Stable ties with global banks, claims Adani

ADITYA KALRA New Delhi, April 5

ADANI GROUPTOLD investors that several top Japanese and European banks have reaffirmed confidence in the embattled conglomerate after it was pummeled by a US short seller's critical report, a company document showed.

Led by billionaire businessman Gautam Adani, the group's seven listed stocks have lost about $120 billion in market value since a January 24 report by Hindenburg Research accused it of improper use of offshore tax havens and stock manipulation, allegations the group has denied.

Adani group shares and bonds have regained some lost ground over the past month or so after it repaid some debt and attracted a $1.9 billion investment from boutique investment firm GQG Partners.

Still, Adani is battling an investigation by India's market regulator which is looking into Hindenburg's allegations as well as the group's related party dealings following a Supreme Court directive. In a series of roadshows from Hong Kong to New York held in recent weeks for fixed income investors, the group committed to achieving 20%y-o-ygrowth in core earnshowed.

Global banks such as "MUFG, SMBC, Mizuho, Standard Chartered, Barclays, DBank (Deutsche Bank), consortium lender banks have reaffirmed confidence in Adani group," said the document which stated its since July 2022 that the volumes crossed the 30-million tonne mark. CESL plans solar charging ports for EVs through aggregation

SWARAJ BAGGONKAR Mumbai, April 5

WITH A SUSTAINED growth in interest for electric vehicles (EVs), state-run Convergence Energy Services (CESL) is looking to gather interest from parties for having a web of solar charging stations for EVs across the country.

Unlike a regular EV charging station, solar charging stations make use of large batteries that store the electricity generated by the sun before transmitting it to the vehicle plugged in for charging.Photo-voltaic modules,better known as solar panels, are used in harnessing the sun's heat and converting it into electricity.

Market watchers say that since most of the power generated in India comes from nonrenewable energy sources such as coal, solar charging for zero polluting vehicles like electric, will be the ideal solution for investment model to a model where we do demand aggregation as a service. We are looking at the economics of this plan. VISHAL KAPOOR making them truly zero emission, fully green vehicles.

Vishal Kapoor, CEO, CESL,

said: "CESL has moved from an investment model to a model where we do demand aggregation as a service. We are looking at the economics of this plan to know its feasibility. It is very much on the table and we are doing the evaluation." In October last year, CESL established a first-of-its-kind solar charging plaza for EVs in the Ladakh region. The carport constituted 100 kW solar PV panels with an 860 kW/hour lithium ion battery storage system. The power generated during the daylight hours can be stored for about 8 hours, allowing vehicles to charge anytime.

The government delicenced EV charging stations, paving the way for any individual or entity to invest in this field. Typically, a fast-charging station's estimated cost is around ₹16.5 lakh to ₹40 lakh, including equipment, land and power.

The cost of setting up a solar carport is estimated to go up to a maximum of ₹3-4 crore due to the involvement of solar panels, lithium ion batteries, and comparatively larger real estate. CESL believes that it is important to make it commercially viable to attract private parties.

Tata Power, India's largest integrated power company, has already set up multiple EV charging renewable energy stations across Mumbai, including those powered by solar energy.

"Solar is the cheapest source of energy. It is the cost of converting the energy into electricitywhich makes it economically challenging.But PV modules are increasingly being made in India which should bring down the cost further," a Mumbaibased analyst said. CESL took the charge for aggregating demand for electric buses, electric twowheelers and three-wheelers.
