced reasoning, planning, understanding and more" from today. Early next year, Google will introduce Bard Advanced,

which gives users first access to our most advanced models and capabilities — starting with Gemini Ultra.

Asked if Gemini has been able to overcome issues with hallucinations that have been plaguing AI (artificial intelligence) models since their launch, Eli Collins, vice-president, product, Google DeepMind, told indianexpress.com: "We have done a lot of work on improving factuality in Gemini, so we've improved performance with regards to question answering and quality, but the LLM is still capable of hallucinating. When we integrate these models with products like Bard, we have additional techniques to improve the accuracy of responses."

Google claims Gemini Ultra's performance "exceeds current state-of-the-art results on 30 of the 32 widely-used academic benchmarks" used in large language model research and development. With a score of 90.0%, Gemini Ultra is the first model to outperform human experts on massive multitask language understanding, which uses a combination of 57 subjects.

PoK-born cricketer with three sons in England's fast lane

PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi, December 6

LAST DECEMBER, Naem Ahmed saw his son Rehan become the youngest player to make an England Test debut. At 18 years and 128 days, Rehan received the cap from former skipper Nasser Hussain in Karachi, and his father was in the England huddle to witness the memorable occasion.

A year later, Naem, who hails from Mirpur in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, may have another reason to celebrate as his youngest son Farhan, 15, is expected to be named in the England Under-19 World Cup squad. "As a father, I am over the moon," Naem tells The Indian Express from Antigua.

Naem has got used to travelling around the world to watch his sons' exploits first-hand. He spent a month in India when Farhan was playing a quadrangular series for England U-19 in Vijayawada. "I have become a globe-trotter because of them. Last month, I was in Vijayawada, watching Farhan play for England U-19. A week later, I am in the Caribbean, watching Rehan playing for England. The cricketer in me is satisfied, the father in me is happy but the coach and mentor wants them to double their hard work," says Naem.

Farhan picked up five wickets in four outings in the Quadrangular series. "He is a modern-day off-spinner. He keeps it tight. He is only 15 now, so it's hard to say what's in the future, but I think he will only get better. I have told him to enjoy it, it was the same thing I told Rehan when he made his international debut. At this age, he should play without any pressure," the proud father adds.

Naem, a budding cricketer in his late teens, moved to Nottingham from Pakistan in 2001 with his newlywed wife Musrat Hussain in search of a better life. He drove a taxi to make ends meet, and his sole aim was to give their three sons — Raheem, Rehan and Farhan — a better life. "I wanted to be a fast bowling all-rounder. I played till club level before moving to England, but never pushed my sons to play cricket. Raheem and Rehan are in the same age group. Our home became a little playground. I am a cricket tragic and would also join them sometimes," laughs Naem.

Despite having two England players in the family, Naem feels his firstborn, Raheem, is the most talented and could have played for England U-19 in the World Cup with Rehan if not for a stress fracture. "I can't compare my three sons but I feel Naem was really good: a left-arm quick, a useful batsman down the order. He suffered a stress fracture at the age of 16, which kind of derailed his progress. Otherwise, I am sure, he would have played the U-19 World Cup in 2022. But he is making his comeback, and is now in the Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. I am sure you will hear his name in the future as well," Naem says. "Raheem is a left-arm pacer but loves Shoaib Akhtar. He has a bit of Shoaib in him as well."

Looking back, he considers Rehan receiving his Test cap from Hussain in Karachi last year "an emotional moment". "Rehan was always on the radar of the England selectors. He had been lauded by his idol Shane Warne, but at that moment in

Karachi, I felt everything froze." "In his first spell, he got a taste of international cricket. He gave away 37 runs in five overs and had to wait for 17 overs for his first Test wicket, Saud Shaqueel. In the second innings, he bagged a fiver and ran through Pakistan's middle order, including Babar Azam," says Naem.

Rehan had attracted attention at just 11, when he dismissed Ben Stokes and Alastair Cook in the England nets. Later, he received high praise from Warne when the legend saw him bowling in the nets at Lord's.

"That's a awesome man, really really good, I'm going to keep a close eye on you. I think we're going to be commenting on you really soon. I think you'll be playing first-class cricket by the age of 15," Warne had said.

In 2016, Rehan was bowling at the Nottinghamshire nets when former Pakistan leg-spinner Mushtaq Ahmed, who was strolling by, stopped to watch him bowl.

Naem says Warne's words still echo in his ears. "The way he spoke to Rehan and told him that he would be keeping an eye on him made me think that if Shane Warne thinks this, there is something special in Rehan," he says. Rehan was the pick of England's bowlers during their defeat to the West Indies in the first ODI, claiming 2 for 40 in his 10 overs. Ahmed is known for his googlies and leg-breaks, which spin sharply both ways.

12 BJP MPs elected to state assemblies quit Parliament

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 6

UNION MINISTERS Narendra Singh Tomar and Prahlad Singh Patel resigned from the Lok Sabha on Wednesday as the BJP decided that all of its 12 MPs recently elected to state assemblies will quit Parliament, amid strong indications that they may join the new governments

in Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan.

The move has given rise to the view that the party leadership may bring in new faces at the helm in all the three states. Senior leaders, however, declined to comment on such a development.

BJP president JP Nadda accompanied 10 of them as they tendered their resigna-

tions from Parliament. Two others, Union minister Renuka Singh and Mahant Balaknath, will also be quitting, party leaders said.

Other MPs who quit are Rakesh Singh, Uday Pratap Singh and Riti Pathak from Madhya Pradesh; Kirodi Lal Meena, Diya Kumari and Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore from Rajasthan and Gomati Sai

and Arun Sao from Chhattisgarh. All except Meena are Lok Sabha members. Meena is a Rajya Sabha member.

Patel said they took Prime Minister Narendra Modi's blessings before tendering their resignations.

Google rolls out AI model Gemini

NANDAGOPAL RAJAN
New Delhi, December 6

MULTIMODAL & STATE OF THE ART

- To be optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro and Nano
- Gemini Ultra to be the largest and most capable
- Gemini Pro to be best at scaling across wide range of tasks
- Gemini Nano to manage on-device tasks

SUNDAR PICHAI, CEO, GOOGLE

THIS NEW ERA OF MODELS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING EFFORTS...

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model — Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and seamlessly understand, operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

From December 13, developers and enterprise customers will be able to access Gemini Pro via the Gemini API in Google AI Studio or Google Cloud Vertex AI. Android developers will also be able to build with Gemini Nano via AI Core, a new system capability available in Android 14, starting on Pixel 8 Pro devices. Since Gemini Ultra is still completing trust and safety checks, it will be available to select customers, developers, partners and safety and responsibility experts for early experimentation and feedback before it is rolled out to developers and enterprise customers early next year.

Meanwhile, Bard will get a "specifically tuned version of Gemini Pro in English for more advanced reasoning, planning, understanding and more" from today. Early next year, Google will introduce Bard Advanced,

which gives users first access to our most advanced models and capabilities — starting with Gemini Ultra.

Asked if Gemini has been able to overcome issues with hallucinations that have been plaguing AI (artificial intelligence) models since their launch, Eli Collins, vice-president, product, Google DeepMind, told indianexpress.com: "We have done a lot of work on improving factuality in Gemini, so we've improved performance with regards to question answering and quality, but the LLM is still capable of hallucinating. When we integrate these models with products like Bard, we have additional techniques to improve the accuracy of responses."

Google claims Gemini Ultra's performance "exceeds current state-of-the-art results on 30 of the 32 widely-used academic benchmarks" used in large language model research and development. With a score of 90.0%, Gemini Ultra is the first model to outperform human experts on massive multitask language understanding, which uses a combination of 57 subjects.

PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi, December 6

LAST DECEMBER, Naeem Ahmed saw his son Rehan become the youngest player to make an England Test debut. At 18 years and 128 days, Rehan received the cap from former skipper Nasser Hussain in Karachi, and his father was in the England huddle to witness the memorable occasion.

A year later, Naeem, who hails from Mirpur in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, may have another reason to celebrate as his youngest son Farhan, 15, is expected to be named in the England Under-19 World Cup squad. "As a father, I am over the moon," Naeem tells The Indian Express from Antigua.

Naeem has got used to travelling around the world to watch his sons' exploits first-hand. He spent a month in India when Farhan was playing a quadrangular series for England U-19 in Vijayawada. "I have become a globe-trotter because of them. Last month, I was in Vijayawada, watching Farhan play for England U-19. A week later, I am in the Caribbean, watching Rehan playing for England. The cricketer in me is satisfied, the father in me is happy but the coach and mentor wants them to double their hard work," says Naeem.

Farhan picked up five wickets in four outings in the Quadrangular series. "He is a modern-day off-spinner. He keeps it

tight. He is only 15 now, so it's hard to say what's in the future, but I think he will only get better. I have told him to enjoy it, it was the same thing I told Rehan when he made his international debut. At this age, he should play without any pressure," the proud father adds.

Naeem, a budding cricketer in his late teens, moved to Nottingham from Pakistan in 2001 with his newlywed wife Musrat Hussain in search of a better life. He drove a taxi to make ends meet, and his sole aim was to give their three sons — Raheem, Rehan and Farhan — a better life. "I wanted to be a fast bowling all-rounder. I played till club level before moving to England, but never pushed my sons to play cricket. Raheem and Rehan are in the same age group. Our home became a little playground. I am a cricket tragic and would also join them sometimes," laughs Naeem.

Despite having two England players in the family, Naeem feels his firstborn, Raheem, is the most talented and could have played for England U-19 in the World Cup with Rehan if not for a stress fracture. "I can't compare my three sons but I feel Naeem was really good: a left-arm quick, a useful batsman down the order. He suffered a stress fracture at the age of 16, which kind of derailed his progress. Otherwise, I am sure, he would have played the U-19 World Cup in 2022. But he is making his comeback, and is now in the Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. I am sure you will hear his name in the future as well," Naeem says.

"Raheem is a left-arm pacer but loves Shoaib Akhtar. He has a bit of Shoaib in him as well." Looking back, he considers Rehan receiving his Test cap from Hussain in Karachi last year as "an emotional moment". "Rehan was always on the radar of the England selectors. He had been lauded by his idol Shane Warne, but at that moment in Karachi, I felt everything froze." "In his first spell, he got a taste of international cricket. He gave away 37 runs in five overs and had to wait for 17 overs for his first Test wicket, Saud Shakeel. In the second innings, he bagged a fiver and ran through Pakistan's middle order, including Babar Azam," says Naeem.

Rehan had attracted attention at just 11, when he dismissed Ben Stokes and Alastair Cook in the England nets. Later, he received high praise from Warne when the legend saw him bowling in the nets at Lord's.

"That's awesome man, really really good, I'm going to keep a close eye on you. I think we're going to be commenting on you really soon. I think you'll be playing first-class cricket by the age of 15," Warne had said.

In 2016, Rehan was bowling at the Nottinghamshire nets when former Pakistan leg-spinner Mushtaq Ahmed, who was strolling by, stopped to watch him bowl.

Naeem says Warne's words still echo in his ears. "The way he spoke to Rehan and told him that he would be keeping an eye on him made me think that if Shane Warne thinks this, there is something special in Rehan," he says. Rehan was the pick of England's bowlers during their defeat to the West Indies in the first ODI, claiming 2 for 40 in his 10 overs. Ahmed is known for his googlies and leg-breaks, which spin sharply both ways.

12 BJP MPs elected to state assemblies quit Parliament

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 6

UNION MINISTERS Narendra Singh Tomar and Prahlad Singh Patel resigned from the Lok Sabha on Wednesday as the BJP decided that all of its 12 MPs recently elected to state assemblies will quit Parliament, amid strong indications that they may join the new governments

in Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan.

The move has given rise to the view that the party leadership may bring in new faces at the helm in all the three states. Senior leaders, however, declined to comment on such a development.

BJP president JP Nadda accompanied 10 of them as they tendered their resigna-

tions from Parliament. Two others, Union minister Renuka Singh and Mahant Balaknath, will also be quitting, party leaders said.

Other MPs who quit are Rakesh Singh, Uday Pratap Singh and Riti Pathak from Madhya Pradesh; Kirodi Lal Meena, Diya Kumari and Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore from Rajasthan and Gomati Sai and Arun Sax from Chhattisgarh. All except Meena are Lok Sabha members. Meena is a Rajya Sabha member.

Patel said they took Prime Minister Narendra Modi's blessings before tendering their resignations.

All three Union ministers will also be quitting the Modi government as a procedural formality.

Google rolls out AI model Gemini

NANDAGOPAL RAJAN New Delhi, December 6

MULTIMODAL & STATE OF THE ART

- To be optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro and Nano
Gemini Ultra to be the largest and most capable
Gemini Pro to be best at scaling across wide range of tasks
Gemini Nano to manage on-device tasks

SUNDAR PICHAI, CEO, GOOGLE

THIS NEW ERA OF MODELS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING EFFORTS...

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model — Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and seamlessly understand, operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

From December 13, developers and enterprise customers will be able to access Gemini Pro via the Gemini API in Google AI Studio or Google Cloud Vertex AI. Android developers will also be able to build with Gemini Nano via AI Core, a new system capability available in Android 14, starting on Pixel 8 Pro devices. Since Gemini Ultra is still completing trust and safety checks, it will be available to select customers, developers, partners and safety and responsibility experts for early experimentation and feedback before it is rolled out to developers and enterprise customers early next year.

Meanwhile, Bard will get a "specifically tuned version of Gemini Pro in English for more advanced reasoning, planning, understanding and more" from today. Early next year, Google will introduce Bard Advanced,

which gives users first access to our most advanced models and capabilities — starting with Gemini Ultra.

Asked if Gemini has been able to overcome issues with hallucinations that have been plaguing AI (artificial intelligence) models since their launch, Eli Collins, vice-president, product, Google DeepMind, told indianexpress.com: "We have done a lot of work on improving factuality in Gemini, so we've improved performance with regards to question answering and quality, but the LLM is still capable of hallucinating. When we integrate these models with products like Bard, we have additional techniques to improve the accuracy of responses."

Google claims Gemini Ultra's performance "exceeds current state-of-the-art results on 30 of the 32 widely-used academic benchmarks" used in large language model research and development. With a score of 90.0%, Gemini Ultra is the first model to outperform human experts on massive multitask language understanding, which uses a combination of 57 subjects.

PRATYUSH RAJ New Delhi, December 6

LAST DECEMBER, Naeem Ahmed saw his son Rehan become the youngest player to make an England Test debut. At 18 years and 128 days, Rehan received the cap from former skipper Nasser Hussain in Karachi, and his father was in the England huddle to witness the memorable occasion.

A year later, Naeem, who hails from Mirpur in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, may have another reason to celebrate as his youngest son Farhan, 15, is expected to be named in the England Under-19 World Cup squad. "As a father, I am over the moon," Naeem tells The Indian Express from Antigua.

Naeem has got used to travelling around the world to watch his sons' exploits first-hand. He spent a month in India when Farhan was playing a quadrangular series for England U-19 in Vijayawada. "I have become a globe-trotter because of them. Last month, I was in Vijayawada, watching Farhan play for England U-19. A week later, I am in the Caribbean, watching Rehan playing for England. The cricketer in me is satisfied, the father in me is happy but the coach and mentor wants them to double their hard work," says Naeem.

Farhan picked up five wickets in four outings in the Quadrangular series. "He is a modern-day off-spinner. He keeps it tight. He is only 15 now, so it's hard to say what's in the future, but I think he will only get better. I have told him to enjoy it, it was the same thing I told Rehan when he made his international debut. At this age, he should play without any pressure," the proud father adds.

Naeem, a budding cricketer in his late teens, moved to Nottingham from Pakistan in 2001 with his newlywed wife Musrat Hussain in search of a better life. He drove a taxi to make ends meet, and his sole aim was to give their three sons — Raheem, Rehan and Farhan — a better life. "I wanted to be a fast bowling all-rounder. I played till club level before moving to England, but never pushed my sons to play cricket. Raheem and Rehan are in the same age group. Our home became a little playground. I am a cricket tragic and would also join them sometimes," laughs Naeem.

Despite having two England players in the family, Naeem feels his firstborn, Raheem, is the most talented and could have played for England U-19 in the World Cup with Rehan if not for a stress fracture. "I can't compare my three sons but I feel Naeem was really good: a left-arm quick, a useful batsman down the order. He suffered a stress fracture at the age of 16, which kind of derailed his progress. Otherwise, I am sure, he would have played the U-19 World Cup in 2022. But he is making his comeback, and is now in the Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. I am sure you will hear his name in the future as well," Naeem says.

"Raheem is a left-arm pacer but loves Shoaib Akhtar. He has a bit of Shoaib in him as well." Looking back, he considers Rehan receiving his Test cap from Hussain in Karachi last year as "an emotional moment". "Rehan was always on the radar of the England selectors. He had been lauded by his idol Shane Warne, but at that moment in Karachi, I felt everything froze." "In his first spell, he got a taste of international cricket. He gave away 37 runs in five overs and had to wait for 17 overs for his first Test wicket, Saud Shakeel. In the second innings, he bagged a fiver and ran through Pakistan's middle order, including Babar Azam," says Naeem.

Rehan had attracted attention at just 11, when he dismissed Ben Stokes and Alastair Cook in the England nets. Later, he received high praise from Warne when the legend saw him bowling in the nets at Lord's.

"That's awesome man, really really good, I'm going to keep a close eye on you. I think we're going to be commenting on you really soon. I think you'll be playing first-class cricket by the age of 15," Warne had said.

In 2016, Rehan was bowling at the Nottinghamshire nets when former Pakistan leg-spinner Mushtaq Ahmed, who was strolling by, stopped to watch him bowl.

Naeem says Warne's words still echo in his ears. "The way he spoke to Rehan and told him that he would be keeping an eye on him made me think that if Shane Warne thinks this, there is something special in Rehan," he says. Rehan was the pick of England's bowlers during their defeat to the West Indies in the first ODI, claiming 2 for 40 in his 10 overs. Ahmed is known for his googlies and leg-breaks, which spin sharply both ways.

12 BJP MPs elected to state assemblies quit Parliament

UNION MINISTERS Narendra Singh Tomar and Prahlad Singh Patel resigned from the Lok Sabha on Wednesday as the BJP decided that all of its 12 MPs recently elected to state assemblies will quit Parliament, amid strong indications that they may join the new governments

Google rolls out AI model Gemini

NANDAGOPAL RAJAN
New Delhi, December 6

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model — Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

MULTIMODAL & STATE OF THE ART

- To be optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro and Nano
- Gemini Ultra to be the largest and most capable
- Gemini Pro to be best at scaling across wide range of tasks
- Gemini Nano to manage on-device tasks

SUNDAR PICHAI, CEO, GOOGLE

THIS NEW ERA OF MODELS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING EFFORTS...

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

From December 13, developers and enterprise customers will be able to access Gemini Pro via the Gemini API in Google AI Studio or Google Cloud Vertex AI. Android developers will also be able to build with Gemini Nano via AI Core, a new system capability available in Android 14, starting on Pixel 8 Pro devices. Since Gemini Ultra is still completing trust and safety checks, it will be available to select customers, developers, partners and safety and responsibility experts for early experimentation and feedback before it is rolled out to developers and enterprise customers early next year.

Meanwhile, Bard will get a "specifically tuned version of Gemini Pro in English for more advanced reasoning, planning, understanding and more" from today. Early next year, Google will introduce Bard Advanced,

which gives users first access to our most advanced models and capabilities — starting with Gemini Ultra.

Asked if Gemini has been able to overcome issues with hallucinations that have been plaguing AI (artificial intelligence) models since their launch, Eli Collins, vice-president, product, Google DeepMind, told indianexpress.com: "We have done a lot of work on improving factuality in Gemini, so we've improved performance with regards to question answering and quality, but the LLM is still capable of hallucinating. When we integrate these models with products like Bard, we have additional techniques to improve the accuracy of responses."

Google claims Gemini Ultra's performance "exceeds current state-of-the-art results on 30 of the 32 widely-used academic benchmarks" used in large language model research and development. With a score of 90.0%, Gemini Ultra is the first model to outperform human experts on massive multitask language understanding, which uses a combination of 57 subjects.

PoK-born cab driver with three sons in England's fast lane

PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi, December 6

LAST DECEMBER, Naeem Ahmed saw his son Rehan become the youngest player to make an England Test debut. At 18 years and 128 days, Rehan received the cap from former skipper Nasser Hussain in Karachi, and his father was in the England huddle to witness the memorable occasion.

A year later, Naeem, who hails from Mirpur in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, may have another reason to celebrate as his youngest son Farhan, 15, is expected to be named in the England Under-19 World Cup squad. "As a father, I am over the moon," Naeem tells The Indian Express from Antigua.

Naeem has got used to travelling around the world to watch his sons' exploits first-hand. He spent a month in India when Farhan was playing a quadrangular series for England U-19 in Vijayawada. "I have become a globe-trotter because of them. Last month, I was in Vijayawada, watching Farhan play for England U-19. A week later, I am in the Caribbean, watching Rehan playing for England. The cricketer in me is satisfied, the father in me is happy but the coach and mentor wants them to double their hard work," says Naeem.

Farhan picked up five wickets in four outings in the Quadrangular series. "He is a modern-day off-spinner. He keeps it tight. He is only 15 now, so it's hard to say what's in the future, but I think he will only get better. I have told him to enjoy it, it was the same thing I told Rehan when he made his international debut. At this age, he should play without any pressure," the proud father adds.

Naeem, a budding cricketer in his late teens, moved to Nottingham from Pakistan in 2001 with his newlywed wife Musrat Hussain in search of a better life. He drove a taxi to make ends meet, and his sole aim was to give their three sons — Raheem, Rehan and Farhan — a better life. "I wanted to be a fast bowling all-rounder. I played till club level before moving to England, but never pushed my sons to play cricket. Raheem and Rehan are in the same age group. Our home became a little playground. I am a cricket tragic and would also join them sometimes," laughs Naeem.

Despite having two England players in the family, Naeem feels his firstborn, Raheem, is the most talented and could have played for England U-19 in the World Cup with Rehan if not for a stress fracture. "I can't compare my three sons but I feel Naeem was really good: a left-arm quick, a useful batsman down the order. He suffered a stress fracture at the age of 16, which kind of derailed his progress. Otherwise, I am sure, he would have played the U-19 World Cup in 2022. But he is making his comeback, and is now in the Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. I am sure you will hear his name in the future as well," Naeem says. "Raheem is a left-arm pacer but loves Shoaib Akhtar. He has a bit of Shoaib in him as well."

Looking back, he considers Rehan receiving his Test cap from Hussain in Karachi last year as "an emotional moment". "Rehan was always on the radar of the England selectors. He had been lauded by his idol Shane Warne, but at that moment in

Karachi, I felt everything froze." "In his first spell, he got a taste of international cricket. He gave away 37 runs in five overs and had to wait for 17 overs for his first Test wicket, Saud Shakeel. In the second innings, he bagged a fiver and ran through Pakistan's middle order, including Babar Azam," says Naeem.

Rehan had attracted attention at just 11, when he dismissed Ben Stokes and Alastair Cook in the England nets. Later, he received high praise from Warne when the legend saw him bowling in the nets at Lord's.

"That's a awesome man, really really good, I'm going to keep a close eye on you. I think we're going to be commenting on you really soon. I think you'll be playing first-class cricket by the age of 15," Warne had said.

In 2016, Rehan was bowling at the Nottinghamshire nets when former Pakistan leg-spinner Mushtaq Ahmed, who was strolling by, stopped to watch him bowl.

Naeem says Warne's words still echo in his ears. "The way he spoke to Rehan and told him that he would be keeping an eye on him made me think that if Shane Warne thinks this, there is something special in Rehan," he says. Rehan was the pick of England's bowlers during their defeat to the West Indies in the first ODI, claiming 2 for 40 in his 10 overs. Ahmed is known for his googlies and leg-breaks, which spin sharply both ways.

12 BJP MPs elected to state assemblies quit Parliament

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 6

UNION MINISTERS Narendra Singh Tomar and Prahlad Singh Patel resigned from the Lok Sabha on Wednesday as the BJP decided that all of its 12 MPs recently elected to state assemblies will quit Parliament, amid strong indications that they may join the new governments

in Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan.

The move has given rise to the view that the party leadership may bring in new faces at the helm in all the three states. Senior leaders, however, declined to comment on such a development.

BJP president JP Nadda accompanied 10 of them as they tendered their resigna-

tions from Parliament. Two others, Union minister Renuka Singh and Mahant Balaknath, will also be quitting, party leaders said.

Other MPs who quit are Rakesh Singh, Uday Pratap Singh and Riti Pathak from Madhya Pradesh; Kirodi Lal Meena, Diya Kumari and Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore from Rajasthan and Gomati Sai

and Arun Sao from Chhattisgarh. All except Meena are Lok Sabha members. Meena is a Rajya Sabha member.

Patel said they took Prime Minister Narendra Modi's blessings before tendering their resignations.

Google rolls out AI model Gemini

NANDAGOPAL RAJAN
New Delhi, December 6

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model — Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and seamlessly understand, operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

MULTIMODAL & STATE OF THE ART

- To be optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro and Nano
- Gemini Ultra to be the largest and most capable

SUNDAR PICHAI, CEO, GOOGLE
THIS NEW ERA OF MODELS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING EFFORTS...

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

From December 13, developers and enterprise customers will be able to access Gemini Pro via the Gemini API in Google AI Studio or Google Cloud Vertex AI. Android developers will also be able to build with Gemini Nano via AI Core, a new system capability available in Android 14, starting on Pixel 8 Pro devices. Since Gemini Ultra is still completing trust and safety checks, it will be available to select customers, developers, partners and safety and responsibility experts for early experimentation and feedback before it is rolled out to developers and enterprise customers early next year.

Meanwhile, Bard will get a "specifically tuned version of Gemini Pro in English for more advanced reasoning, planning, understanding and more" from today. Early next year, Google will introduce Bard Advanced,

which gives users first access to our most advanced models and capabilities — starting with Gemini Ultra.

Asked if Gemini has been able to overcome issues with hallucinations that have been plaguing AI (artificial intelligence) models since their launch, Eli Collins, vice-president, product, Google DeepMind, told indianexpress.com: "We have done a lot of work on improving factuality in Gemini, so we've improved performance with regards to question answering and quality, but the LLM is still capable of hallucinating. When we integrate these models with products like Bard, we have additional techniques to improve the accuracy of responses."

Google claims Gemini Ultra's performance "exceeds current state-of-the-art results on 30 of the 32 widely-used academic benchmarks" used in large language model research and development. With a score of 90.0%, Gemini Ultra is the first model to outperform human experts on massive multilingual understanding, which uses a combination of 57 subjects.

PoK-born cab driver with three sons in England's fast lane

PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi, December 6

LAST DECEMBER, Naeem Ahmed saw his son Rehan become the youngest player to make an England Test debut. At 18 years and 128 days, Rehan received the cap from former skipper Nasser Hussain in Karachi, and his father was in the England huddle to witness the memorable occasion.

A year later, Naeem, who hails from Mirpur in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, may have another reason to celebrate as his youngest son Farhan, 15, is expected to be named in the England Under-19 World Cup squad. "As a father, I am over the moon," Naeem tells The Indian Express from Antigua.

Naeem has got used to travelling around the world to watch his sons' exploits first-hand. He spent a month in India when Farhan was playing a quadrangular series for England U-19 in Vijayawada. "I have become a globe-trotter because of them. Last month, I was in Vijayawada, watching Farhan play for England U-19. A week later, I am in the Caribbean, watching Rehan playing for England. The cricketer in me is satisfied, the father in me is happy but the coach and mentor wants them to double their hard work," says Naeem.

Farhan picked up five wickets in four outings in the Quadrangular series. "He is a modern-day off-spinner. He keeps it tight. He is only 15 now, so it's hard to say what's in the future, but I think he will only get better. I have told him to enjoy it, it was the same thing I told Rehan when he made his international debut. At this age, he should play without any pressure," the proud father adds.

Naeem, a budding cricketer in his late teens, moved to Nottingham from Pakistan in 2001 with his newlywed wife Musrat Hussain in search of a better life. He drove a taxi to make ends meet, and his sole aim was to give their three sons — Raheem, Rehan and Farhan — a better life. "I wanted to be a fast bowling all-rounder. I played till club level before moving to England, but never pushed my sons to play cricket. Raheem and Rehan are in the same age group. Our home became a little playground. I am a cricketer and would also join them sometimes," laughs Naeem.

Despite having two England players in the family, Naeem feels his firstborn, Raheem, is the most talented and could have played for England U-19 in the World Cup with Rehan if not for a stress fracture. "I can't compare my three sons but I feel Naeem was really good: a left-arm quick, a useful batsman down the order. He suffered a stress fracture at the age of 16, which kind of derailed his progress. Otherwise, I am sure, he would have played the U-19 World Cup in 2022. But he is making his comeback, and is now in the Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. I am sure you will hear his name in the future as well," Naeem says. "Raheem is a left-arm pacer but loves Shaoh Akhtar. He has a bit of Shaoh in him as well."

Looking back, he considers Rehan receiving his Test cap from Hussain in Karachi last year as "an emotional moment". "Rehan was always on the radar of the England selectors. He had been lauded by his idol Shane Warne, but at that moment in

Karachi, I felt everything froze." "In his first spell, he got a taste of international cricket. He gave away 37 runs in five overs and had to wait for 17 overs for his first Test wicket, Saud Shakeel. In the second innings, he bagged a fiver and ran through Pakistan's middle order, including Babar Azam," says Naeem.

Rehan had attracted attention at just 11, when he dismissed Ben Stokes and Alastair Cook in the England nets. Later, he received high praise from Warne when the legend saw him bowling in the nets at Lord's.

"That's a awesome man, really really good, I'm going to keep a close eye on you. I think you're going to be commenting on you really soon. I think you'll be playing first-class cricket by the age of 15," Warne had said.

In 2016, Rehan was bowling at the Nottinghamshire nets when former Pakistan leg-spinner Mushtaq Ahmed, who was strolling by, stopped to watch him bowl.

Naeem says Warne's words still echo in his ears. "The way he spoke to Rehan and told him that he would be keeping an eye on him made me think that if Shane Warne thinks this, there is something special in Rehan," he says. Rehan was the pick of England's bowlers during their defeat to the West Indies in the first ODI, claiming 2 for 40 in his 10 overs. Ahmed is known for his googlies and leg-breaks, which spin sharply both ways.

12 BJP MPs elected to state assemblies quit Parliament

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 6

UNION MINISTERS Narendra Singh Tomar and Prahlad Singh Patel resigned from the Lok Sabha on Wednesday as the BJP decided that all of its 12 MPs recently elected to state assemblies will quit Parliament, amid strong indications that they may join the new governments

in Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan.

The move has given rise to the view that the party leadership may bring in new faces at the helm in all the three states. Senior leaders, however, declined to comment on such a development.

BJP president JP Nadda accompanied 10 of them as they tendered their resigna-

tions from Parliament. Two others, Union minister Renuka Singh and Mahant Balaknath, will also be quitting, party leaders said.

Other MPs who quit are Rakesh Singh, Uday Pratap Singh and Riti Pathak from Madhya Pradesh; Kirodi Lal Meena, Diya Kumari and Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore from Rajasthan and Gomati Sai

and Arun Sao from Chhattisgarh. All except Meena are Lok Sabha members. Meena is a Rajya Sabha member.

Patel said they took Prime Minister Narendra Modi's blessings before tendering their resignations.

Google rolls out AI model Gemini

NANDAGOPAL RAJAN
New Delhi, December 6

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model — Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

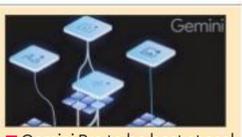

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and seamlessly understand, operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

MULTIMODAL & STATE OF THE ART

■ To be optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro and Nano

■ Gemini Ultra to be the largest and most capable

■ Gemini Pro to be best at scaling across wide range of tasks

■ Gemini Nano to manage on-device tasks

SUNDAR PICHAJ, CEO, GOOGLE

THIS NEW ERA OF MODELS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING EFFORTS...

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

From December 13, developers and enterprise customers will be able to access Gemini Pro via the Gemini API in Google AI Studio or Google Cloud Vertex AI. Android developers will also be able to build with Gemini Nano via AI Core, a new system capability available in Android 14, starting on Pixel 8 Pro devices. Since Gemini Ultra is still completing trust and safety checks, it will be available to select customers, developers, partners and safety and responsibility experts for early experimentation and feedback before it is rolled out to developers and enterprise customers early next year.

Meanwhile, Bard will get a "specifically tuned version of Gemini Pro in English for more advanced reasoning, planning, understanding and more" from today. Early next year, Google will introduce Bard Advanced,

which gives users first access to our most advanced models and capabilities — starting with Gemini Ultra.

Asked if Gemini has been able to overcome issues with hallucinations that have been plaguing AI (artificial intelligence) models since their launch, Eli Collins, vice-president, product, Google DeepMind, told indianexpress.com: "We have done a lot of work on improving factuality in Gemini, so we've improved performance with regards to question answering and quality, but the LLM is still capable of hallucinating. When we integrate these models with products like Bard, we have additional techniques to improve the accuracy of responses."

Google claims Gemini Ultra's performance "exceeds current state-of-the-art results on 30 of the 32 widely-used academic benchmarks" used in large language model research and development. With a score of 90.0%, Gemini Ultra is the first model to outperform human experts on massive multitask language understanding, which uses a combination of 57 subjects.

PoK-born cab driver with three sons in England's fast lane

PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi, December 6

LAST DECEMBER, Naem Ahmed saw his son Rehan become the youngest player to make an England Test debut. At 18 years and 128 days, Rehan received the cap from former skipper Nasser Hussain in Karachi, and his father was in the England huddle to witness the memorable occasion.

A year later, Naem, who hails from Mirpur in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, may have another reason to celebrate as his youngest son Farhan, 15, is expected to be named in the England Under-19 World Cup squad. "As a father, I am over the moon," Naem tells The Indian Express from Antigua.

Naem has got used to travelling around the world to watch his sons' exploits first-hand. He spent a month in India when Farhan was playing a quadrangular series for England U-19 in Vijayawada. "I have become a globe-trotter because of them. Last month, I was in Vijayawada, watching Farhan play for England U-19. A week later, I am in the Caribbean, watching Rehan playing for England. The cricketer in me is satisfied, the father in me is happy, but the coach and mentor wants them to double their hard work," says Naem.

Farhan picked up five wickets in four outings in the Quadrangular series. "He is a modern-day off-spinner. He keeps it tight. He is only 15 now, so it's hard to say what's in the future, but I think he will only get better. I have told him to enjoy it, it was the same thing I told Rehan when he made his international debut. At this age, he should play without any pressure," the proud father adds.

Naem, a budding cricketer in his late teens, moved to Nottingham from Pakistan in 2001 with his newlywed wife Musrat Hussain in search of a better life. He drove a taxi to make ends meet, and his sole aim was to give their three sons — Raheem, Rehan and Farhan — a better life. "I wanted to be a fast bowling all-rounder. I played till club level before moving to England, but never pushed my sons to play cricket. Raheem and Rehan are in the same age group. Our home became a little playground. I am a cricket tragic and would also join them sometimes," laughs Naem.

Despite having two England players in the family, Naem feels his firstborn, Raheem, is the most talented and could have played for England U-19 in the World Cup with Rehan if not for a stress fracture. "I can't compare my three sons but I feel Naem was really good; a left-arm quick, a useful batsman down the order. He suffered a stress fracture at the age of 16, which kind of derailed his progress. Otherwise, I am sure, he would have played the U-19 World Cup in 2022. But he is making his comeback, and is now in the Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. I am sure you will hear his name in the future as well," Naem says. "Raheem is a left-arm pacer but loves Shaib Akhtar. He has a bit of Shoaib in him as well."

Looking back, he considers Rehan receiving his Test cap from Hussain in Karachi last year "an emotional moment". "Rehan was always on the radar of the England selectors. He had been lauded by his idol Shane Warne, but at that moment in Karachi, I felt everything froze." "In his first spell, he got a taste of international cricket. He gave away 37 runs in five overs and had to wait for 17 overs for his first Test wicket, Saud Shakeel. In the second innings, he bagged a fiver and ran through Pakistan's middle order, including Babar Azam," says Naem.

Rehan had attracted attention at just 11, when he dismissed Ben Stokes and Alastair Cook in the England nets. Later, he received high praise from Warne when the legend saw him bowling in the nets at Lord's.

"That's a awesome man, really really good, I'm going to keep a close eye on you. I think we're going to be commenting on you really soon. I think you'll be playing first-class cricket by the age of 15," Warne had said.

In 2016, Rehan was bowling at the Nottinghamshire nets when former Pakistan leg-spinner Mushtaq Ahmed, who was strolling by, stopped to watch him bowl.

Naem says Warne's words still echo in his ears. "The way he spoke to Rehan and told him that he would be keeping an eye on him made me think that if Shane Warne thinks this, there is something special in Rehan," he says. Rehan was the pick of England's bowlers during their defeat to the West Indies in the first ODI, claiming 2 for 40 in his 10 overs. Ahmed is known for his googlies and leg-breaks, which spin sharply both ways.

12 BJP MPs elected to state assemblies quit Parliament

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 6

UNION MINISTERS Narendra Singh Tomar and Prahlad Singh Patel resigned from the Lok Sabha on Wednesday as the BJP decided that all of its 12 MPs recently elected to state assemblies will quit Parliament, amid strong indications that they may join the new governments

in Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan.

The move has given rise to the view that the party leadership may bring in new faces at the helm in all the three states. Senior leaders, however, declined to comment on such a development.

BJP president JP Nadda accompanied 10 of them as they tendered their resigna-

tions from Parliament. Two others, Union minister Renuka Singh and Mahant Balaknath, will also be quitting, party leaders said.

Other MPs who quit are Rakesh Singh, Uday Pratap Singh and Riti Pathak from Madhya Pradesh; Kirodi Lal Meena, Diya Kumari and Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore from Rajasthan and Gomati Sai

and Arun Sao from Chhattisgarh. All except Meena are Lok Sabha members. Meena is a Rajya Sabha member.

Patel said they took Prime Minister Narendra Modi's blessings before tendering their resignations.

All three Union ministers will also be quitting the Modi government as a procedural formality.

Google rolls out AI model Gemini

NANDAGOPAL RAJAN New Delhi, December 6

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model — Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and seamlessly understand, operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

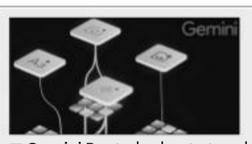

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

From December 13, developers and enterprise customers will be able to access Gemini Pro via the Gemini API in Google AI Studio or Google Cloud Vertex AI. Android developers will also be able to build with Gemini Nano via AI Core, a new system capability available in Android 14, starting on Pixel 8 Pro devices. Since Gemini Ultra is still completing trust and safety checks, it will be available to select customers, developers, partners and safety and responsibility experts for early experimentation and feedback before it is rolled out to developers and enterprise customers early next year.

Meanwhile, Bard will get a "specifically tuned version of Gemini Pro in English for more advanced reasoning, planning, understanding and more" from today. Early next year, Google will introduce Bard Advanced,

which gives users first access to our most advanced models and capabilities — starting with Gemini Ultra.

Asked if Gemini has been able to overcome issues with hallucinations that have been plaguing AI (artificial intelligence) models since their launch, Eli Collins, vice-president, product, Google DeepMind, told indianexpress.com: "We have done a lot of work on improving factuality in Gemini, so we've improved performance with regards to question answering and quality, but the LLM is still capable of hallucinating. When we integrate these models with products like Bard, we have additional techniques to improve the accuracy of responses."

Google claims Gemini Ultra's performance "exceeds current state-of-the-art results on 30 of the 32 widely-used academic benchmarks" used in large language model research and development. With a score of 90.0%, Gemini Ultra is the first model to outperform human experts on massive multitask language understanding, which uses a combination of 57 subjects.

PoK-born cricketer with three sons in England's fast lane

PRATYUSH RAJ New Delhi, December 6

LAST DECEMBER, Naem Ahmed saw his son Rehan become the youngest player to make an England Test debut. At 18 years and 128 days, Rehan received the cap from former skipper Nasser Hussain in Karachi, and his father was in the England huddle to witness the memorable occasion.

A year later, Naem, who hails from Mirpur in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, may have another reason to celebrate as his youngest son Farhan, 15, is expected to be named in the England Under-19 World Cup squad. "As a father, I am over the moon," Naem tells The Indian Express from Antigua.

Naem has got used to travelling around the world to watch his sons' exploits first-hand. He spent a month in India when Farhan was playing a quadrangular series for England U-19 in Vijayawada. "I have become a globe-trotter because of them. Last month, I was in Vijayawada, watching Farhan play for England U-19. A week later, I am in the Caribbean, watching Rehan playing for England. The cricketer in me is satisfied, the father in me is happy but the coach and mentor wants them to double their hard work," says Naem.

Farhan picked up five wickets in four outings in the Quadrangular series. "He is a modern-day off-spinner. He keeps it tight. He is only 15 now, so it's hard to say what's in the future, but I think he will only get better. I have told him to enjoy it, it was the same thing I told Rehan when he made his international debut. At this age, he should play without any pressure," the proud father adds.

Naem, a budding cricketer in his late teens, moved to Nottingham from Pakistan in 2001 with his newlywed wife Musrat Hussain in search of a better life. He drove a taxi to make ends meet, and his sole aim was to give their three sons — Raheem, Rehan and Farhan — a better life. "I wanted to be a fast bowling all-rounder. I played till club level before moving to England, but never pushed my sons to play cricket. Raheem and Rehan are in the same age group. Our home became a little playground. I am a cricket tragic and would also join them sometimes," laughs Naem.

Despite having two England players in the family, Naem feels his firstborn, Raheem, is the most talented and could have played for England U-19 in the World Cup with Rehan if not for a stress fracture. "I can't compare my three sons but I feel Naem was really good: a left-arm quick, a useful batsman down the order. He suffered a stress fracture at the age of 16, which kind of derailed his progress. Otherwise, I am sure, he would have played the U-19 World Cup in 2022. But he is making his comeback, and is now in the Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. I am sure you will hear his name in the future as well," Naem says. "Raheem is a left-arm pacer but loves Shoaib Akhtar. He has a bit of Shoaib in him as well."

Looking back, he considers Rehan receiving his Test cap from Hussain in Karachi last year "an emotional moment". "Rehan was always on the radar of the England selectors. He had been lauded by his idol Shane Warne, but at that moment in Karachi, I felt everything froze." "In his first spell, he got a taste of international cricket. He gave away 37 runs in five overs and had to wait for 17 overs for his first Test wicket, Saud Shaqueel. In the second innings, he bagged a fiver and ran through Pakistan's middle order, including Babar Azam," says Naem.

Rehan had attracted attention at just 11, when he dismissed Ben Stokes and Alastair Cook in the England nets. Later, he received high praise from Warne when the legend saw him bowling in the nets at Lord's.

"That's a awesome man, really really good, I'm going to keep a close eye on you. I think we're going to be commenting on you really soon. I think you'll be playing first-class cricket by the age of 15," Warne had said.

In 2016, Rehan was bowling at the Nottinghamshire nets when former Pakistan leg-spinner Mushtaq Ahmed, who was strolling by, stopped to watch him bowl.

Naem says Warne's words still echo in his ears. "The way he spoke to Rehan and told him that he would be keeping an eye on him made me think that if Shane Warne thinks this, there is something special in Rehan," he says. Rehan was the pick of England's bowlers during their defeat to the West Indies in the first ODI, claiming 2 for 40 in his 10 overs. Ahmed is known for his googlies and leg-breaks, which spin sharply both ways.

MULTIMODAL & STATE OF THE ART

- To be optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro and Nano
- Gemini Ultra to be the largest and most capable
- Gemini Pro to be best at scaling across wide range of tasks
- Gemini Nano to manage on-device tasks

SUNDAR PICHAI, CEO, GOOGLE

THIS NEW ERA OF MODELS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING EFFORTS...

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model — Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and seamlessly understand, operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

Google rolls out AI model Gemini

NANDAGOPAL RAJAN
New Delhi, December 6

GOOGLE'S MOST CAPABLE, flexible and general AI model— Gemini — will be available to users across the world from Wednesday, integrated into Bard as well as the latest Pixel 8 Pro smartphones.

Underlining Gemini's "state-of-the-art performance across many leading benchmarks", Google CEO Sundar Pichai said Gemini 1.0 is optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro, and Nano. "These are the first models of the Gemini era and the first realisation of the vision we had when we formed Google DeepMind earlier this year. This new era of models represents one of the biggest science and engineering efforts we have undertaken as a company," Pichai said in his note.

The result of large-scale collaborative efforts by teams across Google, including at Google Research, Gemini was built to be multimodal and hence can "generalise and seamlessly understand, operate across and combine different types of information, including text, code, audio, image and video". In one of the demos, Google showcased how Gemini can see like a human eye, understand and evaluate in real time, and suggest the next course of action.

While Gemini Ultra will be the largest and most capable model for highly complex tasks, Gemini Pro will be best at scaling across a wide range of tasks, and Gemini Nano will manage on-device tasks. From today, Gemini Nano will be available in Pixel 8 Pro, powering new features like Summarise in the Recorder app and Smart Reply via Gboard, starting with WhatsApp. Gemini will be rolled out to more Google products and services like Search, Ads, Chrome and Duet AI.

MULTIMODAL & STATE OF THE ART

■ To be optimised for different sizes: Ultra, Pro and Nano

■ Gemini Ultra to be the largest and most capable

SUNDAR PICHAI, CEO, GOOGLE

THIS NEW ERA OF MODELS REPRESENTS ONE OF THE BIGGEST SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING EFFORTS...

A note said Google is already starting to experiment with Gemini in Search, "where it's making Search Generative Experience (SGE) faster for users, with a 40% reduction in latency in English in the US, alongside improvements in quality".

From December 13, developers and enterprise customers will be able to access Gemini Pro via the Gemini API in Google AI Studio or Google Cloud Vertex AI. Android developers will also be able to build with Gemini Nano via AI Core, a new system capability available in Android 14, starting on Pixel 8 Pro devices. Since Gemini Ultra is still completing trust and safety checks, it will be available to select customers, developers, partners and safety and responsibility experts for early experimentation and feedback before it is rolled out to developers and enterprise customers early next year.

Meanwhile, Bard will get a "specifically tuned version of Gemini Pro in English for more advanced reasoning, planning, understanding and more" from today. Early next year, Google will introduce Bard Advanced,

which gives users first access to our most advanced models and capabilities — starting with Gemini Ultra.

Asked if Gemini has been able to overcome issues with hallucinations that have been plaguing AI (artificial intelligence) models since their launch, Eli Collins, vice-president, product, Google DeepMind, told indianexpress.com: "We have done a lot of work on improving factuality in Gemini, so we've improved performance with regards to question answering and quality, but the LLM is still capable of hallucinating. When we integrate these models with products like Bard, we have additional techniques to improve the accuracy of responses."

Google claims Gemini Ultra's performance "exceeds current state-of-the-art results on 30 of the 32 widely-used academic benchmarks" used in large language model research and development. With a score of 90.0%, Gemini Ultra is the first model to outperform human experts on massive multitask language understanding, which uses a combination of 57 subjects.

PoK-born cricketer with three sons in England's fast lane

PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi, December 6

LAST DECEMBER, Naem Ahmed saw his son Rehan become the youngest player to make an England Test debut. At 18 years and 128 days, Rehan received the cap from former skipper Nasser Hussain in Karachi, and his father was in the England huddle to witness the memorable occasion.

A year later, Naem, who hails from Mirpur in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, may have another reason to celebrate as his youngest son Farhan, 15, is expected to be named in the England Under-19 World Cup squad. "As a father, I am over the moon," Naem tells The Indian Express from Antigua.

Naem has got used to travelling around the world to watch his sons' exploits first-hand. He spent a month in India when Farhan was playing a quadrangular series for England U-19 in Vijayawada. "I have become a globe-trotter because of them. Last month, I was in Vijayawada, watching Farhan play for England U-19. A week later, I am in the Caribbean, watching Rehan playing for England. The cricketer in me is satisfied, the father in me is happy but the coach and mentor wants them to double their hard work," says Naem.

Farhan picked up five wickets in four outings in the Quadrangular series. "He is a modern-day off-spinner. He keeps it tight. He is only 15 now, so it's hard to say what's in the future, but I think he will only get better. I have told him to enjoy it, it was the same thing I told Rehan when he made his international debut. At this age, he should play without any pressure," the proud father adds.

Naem, a budding cricketer in his late teens, moved to Nottingham from Pakistan in 2001 with his newlywed wife Musrat Hussain in search of a better life. He drove a taxi to make ends meet, and his sole aim was to give their three sons — Raheem, Rehan and Farhan — a better life. "I wanted to be a fast bowling all-rounder. I played till club level before moving to England, but never pushed my sons to play cricket. Raheem and Rehan are in the same age group. Our home became a little playground. I am a cricket tragic and would also join them sometimes," laughs Naem.

Despite having two England players in the family, Naem feels his firstborn, Raheem, is the most talented and could have played for England U-19 in the World Cup with Rehan if not for a stress fracture. "I can't compare my three sons but I feel Naem was really good: a left-arm quick, a useful batsman down the order. He suffered a stress fracture at the age of 16, which kind of derailed his progress. Otherwise, I am sure, he would have played the U-19 World Cup in 2022. But he is making his comeback, and is now in the Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. I am sure you will hear his name in the future as well," Naem says. "Raheem is a left-arm pacer but loves Shoaib Akhtar. He has a bit of Shoaib in him as well."

Looking back, he considers Rehan receiving his Test cap from Hussain in Karachi last year "an emotional moment". "Rehan was always on the radar of the England selectors. He had been lauded by his idol Shane Warne, but at that moment in

Karachi, I felt everything froze." "In his first spell, he got a taste of international cricket. He gave away 37 runs in five overs and had to wait for 17 overs for his first Test wicket, Saud Shaqueel. In the second innings, he bagged a fiver and ran through Pakistan's middle order, including Babar Azam," says Naem.

Rehan had attracted attention at just 11, when he dismissed Ben Stokes and Alastair Cook in the England nets. Later, he received high praise from Warne when the legend saw him bowling in the nets at Lord's.

"That's a awesome man, really really good, I'm going to keep a close eye on you. I think we're going to be commenting on you really soon. I think you'll be playing first-class cricket by the age of 15," Warne had said.

In 2016, Rehan was bowling at the Nottinghamshire nets when former Pakistan leg-spinner Mushtaq Ahmed, who was strolling by, stopped to watch him bowl.

Naem says Warne's words still echo in his ears. "The way he spoke to Rehan and told him that he would be keeping an eye on him made me think that if Shane Warne thinks this, there is something special in Rehan," he says. Rehan was the pick of England's bowlers during their defeat to the West Indies in the first ODI, claiming 2 for 40 in his 10 overs. Ahmed is known for his googlies and leg-breaks, which spin sharply both ways.

12 BJP MPs elected to state assemblies quit Parliament

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 6

UNION MINISTERS Narendra Singh Tomar and Prahlad Singh Patel resigned from the Lok Sabha on Wednesday as the BJP decided that all of its 12 MPs recently elected to state assemblies will quit Parliament, amid strong indications that they may join the new governments

in Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan.

The move has given rise to the view that the party leadership may bring in new faces at the helm in all the three states. Senior leaders, however, declined to comment on such a development.

BJP president JP Nadda accompanied 10 of them as they tendered their resigna-

tions from Parliament. Two others, Union minister Renuka Singh and Mahant Balaknath, will also be quitting, party leaders said.

Other MPs who quit are Rakesh Singh, Uday Pratap Singh and Riti Pathak from Madhya Pradesh; Kirodi Lal Meena, Diya Kumari and Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore from Rajasthan and Gomati Sai

and Arun Sao from Chhattisgarh. All except Meena are Lok Sabha members. Meena is a Rajya Sabha member.

Patel said they took Prime Minister Narendra Modi's blessings before tendering their resignations.

All three Union ministers will also be quitting the Modi government as a procedural formality.
