Sub.: Segment Leadership Update

Dear Sirs,

This is to update that Darren Oberst, head of HCL Software (a business line housing products in partnership with or acquired from IBM, accounting for about 11-12% of the Company's revenue), has decided to leave HCL Technologies Ltd. ('HCL') to pursue another opportunity. Darren joined HCL in 2014 as the head of corporate development and moved to lead this group in 2016. Interim leadership will take over this week, and in parallel, the Company will interview candidates internally and externally to lead this business segment. With the change, HCL also plans to align its entire suite of products and platforms allowing for greater synergies. We appreciate Darren's contribution to the organization.

This is for your information and records.

Thanking you,

Yours faithfully,
For HCL Technologies Limited
