Marching towards school a difficult chapter for kids

The government may have launched scores of schemes to ensure education for all the children of the state, but making it to the school is still a herculean task for some. Such is the saga of the Gudpara village of Chhatarpur, where the kids enrolled in the schools are not able to make it to the institute, due to the absence of roads there.

Reason behind the kids' ordeal is a big drainage that falls en route school. As no road or bridge has been built over it, the kids are not able to cross it to make it to the school. The

An alternative route for the school is although, available, but the students need to cover a distance of 14 kilometres to reach there. The locals said that they have approached the public representatives for hundreds of times, but to no avail.

Villagers themselves had constructed a bridge built of bamboos, which broke a few days later. The SDM as well as the MLA have also assured redressal of the issue, but no work is being done on ground in this regard, villagers alleged.

The efforts to get the electricity from other states are also hitting the hard rock as they hardly have power to share it with others. It is for the first time in the history of 122 years that rainfall in country has plummeted to 33 per cent below the seasonal average.

the department is now clinging to the hope of revival of rainfall in any part of the state as it will bring down the electricity demand. There is a possibility of rain in eastern regions of state in the coming days. But if rain continues to elude then the situa-

Prolonged dry spell dries up soybean, maize crops

Farmers battle drought, power cuts

Farmers, especially in Manawar, are worried about crops getting affected due to dry spells and erratic power supply in the region. No rain in sight for the past 15 days in the region.

Lack of rainfall almost throughout August has turned the leaves of standing soybean, maize, and cotton crops yellow and is poised to substantially reduce the productivity of the crop leaving farmers and experts worried. Power sup-

Ravindra Patidar, a local farmer from Bharadpur, said earlier the electricity department had announced to provide electricity to the farmers for 12 hours a day but the situation remains abysmal with only 6-7 hours of supply.

BJP, Cong leaders call on CEC, give suggestions

BJP seeks clear guidelines on hate speech, measures to check threat posed by AI tool

> OUR STAFF REPORTER city.bhopal@fpj.co.in

Representatives of the political parties met Chief Election Commissioner Rajiv Kumar on Monday. The CEC heard their suggestions and requests relating to the Assembly elections slated later this year. While Congress raised the issue of duplicity of names in voters' list, the BJP leaders sought clear guidelines on hate speech. BJP delegation comprising state coordinator for election commission coordination department SS Uppal, state coordinator of law cell Manoj Dwivedi and others handed over a six-point memorandum to CEC. The party leaders, stating that there was no clear definition of hate speech, sought the election commission to lay clear guidelines on the matter so that appropriate action can be taken against the offenders.

The Delegation also expressed concern over one of the tools of Artificial Intelligence that can create actual photo, video and audio and this has the capacity to misguide the voters. To control the dangers related to AI, the Election Commission should come up with necessary rule and issue guidelines, said the BJP leaders. The BJP delegation also sought information over the creation of new voting centers and the number of voters to be enrolled there.

Former CM Digvijava Singh who led the Congress delegation to CEC said that wherever election outcome is decided by less than 1000 votes, there recounting should be done and then only election result should be declared. CCTV cameras should be installed at all voter centers, at least at the main entrance gate so that all kinds of activities could be brought under the scanner, said the senior Congress leader.

Coloured voter list should be provided to the candidate during the election, after declaration of elections, no names should be added or deleted from the voter list, the delegation said. Congress said that BJP has declared 39 candidates and have begun canvassing even
