EPS subscribers with ₹1K pension rose 3% to 3.66 mn in FY24

PENSION PYRAMID

SHIVA RAJORA

New Delhi, 4 December

The total number of pensioners receiving minimum assured pension of ₹1,000 under the Employee Pension Scheme (EPS) has increased by 3 per cent to 3.66 million in the financial year 2023-24 (FY24) compared to the previous year, according to the data from the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation's (EPFO) latest annual report reviewed by Business Standard.

The data shows that the central government provided a support of ₹557 crore during FY24 for the minimum pension. Of the total number of pensioners, those who received government support to avail the minimum ₹1,000 monthly pension under EPS increased marginally from 2.06 million in FY23 to 2.05 million in FY24.

The total number of pensioners under the EPS rose by nearly 4 per cent to 7.85 million.

In September 2014, the government had given effect to worker unions' demand for the implementation of a minimum pension under EPFO, thus providing a minimum pension of ₹1,000 per month for members, ₹750 per month for orphan pensioners, and ₹250 per month for children pensioners. Any shortfall in this amount is borne by the government. EPS applies to EPFO subscribers with basic monthly pay up to ₹15,000.

Experts say that high incidence of beneficiaries receiving government support to avail the minimum monthly pension is due to the stagnation in wages of workers and high inflation, in the economy," added Sundar.

leading to lower contributions from subscribers, thus necessitating government contributions.

KR Shyam Sundar, adjunct professor, Management Development Institute, says that a large number of subscribers under the EPS are lowly paid workers, thus severely limiting their contributions towards their pension during their working age, making them dependent more on social capital rather than pension.

"EPS is a contributory scheme and the pension thus received is proportional. However, the stagnation in wages and an increase in inflation during a worker's lifetime means that contributions are less, thus leaving a worker with very little corpus and little pension afterwards, which then has to be supplemented by the government funds," he said.

Citing living costs, worker unions have been advocating for an increase in the minimum monthly pension. A delegation of the EPS-95 National Agitation Committee had met with senior officials of the EPFO earlier this year to press for a minimum monthly pension of ₹7,500. Similarly, Chennai EPF Pensioners' Welfare Association had written to Union Labour Minister Mansukh Mandaviya to increase the minimum monthly pension to ₹9,000.

"With inflation inching up and the minimum pension being fixed almost a decade back, it is pertinent that the government revises the minimum pension upwards, as is being demanded by various quarters. This will not only help the health of elderly pensioners, it will also boost the consumption expenditure in the economy," added Sundar.

India's health at a sugar tipping point, 50% see glucose imbalance

SANKET KOUK
New Delhi, 4 December

India is witnessing a diabetes epidemic in the making, with multiple research reports indicating a surge in its prevalence across the country.

According to a report by diagnostic service provider Thyrocare, 49.43 per cent of the tested population in India exhibited abnormal blood glucose levels, with 27.18 per cent identified as diabetic and 22.25 per cent as prediabetic.

The study, which analysed HbA1c (glycated haemoglobin) test results from 1.96 million adults undergoing routine health checkups in 2023, follows a similar report published in The Lancet journal, which indicated that a quarter of adults living with diabetes globally in 2022 were in India.

Obesity, especially central obesity and increased visceral fat due to physical inactivity, along with the consumption of high-calorie, high-fat, and high-sugar diets, are major contributing factors," he added.

Gender, age-wise diabetes prevalence alarmingly high

The Thyrocare study also highlighted alarming trends in the age and gender disparities in the disease's incidence. According to the study, males had a higher diabetes prevalence at 30.84 per cent, compared to 23.51 per cent among females in 2023.

This marks a rise from the National Family Health Survey-5 findings for 2019-21, which reported diabetes prevalence at 16.8 per cent for males and 15.4 per cent for females.

Prediabetes prevalence, however, remains relatively balanced between genders, with males and females at 21.56 per cent and 22.95 per cent, respectively, according to the Thyrocare report.

Data also revealed the highest diabetic burden among people aged 65 and above, with 44.92 per cent of the sample testing positive for diabetes. This group was followed by the 51-65 age group, where 41.85 per cent tested demic in India.

Obesity, especially central obesity and increased visceral fat due to physical inactivity, along with the consumption of high-calorie, high-fat, and high-sugar diets, are major contrib-

Triptii Dimri is India's most popular star for 2024. The 29-year-old actor from Amazon, Laila Majnu, and Bhookh Bhulaiyaa 3 has ranked no. 1 on IMDB's list of the top 10 stars, beating Shah Rukh Khan and Prabhas, among others.

Another 29-year-old, Ishaan Khatter, comes in at no. 3 with his second international TV series, The Perfect Couple (Netflix), where he stars with Nicole Kidman.

Sharvari (Munjya, Maharaj, and Vedaa) joins him in a list that illustrates that stardom is now completely pan-Indian, much like our cinema.

IMDb rankings are based on page views from over 250 million monthly visitors to IMDb worldwide. Stars who consistently ranked the highest in the weekly rankings in 2024 make it to the top 10. IMDb, a subsidiary of Amazon, is a global authority on movies, television shows, and celebrities.

Going by previous lists, the ranking depends, it seems, on prolificacy. In 2023, Khan, riding high on the success of Pathaan, Jawaan, and Dunki, topped the list. In 2022, it was Dhanush with Thiruchitrambalam and a role in Ryan Gosling's The Gray Man. There are many variations because, "the list allows us to capture trends across India's entertainment industries, stemming from pan-Indian titles and the increased discovery of regional movies by a broader Indian audience", says Yaminie Patodia, head of IMDb India.

The evergreens remain even without movie releases. Khan and Aishwarya Rai Bachchan consistently appear in the weekly rankings.

Can these lists be doctored by stars and their public relations teams? "Our proprietary algorithm for STARmeter rankings uses sophisticated data analysis to detect and neutralise any attempts at manipulation," claims Patodia.
