Russian warships set to join Indian Navy, bypassing sanctions

SUDHI RANJAN SEN
April 5

INDIA WILL TAKE delivery of two Russian-made warships in the next few months, as the two countries work around US sanctions that created difficulties in paying for Russian weapons systems, according to senior Indian officials.

One ship is likely to be handed to the Indians in September, with another being delivered early next year. The delivery of the ships are two years behind schedule due to the war in Ukraine, the officials said, asking not to be named because of the sensitivity around the issue. The two frigates are part of a four-ship deal that the Indians signed with the Russians back in 2018. The other two ships are being built in India, in collaboration with Russia, but are also behind schedule due to war-related supply chain issues, the officials said.

The guided-missile frigates with stealth features were to use gas turbines made in Ukraine. Ukraine-Russia trade ground to a halt in 2014 in the aftermath of Russia's annexation of Crimea and India procured the turbines using a third country, senior officials said. US sanctions on Russia for its war in Ukraine had stalled weapons delivery to India for over an year, as the countries struggled to find a payment mechanism that didn't violate US sanctions.

India and Russia, also strategic partners, have been able to work around the payments issue, the people said, without disclosing details. India's Ministry of External Affairs, the Indian Navy and Ministry of Defense declined to comment.

New Delhi is paying Moscow in Indian rupees for weapons but uses a mix of currencies, such as UAE dirhams and US dollars, to pay for crude oil. India is the largest purchaser of Russia's seaboard oil. The mechanism had briefly run into trouble as payments amounting to billions of dollars accumulated in India. New Delhi had declined to pay in Chinese yuan given its tense relations with Beijing, the people said.

The US has largely refrained from penalising India for its dealings with Russia, including holding back on penalties for an advanced air defense system, as it courts India amid intensifying competition with China.

Despite buying more weapons from the US and France and PM Narendra Modi's aggressive programme to build military hardware in the country, Russia remains India's biggest supplier of military hardware, accounting for 36% of India's arms imports, according to the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute.

Shashank Singh & Ashutosh Sharma: Two stars from cricketing backwaters

RAHUL PANDEY, DEVENDRA PANDEY & PRATYUSH RAJ
New Delhi / Mumbai, April 5

SHASHANK SINGH HAILS from Bhilai, famously known for the steel plant. Ashutosh Sharma is from Ratlam, which is best known for the dialogue "Ratlam ki galiyaan, in the Kareena Kapoor and Shahid Kapoor - starrer Jab We Met. Neither Bhilai nor Ratlam is famous for being a cricketing hub.

On Thursday night, the two little-known uncapped players led Punjab Kings to a three-wicket win over Gujarat Titans at the Narendra Modi Stadium. Singh clubbed four sixes and six boundaries in his unbeaten 61 off 29 balls, while Ashutosh scored a quickfire 17-ball 31.

Mohammed Kaif, who has seen Shashank from close quarters during his two-year stint with Chattisgarh sums up the "fearless" approach of the two batters.

"Players like Shashank wait for the opportunity and they know that if they fail no one is going to talk about them. No one will be bothering why they failed. Every chance is the last chance for them. Such players come from small cities and have big hunger," Kaif tells The Indian Express.

"I met him this season during the RCB game and he got out on 0 batting down the order. He said bhai aage karoonga, pakka karoonga (I will do better in the future) and he has been out since then. It's not an easy position to bat, especially for uncapped players batting at number 7. Mostly each team has a foreigner who plays at that position someone like Andre Russell. The lower-order batsman will have to score against quality attacks and face bowlers like Bumrah in the end. So to perform there is a big thing," adds Kaif.

On the same lines, Amey Khurasia, who scouted Sharma, when he was 12, says the small cameo means a lot for Ashutosh and players like him, who have fought the system to reach this level.

"One should offer a prayer for such players. Ashutosh

Shashank got his IPL contract due to a goof-up while Ashutosh got his second home at Railways and broke Yuvraj Singh's record to catch scouts' attention would have been lost if not for the Punjab Kings. He has lost 3-4 years of his cricket because of the dirty politics," says Khurasia.

"We always hear stories that one should prioritise first-class cricket. But then there are many like Ashutosh, who disappear because of the system. Imagine, if not for Punjab Kings and the IPL, would we have heard the name of Ashutosh? He would have played for Railways all his life.

"When he went into bat, it was the first time he was batting in an international arena, in that big stadium, where the team is under immense pressure. He was just waiting for one chance and he got it and almost took his team home. How many first-class cricketers can do that in the IPL, very few," he says.

Shashank, a mistaken identity

Shashank was 13 when his father was posted in Jabalpur when he started making inroads in the U-15 and U-17 cricket. In his U-19 to U-25 and early List-A T20 years, Shashank was part of the Mumbai setup along with the likes of Abhishek Nayyar, Shivam Dube, Suryakumar Yadav and Shubham Ranjane. A fierce competition in the ranks for the starting XI afforded him little game time. It was when his fellow teammate Abhishek Nayyar moved to Pondicherry that he convinced Shashank to move with him. During his one-year cooling-off period though, Shashank was approached by Chattisgarh Cricket to join them.

His IPL story has been no different. Having been signed by the Delhi Capitals and Rajasthan Royals in his first two years in the league, Shashank didn't get to play in a single game. It was at Sunrisers Hyderabad where he first caught the eyes in the 2022 season where he made 10 appearances, one of which saw him maul three sixes in a row to New Zealand speedster Lockie Ferguson.

But even that wasn't enough as Shashank was let go by the 2016 winners. His move to Punjab wasn't a smooth transition either with the drama during the 2024 auction leaving many under the impression that Punjab Kings didn't want him, having mistaken him for another.

Ashutosh, the fighter

Amey Khurasia vividly remembers the first time he saw Ashutosh, a young kid who was struggling to tie his bootlaces at the Madhya Pradesh Cricket Academy (MPCA) in Indore. "When you see him open the batting, you will forget many players. He was rare at 12. He has an attitude in his batting. He is a modest and honest boy but if you put him against a bowler, he will hit them out of the park, he doesn't show respect to the bowlers. He will play his shots. At that age he didn't fear facing bowlers double his age not every 12-year-old kid can do that," recalls Khurasia.

Ashutosh, who dedicated his performance to his coach also opened up on how despite doing well in the age group and for the Madhya Pradesh senior team, he was sidelined by their current coach Chandrakant Pandit. "In 2019, I scored 84 runs in my last game for Madhya Pradesh in T20.

Next year, a professional coach joined the set-up who had his own liking and disliking. Mai unko pasand nahi aaya (He never liked me). I scored in selection matches, around 90 off just 40-45 balls and still wasn't picked when the team was announced," Ashutosh told the reporters on Friday.

"I played U-23 also and scored two hundreds vs Delhi and Tamil Nadu respectively in four matches for the age-group team. I scored three half-centuries in six games I played in the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy too. The professional coach didn't consider me at all in the next year.

"During COVID-19, when 20 players used to travel and I used to stay in the team hotel. I stayed in the hotel for 1-2 months and was in depression. I was not able to see the ground, was not getting match time. I kept thinking what had been done. No one told me about my mistake," says Ashutosh. Khurasia, too, lambasts MPCA for treating one of their own badly.

"Just because some coach is successful, it doesn't give him the right to sabotage someone's career. If you are successful, you help others to grow, not play with their careers," says Khurasia.
