Sam Pitroda's inheritance tax comment: Is Chicago Forum back in the reckoning in Rahul's Congress?

Sam Pitroda, chairman of the Indian Overseas Congress, is once again the eye of a political storm having advocated an inheritance tax law in the country, even as a beleaguered Congress sought to distance itself from the comments saying his views do not always reflect the position of the party.

The role of Sam Pitroda in Rahul Gandhi's inner circle of advisors has raised many eyebrows with the grand old party. Pitroda, as head of the AICC's Overseas chapters, is often seen as instrumental in the former AICC chief's frequent tours abroad. In March 2023, Pitroda was a regular fixture at Rahul's interactions at Cambridge, London and other places in the United Kingdom. A section of the Congress leaders then had felt Rahul was 'ill-advised' to travel abroad soon after his impressive first round of Bharat Jodo Yatra. Instead of trying to convert the liberals and Leftists and the Indian diaspora in UK, Rahul could have focused more on domestic politics, poll-bound Karnataka or in strengthening the Opposition unity.

He was responsible for finalising telecommunication policies and computerisation programme in the recent past. Pitroda's clout has reportedly gone up many folds because Rahul Gandhi views him as a fatherly figure. In his autobiography, Dreaming Big: My Journey to Connect India, Pitroda has given a graphic account of how he met Rajiv Gandhi in 1985 when the Indian prime minister was visiting the US to invite the technocrat to work with him. Pitroda recalled telling the Indian ambassador then, "Please tell the PM that I'm going to be Washington with my wife. We would very much like to meet him." The ambassador was not sure, pointing that Rajiv Gandhi's schedule was solidly booked. "I understand," Pitroda remembers telling the engineer-ambassador, "Just say that Sam Pitroda would like to see him (Rajiv)."

He had pushed for economic liberalisation in the 1980s. "As Indians in the US, Sam and I used to meet at a place called 'Chicago Forum'. India's liberalisation was always our agenda." Rajiv's exit as prime minister in 1989 and subsequent assassination in 1991 reportedly halted the process of economic reforms. When PV Narasimha Rao became the accidental prime minister and brought economist Dr Manmohan Singh as his finance minister, structural economic reforms became a reality. However, a protectionist lobby, known as the Bombay Club, tried to block or slow down reforms. The Rao-Singh duo ably negotiated such obstructions but Pitroda sought leave, returning back to Chicago. He made a comeback after the Congress-led UPA came to power in 2004. Prime minister Manmohan Singh appointed him head of the National Knowledge Commission, a project meant to fast-track social and economic development amid strong resistance from Arjun Singh and a section of the party. During the Manmohan era, Pitroda, while heading the National Knowledge Commission, had many clashes with Arjun Singh who was Union human resource development (HRD) minister.

The geopolitical gold that is hitting record prices

Gold. The very word has a primal pull. With the yellow metal hitting record prices of $2,400 per troy ounce this year, the glitter has a polish that goes way beyond the accountants' mundane matrices of supply and demand. It's today's charged, war-crazed global geopolitics at work. Put another way, a lot of that demand for gold has to do with wars, and a global, especially Chinese, response to the hegemony of the US dollar. Readers may be surprised to know that not only is China the world's biggest gold consumer, it is also the world's biggest producer of the shiny stuff.

Why BJP and BJD have joined hands in Odisha

The relationship between Odisha Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik and Prime Minister Narendra Modi can best be described as "frenemies". And now it seems the frenemies have a common purpose. Or perhaps, this cross-aisle cooperation stems from pragmatism. The ruling Biju Janata Dal (BJD) in Odisha could be joining forces with the BJP ahead of the upcoming Lok Sabha elections. The signs of a uniting ticket were evident in the public display of goodwill between the two leaders. Ostensibly, Rising Odisha seems to be the central idea of the BJD forging an alliance with the BJP. But the key reason is Naveen Patnaik's party needs funds for various projects in Odisha and the BJP government will help the state.

It is for this reason that the RBI has also increased its gold holding, buying 13 tonnes of the shine in January-February 2024. A smart move that added $3 billion to foreign reserves on account of gold appreciating. In 2023, Turkey, with its currency plummeting, bought 12 tonnes of gold and Kazakhstan likewise shored up foreign reserves by shovelling 6 tonnes; so did Jordan. Everyone is excited about gold, with it being geopolitically motivated. China is moving away from the dollar and for the last two years its central bank has been continuously buying gold. Beijing views gold as a bigger part of its future holdings. The dominance of the US dollar grants America significant economic and political leverage. By amassing gold reserves, China is essentially hedging against potential challenges to the dollar's pre-eminence in the future. Other central banks, particularly in emerging economies, are also bulking up their gold stockpiles, seeking a safe asset in a world grappling with rising geopolitical tensions.

Over Rs 56,000 crore in Adilabad. So, it makes perfect sense to have a good working relationship with the Centre. Patnaik is the longest-serving chief minister of Odisha and as of 2024, one of the longest-serving chief ministers of any Indian state, having held the post for over two decades. He is only the second Indian chief minister to win five consecutive terms.

But there is also a sense of disquiet in Odisha with the dependence of Patnaik on his bureaucratic generals, many of whom are non-Odias. But it would be safe to say that his trusted aide VK Pandian, who recently retired from the civil services (IAS), was a key architect in bringing both parties together by holding one-on-one talks with Home Minister Anup Singh. Other possible factors - there is a definite groundswell of support for the BJP in the urban belts of Odisha, despite the CM's popularity with women, the anti-incumbency effect of the last five years and Patnaik's limited campaigning could cost the BJD. The strategic importance ably negotiated such obstructions but Pitroda sought leave, returning back to Chicago. He made a comeback after the Congress-led UPA came to power in 2004. Prime minister Manmohan Singh appointed him head of the National Knowledge Commission, a project meant to fast-track social and economic development amid strong resistance from Arjun Singh and a section of the party. During the Manmohan era, Pitroda, while heading the National Knowledge Commission, had many clashes with Arjun Singh who was Union human resource development (HRD) minister.

China is not alone. For and redefine the boundaries of human achievement. But beyond the world of athletics, where ordinary individuals transcend the constraints of the mundane to become extraordinary champions of motion. Athletics, in its purest form, is not merely a collection of sports or a series of events, it is a testament to the boundless potential inherent within the human form. It is the sprinter who races against the wind, the high jumper who defies gravity's pull, and the marathon runner who conquers the limits of endurance. Each athlete, a living embodiment of dedication and discipline, dares to challenge the impossible
