US warns of more Russian annexation attempts

AGENCIES Washington

Russia is forming plans to annex more parts of Ukraine, repeating a play-book it used in the 2014 annexation of Crimea to seize territory, the White House said Tuesday.

ship, said John Kirby, the communications coordinator at the National Security Council. Kirby warned the US would punish Russia with additional sanctions for attempts to further annex Ukrainian territory, and said the White House would unveil additional security assistance to Ukraine later this week. He cited US intelligence that had been downgraded and approved for public release to make the claims about Russia's plans.

Wildfires smother Greek capital

Flames erupt on the mountain near Limni village on the island of Evia, about 160 km north of Athens, Greece.

AGENCIES Athens

Nearly 500 firefighters struggled to contain a large wildfire that threatened hillside suburbs outside Athens for a second day on Wednesday, after hundreds of residents were evacuated overnight.

wave conditions. At least two people were hospitalised in the Greek capital with breathing problems and minor burns, while local officials said several houses had been burned in the fire around Mount Penteli, 25 kilometers northeast of Athens.

Five water-dropping aircraft and four helicopters were operating on Wednesday, officials said, adding that more than 600 people have evacuated from their homes so far.

Artopios said winds of up to 80 kilometres per hour were making air support difficult for fire crews.

Greece has avoided the heat wave that is currently afflicting countries in western Europe, but fire officials say that hot and dry conditions that have lasted for weeks, as well as longer-term temperature rises, have increased the overall risk of forest fires.

Cooler weather gave firefighters in Spain and Portugal some respite but temperatures are forecast to rise back to 40 degrees Celsius in the coming days. A spate of blazes in Spain's northwestern Galicia region has burned 85 houses and forced the evacuation of 1,400 people.

In France, firefighters created huge firebreaks through threatened forests in the southwest of the country, using heavy machinery to tear out trees and roots to leave large barren strips to stop the fires from spreading. After a week of raging wildfires, the blazes have slowed.
