Reliance Consumer buys sachet pioneer Velvette

NARAYANAN V Chennai, February 14

RELiance CONSUMER PRODUCTS (RCP) on Friday announced the acquisition of the iconic sachet shampoo brand 'Velvette', strengthening its FMCG portfolio and adding another heritage brand to its revival list.

Our immediate plan is to relaunch shampoo sachets and then extend the brand into a wider personal care range.

Moddy noted that RCP already has a strong personal care portfolio, and the 'Velvette' acquisition will further complement its offerings. 'Our immediate plan is to relaunch shampoo sachets and then extend the brand into a wider personal care range, including soaps, body care, and body wash under the Velvette name,' he said.

Addressing a press conference, RCP's COO Ketan Noddy said the company has acquired a perpetual license to produce 'Velvette' products and aims to revive the brand and expand its reach nationwide. However, he declined to disclose financial details of the acquisition.

A wholly owned subsidiary of Reliance Retail Ventures, RCP has been actively acquiring and reviving legacy Indian brands, including Campa Cola, confectionery brand Ravalgong, Lotus Chocolate, and SII Pools (sauces and jams brand).

Velvette was launched in 1980 by CK Rajkumar, founder of Sujatha Biotech. Inspired by his father R Chinni Krishnan, founder of Ruchika, he pioneered the concept of packaging shampoo in PVC pillow pouches, earning him the title of 'Sachet King'.
