Uber looks at lift in stock market debut

APPTI
San Francisco, 10 May

Uber's next step is the stock market, where it hopes to pick up more investors willing to bet on a ride-hailing market brimming with potential and conspicuously lacking in profits.

Uber hired Dara Khosrowshahi (pictured) as CEO to replace Travis Kalanick and clean up the mess although Lyft seized upon the scandals to gain market share

The world's largest ride-hailing service reached a major milestone Thursday when Uber priced its long-awaited initial public offering at $45 per share to begin trading on Friday morning.

The IPO came in at the lower end of Uber's targeted price range of $44 to $50 per share.

The caution may have been driven by escalating doubts about the ability of ride-hailing services to make money since Uber's main rival, Lyft, went public six weeks ago.

Even at the tamped-down price, Uber now has a market value of $82 billion—five times more than Lyft's.

No matter how Uber's stock swings Friday, the IPO has been considered a triumph for the company most closely associated with an industry that has changed the way millions of people get around. That while also transforming the way millions of more people earn a living for huge growth," said Sam Abueismil, principal analyst at Navigant Research.

Uber boasts growth galore. Its revenue last year surged 42.2 per cent to $11.3 billion while its cars completed 5.2 billion trips around the world either giving rides to 91 million passengers or delivering food.

Uber might be even more popular in not for series of controversies about its controversial behaviour that sullied its image and resulted in the ouster of its co-founder, Travis Kalanick, as CEO nearly two years ago.

The self-inflicted wounds included complaints about rampant internal sexual harassment, accusations that it stole self-driving car technology, and a cover-up of a computer breach in the stolen personal information about its passengers.

What's more, some Uber drivers have been accused of assaulting passengers and one of its self-driving test vehicles stuck and killed a pedestrian in Arizona last year while a backup driver was behind the wheel.

Uber hired Dara Khosrowshahi as CEO to replace Kalanick and clean up the mess, something that analysts say has been able to do to some extent, although Lyft seized upon the scandals to gain market share.

The IPO raised another $8.1 billion for Uber as it tries to fend off Lyft in the US and help counter the onslaught of ride-hailing services at unprofitable prices.

The San Francisco company already has lost about $9 billion since its inception and acknowledges it could still be years before it turns a profit.

"That sobering reality is one reason that Uber fell well short of reaching the $120 billion market value that many observers believed its IPO might attain.

Another factor working against Uber is the cold shoulder investors have been giving Lyft's stock after its initial run-up. Lyft's shares closed Thursday 23 per cent below its April IPO price of $72.

Uber "clearly learned from its 'little brother' Lyft, and the experience it has gained through," Wedbush Securities analysts Ygal Arounian and Daniel Ives wrote late on Thursday.

The jitters about an intensifying US trade war with China also have rolled the stock market this week. Despite all that, Uber's IPO is the biggest since China's e-commerce giant Alibaba Group debuted with a value of $167.6 billion in 2014.

"For the market to give you the value, you've either got to have a lot of professorial potential

SC reserves verdict on Rafale review petitions

AASHISH ARYAN
New Delhi, 10 May

The Supreme Court on Friday reserved its verdict on review petitions moved by former Union ministers Yashwanth Sinha and Anun Shourie, and senior advocate Prashant Bhushan, among others, in a case related to the purchase of 36 Rafale fighter jets.

The petitioners had urged the top court to review its December 15 judgment, in which it had declined to order any probe in the purchase of Rafale jets and said there was "no occasion to reily doubt" the procurement process of the $58,000 crore fighter jet deal, even if "minor deviations" had occurred.

During the hearing on Friday, Bhushan told the top court that the government had suppressed various crucial facts related to the purchase of the fighter jets, including the detailed dissent note submitted by the three pricing experts of the Ministry of Defence, who were a part of the seven-member Indian Negotiation Team.

"Standard clauses that are required to be part of defence deals were dropped for the Rafale deal after a meeting of Cabinet Committee on Security. For this fact alone, the deal should be reviewed," Bhushan told the three-member Bench.

The government, represented by Attorney General K K

Venugopal, told the court that the basic pricing raised by Sinha, Shourie, and Bhushan, seeking a review of the verdict are same as the main petition and thus should be dismissed.

The secrecy clauses of the deal between India and France mandated that the price details be not disclosed to the public, Venugopal said, adding that matter pertained to "defence deals and not to the award of contract for construction of flyovers and dams".
