SBI, which is slowly emerging from a period of massive provisioning on loans to large corporates like Essar Steel, sees opportunities in taking business from the shadow banks without creating new asset quality problems, according to Chairman Rajnish Kumar.

"We are not shying away from any business but that does not in any manner mean

Kumar said SBI's strong capital gives it the leeway to seek more mortgages and small business loans, which had been a focus for the NBFCs before the crisis erupted. That should help the bank attain its target of 11 per cent loan growth for the year to March 2020, Kumar said, slightly lower than the 12 per cent growth of the previous fiscal year.
