LUNCH WITH BS ▶ NRIPENDRA MISRA | FORMER PRINCIPAL SECRETARY TO THE PRIME MINISTER

The order of things

Misra has a freewheeling conversation with Nivedita Mookerji & A K Bhattacharya about his days at the PMO, the power structure, demonetisation, the PM's Budget and the Ram temple

It's hardly a surprise that our guest has chosen India International Centre (IIC), and not some fancy restaurant, for this lunch meeting. Set by the verdant Lodi Gardens in New Delhi, IIC is a hub for statesmen, policy-makers, diplomats and intellectuals, a cultural centre like few others in the country. We arrive ahead of time and head for the lounge where we are scheduled to meet, only to realise that Nripendra Misra, former principal secretary to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, is waiting for us at the IIC Annex, a seven-odd-minute walk from the main building. Again, no surprise — the 1967 batch Uttar Pradesh-cadre Indian Administrative Services (IAS) officer has for years kept most of his out-of-office meetings at the third-floor Lounge at the Annex.

Misra, who now wears two hats, as chairman of the Ram Janmabhoomi Trust (Ayodhya) construction committee and executive council chairman of the Prime Ministers' Museum and Library (formerly called Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, a name many still know it by), says he prefers the relatively quiet Annex Lounge to the buzzing dining hall.

We plunge straight into the conversation, starting with his big shift from the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) to Ayodhya. But the bureaucrat in him is looking for order, literally. "Let's get this out of the way," Misra says, pointing at the menu card. He orders chana chaat and coffee, both to be brought to the table together. That's his staple lunch, he confesses, adding he never spends more than 10 minutes over it since his breakfast is "heavy". Hope this lunch is a bit longer than 10 minutes, we blurt out. "We are here to talk," he says with a hint of a smile, while recommending grilled fish to us. We like the grilled fish idea but also order something wholly different, raagi masala dosa, sharing a laugh over how this dosa is in sync with the PM's overarching millet theme.

The order out of the way, Misra, who's casually dressed, takes up the question on how his current assignment is different from his PMO days (2014 to 2019). "You may call it boring, but I always follow a regulated schedule, allocating time for everything I do," he says. So, broadly the same method comes handy whatever the assignment, he indicates. At the PMO, he recalls, no meeting stretched beyond an hour. He speaks of the influence former Cabinet secretary T S R Subramanian had on him. "He would always say that one has to go to a meeting prepared and know beforehand what decision should be taken."

Misra, it seems, hasn't wavered from that neat plan, which ensures crisp meetings ending in decisions or at least a semblance of consensus. Of course, not everything has worked like clockwork. The Goods and Services Tax (GST) is an example of how consensus building proved tough initially, he recalls, and then how, after many twists and turns, the idea of GST Council's veto power sealed the deal. While then finance minister Arun Jaitley was at the forefront of the GST initiative, Misra says, "We (he and Jaitley) said in the end that he (PM Modi) is the winner", given the way the issue was handled to arrive at a consensus. Coming from Gujarat, a manufacturing state, Modi initially had reservations about GST, but over the months he got convinced about its national relevance and efficiency, and owned it.

We move to current issues, including the government's response to the Manipur violence. Could things have been handled differently and would he have advised the PM in some other way had he been the principal secretary now? Misra's reply is that of a bureaucrat: "There can be better solutions to every problem"; to the second part of the question, he says, "but I'm in no position to answer as I do not have facts as prevalent on the ground or knowledge of the advice being given to the PM now. I also don't know if my advice would have been taken."

The food arrives, and we're mindful of the 10-minute lunch Misra believes in. It's a business lunch, we tell ourselves and focus on the talk. The food, however, gives us an opportunity to also ask him about the cuisines and delicacies PM Modi enjoys. Misra laughs, saying he's not had any one-on-one meal with the PM. That said, he's known to be a frugal eater, he tells us. At working lunches, "we would try to see what the PM might eat". Dhokla, idli and samosa are among the dishes that would have Modi's interest, he says.

"IN MY TIME AT THE PMO, THE ISSUE OF WHO'S MORE POWERFUL NEVER CAME UP... THE POINT TO REMEMBER, HOWEVER, IS THAT WITH THIS PM, NOBODY COMES OUT OF HIS ROOM FEELING MORE IMPORTANT"

As we chew on that, we are also curious to know about the disappointments Misra might have faced at the PMO. Land acquisition tops the list: "My consultation was inadequate," he says, while pointing out the significance of meeting people of all kinds, particularly the interest groups, at the PMO as the job is diverse. "I had not assessed the farmers' mind... I should not have depended only on the agriculture ministry for inputs... Finally, I said, let the ordinance lapse, surprising the PM." The third promulgation of the ordinance would have made the PM unpopular, Misra thinks back. The farmers' agitation in 2020-21 brought to the fore similar issues, though Misra had stepped down by then.

What is it like to work with PM Modi, really? His goal has been to dismantle the silos ministries and departments work in, we are told. Are the silos gone? "Not totally," he says. Then, speaking in a measured tone, Misra says any sign of corruption enrages him and cross-conversation at a meeting upsets him. Indicating that we have a hands-on PM, he adds: "He would want to know what policy implementation issues came to me when I was the principal secretary."

We are almost done with the raagi dosa and the fish. Misra is by now enjoying his regular coffee. We ask for Darjeeling tea, a brew that is known to help one relax and unwind. We, though, are just getting warmed up. So we put the question that has been waiting to be voiced: What are the power equations at the PMO? Who's more powerful — the principal secretary or the national security advisor (NSA)? The jury may be out on that one but his answer carries a message. "In my time at the PMO, the issue of who's more powerful never came up. For defence and foreign-related matters, the NSA would obviously spend more time with the PM.... The point to remember, however, is that with this PM, nobody comes out of his room feeling more important."

The spicy aroma of the Darjeeling tea spreads across the table as we ask the next question: Is it the Prime Minister's Budget or the Finance Minister's Budget? "It has to be the PM's Budget," is Misra's quick response. The PM, he says, is obsessed with the common man — their expectation and their empowerment must be addressed in any Budget. Misra qualifies his answer, adding that "it is still a work in progress".

The tea begins to spin its magic and we ask how he would compare the many PMs he would have worked with in his long bureaucratic career. "I cannot compare the PMs because I have dealt with others when I was at different levels," says Misra, 78. "The only one I have worked with directly is the current PM." He says he has never seen Modi upset over any election result and that he never blames anybody else for any decision. We ask if there was any regret or a rethink over demonetisation. "There was never a second thought on that," Misra replies.

As his favourite job so far, Misra lists his stint as the chairman of the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai), soon after he retired as secretary, Department of Telecommunications. "I was very satisfied there."

Misra has worked with other ministries and departments, including finance. Any thoughts on why economic reforms have slowed? The question is logical since we are meeting just after the government has announced restrictions on the import of computers and laptops. In many cases, Misra says, the system didn't allow it (reforms), and disinvestment or separation of land has been a major bottleneck. He agrees that reforms in this government could have been much faster, with no opposition from political parties. So, it might not be incorrect to say that the neta (leader) is not a problem, but bureaucracy is.

Misra is looking at his watch as we move on to the Ram temple. "To my satisfaction, it may get completed on schedule, maybe with a one-month delay." From a 10-hour workday, he's now on an eight-hour schedule: 10 am to 6 pm. What's more, his current role also carries some star quotient: Amitabh Bachchan is doing the voiceover, pro bono, for a special series that will coincide with the inauguration of the temple.

Any plans of writing a memoir, like some of his predecessors at the PMO? "I believe such tenures should not be used to ever write an autobiography or a memoir," he says. We turn the clock back a bit to discuss some of the earlier principal secretaries: P N Haksar, Brajesh Mishra and T K A Nair. Misra makes a point: "The earlier principal secretaries had kept details with themselves and they were told to deliver. Now, the details are with the PM. He's in complete control of things." He explains that whether it's the Ayushman Bharat scheme or major security policies or even choosing the line drawing of the 'Gandhi chashma' for the Swachh Bharat campaign, PM Modi is on top of things.

On a lighter note, we ask him some quick-parting questions. The books he reads? Mostly non-fiction and utilitarian. His entertainment? Well, he has no time for OTT, but is a film music buff — only oldies. Rafi or Kishore? Kishore.

With that, we wrap up the conversation that's lasted some 90 minutes — way over his 10-minute lunch.

The man, who has recently spoken about the relevance of exiting with regard to his resignation as principal secretary in 2019, is evidently focused on the job at hand: building the Ram temple. The government wants the temple to be ready before the high-stakes 2024 election. Misra maintains it's not a political job; it's 100 per cent a bureaucratic one. And it has to be done according to his rulebook: allocate time, take decisions and ensure delivery.

Passport Seva services to get a digital push with AI, advanced analytics solutions

In a bid to ease the process of applying and renewing passports and tighten the security of the digital interface, the government is planning to deploy a host of high emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence (AI) and advanced analytics, officials said. The efforts are part of the Ministry of External Affairs' upgraded Passport Seva Program (PSP) 2.0, which is being implemented through service partner Tata Consultancy Services (TCS). More than 13.32 million passports were issued in 2022 by the passport issuing authorities (PIA) in India and abroad, making India the largest passport issuer after China and the United States.

Moreover, the government plans to integrate the passport services with AI-powered Chatbots and automated response management systems to make the entire process digital, paperless, and cashless, officials said. They added that the move was pending for a long time but, now, with the integration of the Passport Seva system with Aadhar data, it might quickly become a reality.

AI-based SMS/email alerts will be sent to citizens at various stages of application filing. In a key move, the government is aiming to introduce facial and biometric matching solutions through the launch of the e-Passport. It will add a layer of security by embedding an electronic microprocessor chip in the passport booklet. It stores the biographical information visible on the second page of the passport as well as a digital security feature.

This digital security feature is a 'digital signature' unique to each country and can be verified using their respective certificates.

Flyer held for trying to smuggle diamonds

Mumbai: The Air Customs have arrested an Indian national travelling to Dubai, seizing 1559.6 carats of natural and lab grown diamonds, worth Rs1.49 crore, that were ingeniously concealed inside a tea packet. The passenger has been remanded to judicial custody. The Customs is now probing from where the passenger had procured diamonds and who was supposed to receive them.

Bank mgr, export firm heads slyly mortgage bizman's flat

DHARMESH THAKKAR / MUMBAI

A leading private sector bank manager and directors of an export house have been booked for fraudulently mortgaging a businessman's flat in a Malad high-rise to avail business loans.

The Dindoshi police have registered an FIR against the bank branch manager at Lokhandwala Township, Kandivali, and directors of Kesari Exports Pvt Ltd on the complaint of financial marketing professional Ganesh-prasad Bhat.

According to Bhat's advocate Mohit Bhardwaj, who has filed a civil suit at the Dindoshi sessions court against the bank, the businessman was lured by the bank manager for additional loan on his property as the latter needed funds to raise capital to clear earlier loans taken after suffering losses during the Covid-19 pandemic.

"Bhat was asked to improve his credit score and CIBIL profile. The bank manager convinced him to join an export company as director to show huge turnover to be eligible for loans," explained advocate Bhardwaj.

Bhat has alleged that the bank manager called him to the Kandivali branch on the pretext of registering his property for valuation and took OTPs received by Bhat and his wife to process the loan.

"The manager informed me a few days later that the loan proposal was rejected and the property cannot be mortgaged. I was asked to resign from the export company," alleged Bhat.

"Prospective buyers of my flat backed out and cancelled the sale agreement when they realised that the flat was already mortgaged with a bank by the Kesari Exports director couple Sudhir and Vibhuti Chamria in personal capacity, while the real owner (Bhat) was the guarantor of his own property," said advocate Bhardwaj.

Bhat has claimed that the bank manager initially procured data entry mistakes and said they would be corrected and the mortgage on his property would be cancelled. "After repeated follow-ups and vague promises, the bank finally shrugged its responsibility and evaded my calls and emails," alleged Bhat.

The bank corporate communication team clarified that an internal investigation is in progress and appropriate action would be taken for irregularities and lapses based on the outcome of the inquiry.

Meanwhile, Bhat has filed a civil suit for restraining the bank against coercive action and initiate recovery proceedings of fraudulent mortgage loans which were never availed by him.

After MARD's intervention, over 1,000 more vacancies created for PG docs

SWAPNIL MISHRA / MUMBAI

After the Maharashtra Association of Resident Doctors (MARD) raised the issue of inadequate number of senior resident doctors posts for qualified postgraduate doctors, the Directorate of Medical Education and Research (DMER) has now created 1,432 more vacancies. The bond will be allotted to the respective students as per the merit list after August 16.

On August 9, the DMER had released a comprehensive list outlining the availability of senior residency positions for qualified PG doctors across the state. There are 98 preventive science medicine PG candidates waiting for posting and there are 40 seats available. Similarly, for anaesthesia posting, there are 167 seats and there are 210 candidates. In gynaecology, there are only 140 seats against 194 candidates.

Dr Abhijit Helge, President of MARD (central), said they are happy with the decision of augmenting seats. "This decision will have a positive impact on the recently graduated PGs who will be serving at government medical colleges across Maharashtra. Moreover, it will also help to enhance patient care," he said.

In January, a statewide strike was organised by central MARD for increasing the number of posts for senior residents. Throughout the course of their three-year postgraduate program, doctors assume the role of junior residents. Upon successful program completion, they qualify for senior resident positions.

Terming the skewed ratio of vacancies against PG doctors as a challenge, MARD said the number of available postgraduate seats continues to grow while the corresponding count of senior resident positions has not kept pace. Consequently, a significant number of postgraduates have been left without senior residency opportunities.

AGENCIES / MUMBAI

A court on Friday denied permission to perform brain mapping, polygraph and narco analysis tests on Railway Protection Force (RPF) constable Chetan Singh who is accused of shooting dead his senior colleague and three passengers on a moving train. The accused was remanded to 14-day judicial custody after he was produced before a magistrate court in Borivali at the end of his previous remand. The Government Railway Police (GRP), which is probing the case, had sought consent for the tests, saying the matter was very serious and a thorough investigation was needed.

आपचे राघव चढ्वाही निलंबित

नवी दिल्ली : आम आदमी पक्षाचे संजय सिंह राज्यसभेतून निलंबित असतानाच आता आम आदमी पक्षाचे प्रवक्ते व खासदार राघव चढ्वा यांना देखील राज्यसभेतून निलंबित करण्यात आले आहे, तर संजय सिंह यांच्या निलंबनाची मुदत वाढवण्यात आली आहे. विशेषाधिकार समितीचा अहवाल येईपर्यंत आपचे हे दोन्ही नेते राज्यसभेतून निलंबित असतील.

आपचे खासदार राघव चढ्वा यांनी दिल्ली सेवा विधेयक निवड समितीकडे पाठवण्याच्या प्रस्तावावर पाच खासदारांची नावे त्यांच्या संमतीविनाच घुसवल्याची तक्रार या संबंधित पाच खासदारांनी केली आहे. हा प्रस्ताव राघव चढ्वा यांनी मांडला होता. भाजपचे तीन खासदार, बीजेडी आणि

एआयएडीएमकेच्या एका खासदाराने निषेध नोंदवला आहे. केंद्रीय गृहमंत्री अमित शहा यांनी या प्रकरणाच्या चौकशीची मागणी केली होती. हे प्रकरण उघड होताच राज्यसभेच्या उपसभापतींनी याची चौकशी केली जाईल, असे आश्वासन दिले आहे. या पाच खासदारांमध्ये बीजेडीच्या सस्मित पात्रा, भाजपचे नरहरी

अमीन, सुधांशू त्रिवेदी, फॉर्गनॉन कोन्याक आणि लोकसभेचे माजी उपसभापती थंबीदुराई यांचा समावेश आहे. थंबीदुराई हे एआयएडीएमकेचे खासदार आहेत. मात्र, राघव चढ्वा यांनी आपल्यावर लावण्यात आलेले आरोप खोटे असल्याचे सांगितले आहे. विशेषाधिकार समितीने पाठवलेल्या नोटीसला उत्तर देऊ, असे राघव चढ्वा यांनी सांगितले होते.

खासदार म्हणून आपली प्रतिमा खराब करणाऱ्या भाजपच्या डावपेचांचा मी पर्दाफाश करणार असल्याचेही राघव चढ्वा म्हणाले. राघव चढ्वा यांच्यावरील कारवाई हा कट असल्याचे आपने म्हटले आहे. आपचे म्हणणे आहे की, राघव चढ्वा या तरुण आणि प्रभावी खासदाराची प्रतिष्ठा खराब

करण्यासाठी भाजप ही मोहीम राबवत आहे. त्याचा पक्ष निषेध करतो. एक नवोदित तरुण, निर्भय आणि गतिमान संसदपट्टवर हे निराधार आरोप आहेत आणि त्यांची प्रतिष्ठा खराब करण्याचा सुनियोजित कट आहे. दरम्यान, उपराष्ट्रपती आणि राज्यसभेचे सभापती जगदीप धनखड यांनी संजय सिंह यांना संसदेच्या संपूर्ण पावसाळी अधिवेशनातून निलंबित केले आहे.

आता विशेषाधिकार समितीची चौकशी होईपर्यंत संजय सिंह यांनाही राज्यसभेतून निलंबित करण्यात येईल, असे राज्यसभेकडून सांगण्यात आले आहे. राज्यसभेतील नेते पीयूष गोयल यांनी संजय सिंह यांना निलंबित करण्याचा प्रस्ताव मांडला होता.

बहिष्कार टाकणाऱ्या ग्रामपंचायतींवर कारवाई करा

चंद्रिगड : मुस्लीम व्यापाऱ्यांना आपल्या गावात कथित प्रवेशबंदी करणाऱ्या ग्रामपंचायतींवर कठोर कारवाई करावी, अशी मागणी नूह येथील काँग्रेसचे आमदार आफताब अहमद यांनी गुरुवारी केली. हरियाणाच्या काही भागांमध्ये धार्मिक तणाव असतानाच, महेंद्रगड, रेवाडी आणि झझर

हरियाणा विधानसभेत काँग्रेस उपनेत्याची मागणी

जिल्हांतील काही पंचायत प्रमुखांनी मुस्लीम व्यापाऱ्यांना त्यांच्या खेड्यांमध्ये प्रवेशबंदी घालणारी पत्रे समाजाध्यक्षांवर प्रसिद्ध झाली आहेत.

दरम्यान अनेक सरपंचांनी विशिष्ट समुदायाचा उल्लेख करून अशा प्रकारची पत्रे पाठवल्याचा इन्कार केला. 'असे करणे पूर्णपणे असंवधानिक आहे. एखादी पंचायत असे करीत असेल किंवा असा ठराव मंजूर करत असेल, तर त्यांच्याविरुद्ध कठोर कायद्याखाली गुन्हे दाखल झाले पाहिजेत, असे राज्य

विधानसभेत काँग्रेसचे उपनेते असलेले अहमद म्हणाले. अशा प्रकारची पत्रे जारी करण्यामुळे राज्यातील वातावरण दूषित होईल, याचा त्यांनी उल्लेख केला. हिंसाचारग्रस्त नूहमध्ये अलीकडेच झालेल्या अतिक्रमण हटाव मोहिमेत अनेक निष्पाप लोकांनाही लक्ष्य करण्यात आल्याचा आरोप त्यांनी केला.

दिल्ली उच्च न्यायालयाची न्यूजक्लिकला नोटीस

नवी दिल्ली : न्यूजक्लिक पोर्टलवर मनी लॉडिंगप्रकरणी कोणतीही बळजबरीची कारवाई करण्यास ईडीला मनाई करणारा आदेश रद्द करण्याच्या ईडीच्या याचिकेला प्रतिसाद देताना दिल्ली उच्च न्यायालयाने शुक्रवारी न्यूजक्लिक संस्थेला नोटीस बजावली आहे. सप्टेंबर २०२० मध्ये ईडीने न्यूजक्लिक आणि या संस्थेचे मुख्य संपादक प्रवीर पुर्कायस्थ यांच्यावर मनी लॉडिंग प्रतिबंधक कायद्यांतर्गत तपास सुरू केला होता. त्यानंतर २०२१ साली न्यूजक्लिकने न्यायालयात आपल्यावर कठोर

कारवाई करण्यापासून ईडीला रोकावे, अशी याचिका न्यायालयात दाखल केली होती. न्या. सौरभ बॅनर्जी यांनी नोटीसीला उत्तर देण्यासाठी न्यूजक्लिकला दोन आठवड्यांचा अवधी दिला असून, पुढील सुनावणी ६ सप्टेंबर रोजी ठेवली आहे. ईडीला आधीच्या बॅचने काढलेले दोन आदेश रद्द करून हवे आहेत. दरम्यान, न्यूजक्लिकच्या वकिलांनी हे प्रकरण गेल्या दोन वर्षांपासून प्रलंबित असून, त्यावर त्वरित लक्ष देण्याची गरज नाही, असा युक्तिवाद केला आहे.

राज्यात संपूर्ण निःशस्त्रीकरण करा! मणिपूरच्या ४० आमदारांची पंतप्रधानांकडे मागणी

इम्फाळ : मणिपूरमध्ये शांतता आणि सुरक्षितता नांदण्यासाठी पोषक वातावरण निर्माण करण्याची नितांत गरज असून, त्यासाठी राज्याचे संपूर्ण निःशस्त्रीकरण होणे आवश्यक आहे, असे निवेदन या मणिपूर राज्यातील चाळीस आमदारांनी शेट पंतप्रधान नरेंद्र मोदी यांना दिले आहे. या आमदारांपैकी बहुतांश मैतई वंशाचे आहेत. 'बंदखोर गटाकडील तसेच त्यांनी अवैधरीत्या सशस्त्र असलेल्या विदेशी दलांकडील आणि राज्यातील यंत्रणेकडून हिसकावून घेण्यात आलेली सर्व शस्त्रे जप्त करण्याची कारवाई आवश्यक आहे. या संदर्भात, या भागात कायमस्वरूपी शांतता सुनिश्चित करण्यासाठी केंद्रीय सुरक्षा दलांनी अधिक सक्रिय दृष्टिकोन बाळगण्याची गरज आहे', असेही या आमदारांनी म्हटले आहे. शेतकरी त्यांच्या शेतात

कामासाठी गेले असता अतिरेक्यांनी त्यांच्यावर गोळीबार करण्याच्या अनेक घटना घडल्या आहेत, याकडे निवेदनात लक्ष वेधण्यात आले आहे. तसेच मैतई आमदारांनी कथित कुकी अतिरेकी गटांसोबतचा मोहिमा स्थगितीचा करार रद्द करावा, राज्यात राष्ट्रीय नागरिक नोंदणीची अंमलबजावणी करावी आणि स्वायत्त जिल्हा कौन्सिल बळकट कराव्यात, अशीही मागणी केली आहे. तसेच या निवेदनात आमदारांनी कुकी गटांच्या 'स्वतंत्र प्रशासनाच्या' मागणीला विरोध केला आहे. 'सुरक्षितता तत्काळ स्थापन होण्यासाठी केवळ सुरक्षा दलांची तैनाती पुरेशी नाही. या क्षेत्रातील हिंसाचार थांबवणे अत्यावश्यक असले, तरी हे उद्दिष्ट साध्य करण्यासाठी संपूर्ण निःशस्त्रीकरण महत्त्वाचे आहे.
