Netanyahu in last-minute bid to scupper deal to unseat him

Divis

PRIME MINISTER BENJAMIN Netanyahu manoeuvred on Sunday to try to dissuade opponents from forming a "government of change", with media reports saying a deal to unseat Israel's longest-serving leader could be imminent.

Opposition chief Yair Lapid, who has until Wednesday to put together a coalition after the fourth inconclusive election in two years, was closing in on an alliance of right-wing, centrist and leftist parties, Israeli media reported.

The new coalition's parties would have little in common apart from a plan to end the 12-year-run of Netanyahu, a right-wing leader on trial over corruption charges he denies. Lapid's chances of success rest with far-right politician Naftali Bennett, whose Yamina party's six seats in the 120-member parliament are enough to give him the status of kingmaker.

Bennett, 49, was widely expected to announce, possibly as early as Sunday, whether he would team up with Lapid, whose centrist Yesh Atid party placed second to Netanyahu's right-wing Likud in the latest further announcement might election two months ago.

Bennett convened Yamina's legislators on Sunday to discuss his next steps. Most Israeli media predicted Bennett would agree to a deal under which he would replace Netanyahu as prime minister and later give way to Lapid in a rotation agreement.

Such a deal had already been reported as close when violence broke out between Israel and Gaza militants on May 10, which prompted Bennett to suspend discussions.

To form a government with Lapid, Bennett would first have to rally his own party's legislators, despite a closer political affinity to Netanyahu's Likud. Meeting the lawmakers on Sunday, Bennett "received their unanimous support for his efforts to form a government and prevent a fifth elecbe made later in the day.

tion", a Yamina statement said, Netanyahu, 71, made a after reports he could face three-way counter-offer on Sunday to stand aside in favour party opposition to a deal with Lapid. The statement did not of another right-wing politician, Gideon Saar. Under disclose whether any agreement had been reached, but Netanyahu's blueprint, Saar the YNet website said Bennett would serve as prime minister told the legislators he was for 15 months, Netanyahu "marching towards a governwould return for two years, and ment of change".Yamina said a Bennett would then take over for the rest of the government's term. "We are at a fateful moment for Israel's security, character and future, when you put aside any personal considerations and take far-reaching and even unprecedented steps," Netanyahu said in a video statement. However, Saar swiftly rejected the offer, writing on Twitter. - REUTERS

INTERVIEW: RAMESH CHAND, member, Niti Aayog 'Doubling farmers' income by FY23 difficult as states delay reforms'

Growth in agriculture gross value added (GVA) in FY22 will likely exceed the expansion seen last year on higher prices of crops and anticipated normal and well-distributed monsoon, according to Niti Aayog member Ramesh Chand.In an interview to FE's Prasanta Sahu and Prabhudatta Mishra, he said: "Except in the case of a few states, little or no progress is seen at state level to bring reforms in agriculture policies and system of marketing. This is a big setback to achieving the goal of doubling farmers' income by FY23." Also, Chand for the first time clarified that due to public sensitivity towards genetically modified (GM) food in the country, domestic research should focus on matching the same level of productivity through non-GM technologies as many other countries have done. Excerpts:

Agriculture remains a silver lining even as the economy is battered by Covid-19. With a

By order of the Board

Crop pattern is expected to shift in favour of pulses and oilseeds in the kharif season as their prices relative to other crops are witnessing an increase.

With the second wave of Covid, rural India is reported to be affected more with infections and mortality. Will there be any impact of this on kharif sowing, particularly in terms of labour availability?

There are two types of situations in the country. One, states like Punjab and Haryana from where migrant labour working in agriculture has moved out. The second situation refers to the states in the eastern region, where migrant labourers have returned. In much of the country, there is some movement of labour from urban areas to rural areas. Lockdown has also affected non-farm rural activities rendering such unskilled workers available to work in agriculture. Overall, issue of labour availability is not going to hit the sector.

Given that agriculture sector has a relatively small share in GDP, if real estate workers affected by Covid also join farming, what impact will it have on livelihoods?

Agriculture sector is the largest sector of Indian economy both in terms of output as well as employment. In FY21, share of agriculture in GDP has risen to 20%; the increase was largely due to negative growth in other sectors and normal growth in agriculture. Agriculture and construction together provide employment to 61% of rural workforce and both these activities in rural India are by and large intact. We need to take concrete measures for livelihood of migrants who have returned to their native places in rural areas and the workforce engaged in informal employment what is the way out in food policy management as it turned outto be a huge and rising economic burden on the government to maintain and dispose of extra stocks?

achieved through GM crops in some countries. This is possible.

With continuous surplus of rice and wheat production,

At present, India produces more rice and wheat than what is domestic demand. If we are not able to export it, then certainly we should not waste resources in producing surplus. Policy support is gradually expanding towards pulses and oilseeds. We need to bring bal ance in support to rice and wheat vis-a-vis other crops to attract farmers shift some area away from these cereals either towards pulses and oil seeds or towards fruits and vegetables.

Why shifting from paddy and other water-guzzling crops, particularly in Punjab and Haryana, has not taken off?

There is a very large differ ence in profitability from rice and wheat as compared to the crops considered an alternative to them. Rice and wheat earned big advantage over other crops because of technological breakthrough as well as assured and committed price support and input subsidies.At present, no field crop comes near to wheat and rice in terms of net income to farmers, even if subsidies on inputs are taken away. Also, price risk in these two crops is nil and production risk in quite low. Thus, to find a viable option, we require upgradation in technologyand productivity of alternative crops along with assured pricing environment.

Is it feasible to transfer cash subsidy on fertiliser directly to bank accounts of farmers instead of manufactures. How soon can we expect this to happen?

Of course, it is feasible. Some groundwork has already been done by Ministry of Fertilisers in this direction. The issue facing fertiliser use in Indian agriculture has more to do with the structure of subsidy (which isbiased towards urea) rather than method of giving subsidy.
