China seeks ideas from leaders for political stability, peace in Myanmar

Beijing, Feb 3: Ahead of the UNSC meet on the Myanmar coup, China, which shares close ties both with the Myanmar military and de-facto leader Aung San Suu Kyi, said that all actions of the international community should contribute to political stability, peace and reconciliation in that country.

The UN Security Council on Tuesday will discuss the situation in Myanmar after the coup and look at a "range of measures" with an idea of respecting the people's will expressed in the November general election.

Myanmar's military on Monday staged a coup and detained Suu Kyi and other top members of her governing party. The announcement on military-controlled Myawaddy TV came after an earlier declaration that since national stability was in jeopardy, all government functions would be transferred to military chief Senior Gen. Min Aung Hlaing.

It was also announced that the military had taken control of the country for one year.

All actions by the international community should contribute to Myanmar's political-social stability and peace and reconciliation in Myanmar so as to avoid escalation of tensions, complication of matters, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Wang Wenbin told a media briefing when asked about China's stand at the UNSC meet on the coup in Myanmar.

During President Xi Jinping's visit to Myanmar last year, China and Myanmar signed 33 deals covering areas such as politics, trade, investment and people-to-people communications.

Ready to discuss farmers issues anywhere, offers Tomar

Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar said during Zero Hour, which began at 5 pm, that the Modi government is always committed to discuss the farmer's issues.

"Government is ready to discuss issues related to farmers inside and outside Parliament," he said amid sloganizing by opposition members.

Banking on disinvestment

V.V.S. Manian

It was a tough call for Nirmala Sitharaman to present a budget in the midst of pandemic and the painful atmosphere in Delhi. She has to wipe out the fear that things will get worse before they get better. To boost the confidence of the public, she has unveiled a spending of Rs.34.83 trillion to eradicate COVID -19 and opted for a big bang spending to bring back the GDP growth, employment , consumer demand and improvement of public health.

The most important aspect of the budget is the strategic disinvestment plan, which has been talked about and now finally materializing for good. The Finance Minister announced that the government will divest its stake in two PSB's apart from one general insurance company. The disinvestment process of IDBI Bank is also likely to be completed in the next year. Analysts point out that Bank of Baroda and Punjab National Banks are possible candidates. She also said that the initial public offering (IPO) of LIC will commence in April 2021. The government also proposed 20,000 crores recapitalization of PSU banks.

The government currently holds a majority stake in PSU banks and expects to bring down the stakes in two PSB's below 51 percent and sell the entire stake to private ownership. Also there is a proposal for takeover of stressed assets of banks by Asset Reconstruction Companies which will help the banks to free their books of bad loans and thereby more funds for lending. Besides, it will get better value for the assets aggregating debt.

Failed banks

Another good point is that the depositor of the failed bank will now have access to funds faster. The finance minister gave an assurance that the failed banks had been put under watch by the RBI. The banks customers won't have to wait for the institution to be liquidated to get funds insured by the Deposit Insurance and Credit Guarantee Corporation.

The Indian banking sector is huge. It consists of 12 public sector banks, 22 private sector banks and 46 foreign, 56 regional and rural banks, 1485 urban cooperative banks and 96,000 rural cooperative banks.

The bad debt/NPA burden and scams of public sector banks is almost impossible to recover in India as political intervention and vested interest paralyzes the public sector banks and prevents them from functioning professionally and profitably. Indian banks are already grappling with 9.35 crore rupees of soared loans. In the bad banking scenario, privatization of banks is the best idea and it is a welcome sign that the Finance Minister made a good start.
