Google faces new antitrust case over abuse in smart TV market

ADITI SHAH & ADITYA KALRA
New Delhi, 7 October

Alphabet Inc's Google is facing a new antitrust case in India in which the US tech giant is alleged to have abused its Android operating system's position in the smart television market, a source and two lawyers involved in the case told Reuters.

The case is Google's fourth major antitrust challenge in India, one of its key markets where it is currently facing public criticism from local startups for enforcing certain policies and company charges they contend hurt their growth.

It also comes as Google faces new antitrust challenges in the United States, and a potential antitrust probe in China that is set to look into how it allegedly uses its dominance of its Android mobile operating system to stifle competition. Google has denied any wrongdoing.

The Competition Commission of India (CCI) has since June been looking into allegations that Google engages in anti-competitive practices by creating barriers for firms wanting to use or develop modified versions of Android for smart TVs, such as Amazon Fire TV's operating system, according to the source, who has direct knowledge of the case.

The case has been filed by two Indian antitrust lawyers, Kshitiz Arya and

Case alleges Google abusing position in smart TVs market

Purushottam Anand. They both confirmed the case filing against Google for alleged abuse in the smart television market, but declined to comment further. The source said the CCI had directed Google to submit its written responses to the allegations and that the company has sought more time.

A Google spokesman declined comment, since the case with the antitrust was pending. Amazon and the CCI did not respond to requests for comment. Unlike Indian court cases, filings and details of cases reviewed by the CCI are not disclosed publicly. The antitrust watchdog could order a wider investigation against Google if it finds merit in the allegations, or throw out the case completely.

Smart TVs, or Wi-Fi-enabled TVs with apps for streaming services like Netflix and YouTube, have become increasingly popular in India.

Data from Counterpoint Research shows 8 million smart TV sets were sold in India in 2019. Three in five smart TVs sold in India are based on Google's Android system, which also powers nearly 99 per cent of India's half a billion smartphone user base.

The latest case alleges that Google's agreements with companies such as Xiaomi and TV manufacturer TCL India effectively stop them from using both the Android system and a modified version of it on different devices they make, according to the source.

For example, if a company sells smartphones based on Google's Android, it cannot sell smart TVs running on competing platforms like the Amazon Fire TV system, according to the case against the Mountain View, California-based company, the source said. And in reverse, if a company's smart TV is using Amazon's Fire operating system, then that company is restricted from offering Google's popular Play Store or the Google maps app on its smartphones.

Xiaomi India and TCL India, which is part of China's TCL Technology Group Corp, are both party to the case along with Google.

Xiaomi did not respond to requests for comment while TCL declined to comment. In 2018, the CCI fined Google ₹1.36 billion ($18.5 million) for 'search bias,' but a company appeal against that is pending. The CCI last year also started probing Google for allegedly misusing its dominant position to reduce the ability of smartphone makers to opt for alternate versions of its Android system.

Earlier this year, the CCI started reviewing a case alleging that Google abuses its market position to unfairly promote its mobile payments app in the country. REUTERS

Wipro to consider share buyback plan on Oct 13

BS REPORTER
Bengaluru, 7 October

IT services firm Wipro is considering to go for a share buyback programme, following a similar move by industry leader Tata Consultancy Services (TCS).

The Bengaluru-headquartered firm, in a filing with the stock exchanges on Wednesday, said the company's board of directors, in its meeting scheduled on October 13, would consider equity share buyback proposal.

Wipro is the second-largest Indian IT services firms to consider a buyback programme. TCS, in its board meeting held on Wednesday, approved to proposal to go for a ₹16,000-crore buyback programme at ₹3,000 a piece.

Typically, the share buyback programme of a company reflects the belief of its management over the growth prospects of a company. During the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic, the export-oriented IT services industry in the country largely remained resilient though they have seen some impact in sectors such as hospitality and aviation.

While TCS, which announced its Q2FY21 results on Wednesday, showed better-than-expected numbers, Wipro slated to announce its numbers on October 13.

The company, which in the previous quarter announced former Capgemini top executive Thierry Delaporte as its new chief executive officer and managing director, is looking at improving its performance in coming quarters.

TCS to offer salary hikes

SAI ISHWAR
Mumbai, 7 October

After a pause, IT industry leader Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) has decided to go ahead with salary hikes for all its employees. The salary hikes would be effective from October 1, the company said. The quantum of the raises is being worked out.

Soon after the outbreak of the pandemic, the Mumbai-headquartered company, while announcing its Q4 and FY20 results in April, had decided to freeze the salary hike decision as a cautionary move.

"The salary increase will be across all bands of employees and it (the quantum) will be similar to what we had done in the past," said Milind Lakkad, chief human resources officer at the Tata Group company. With this, TCS has become the first among the Indian IT firms to announce wage hike.

In the second quarter, attrition for the IT firm hit an all-time low of 8.9 per cent, a fall of 120 basis points on quarter-on-quarter basis.

The total headcount of the company rose by 9,864 at 453,540 staffers by the end of September quarter. TCS had virtually onboarded 7,200 trainees in India, around 1,000 in the US and close to 100 in Europe during the quarter. "The business model is strong enough to withstand any challenges," said Lakkad, when asked about the Donald Trump administration tightening the visa rules for H1B applicants.

H&M India's revenue rises 14% to ₹1,700 cr

ARNAB DUTTA
New Delhi, 7 October

Fashion retail brand H&M registered ₹1,700 crore sales in 2019, 14 per cent higher year-on-year (YoY) from ₹1,490 crore it had posted a year ago. Since its entry in 2015, the Swedish brand has managed to grow its business in India by double digits.

However, in 2019, its growth fell significantly from the previous year. In 2018, its top line had grown 43 per cent.

According to its country manager for India, Janne Einola, in the current year, its top line may suffer. With the Covid-19 pandemic and lockdowns severely impacting on-floor shopping, Einola expects to end the year at a lower level than last year.

"During the first nine months, we have suffered sales loss to the tune of 31 per cent. Currently, our operations here are at the 50 per cent level. I don't think we will be able to touch last year's sales numbers in 2020," he said. H&M follows a December to November financial year calendar.

The impact was also felt on its short-term plans. While in 2018 and 2019, it had opened eight and 12 stores, respectively, this year it is opening only two outlets in Bhubaneswar and Lucknow. This will take its store count to 48, spread across 23 cities in India.

While H&M was heavily dependent on the online channel for sales, the recent crisis has increased its dependence on the channel further. In 2019, it got nearly a quarter of its sales from the two online channels - Myntra marketplace and its own online store. "The share of online will continue to remain high for the moment, until the situation normalises," said Einola.
