THE WORKMEN-MANAGEMENT tussle at the Renault-Nissan Chennai plant, which was dragged to the Madras High Court over the lack of social distance protocol during the Covid pandemic, has ended with the union agreeing to the findings in the inspection report of the Tamil Nadu directorate of industrial safety and health.

The directorate has reported back to the court that the company has complied with the uniform guidelines for maintenance of social distance. According to the report, the social distancing in the two assembly lines were achieved by scrapping the four and three workstations.

Ordering the closure of the writ petition, the division bench comprising chief justice justice Sanjib Banerjee and justice Senthilkumar Ramamoorthy said: "Since the petitioning union and the workmen do not have any further grievance at the moment pertaining to the measures taken at the manufacturing facility of the second respondent, the matter appears to have run its course."

The court had on June 22 ordered the management to enforce uniform guidelines.
