Thunder clouds gather around a flight in the morning sky at Vadodara, Friday. Bhupendra Rana

2 killed, 5 injured in lightning strike in Vadodara, Tapi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
SURAT, VADODARA, JUNE 28

TWO PERSONS died, while five others were severely injured in separate incidents of lightning strikes in Vadodara and Tapi districts on Friday.

In Vadodara city's Fatehgunj area, six persons of a family were struck by lightning after they took shelter under a tree during heavy rain on Friday.

Navalsinh Parmar (35), Ramsinh Parmar (35), Munna Parmar (35), Sarvesh Parmar (20), Elu Damor (25) and Kalu Damor (30) were daily wage labourers and returning from their work site when they were caught in the midst of heavy downpour, accompanied by thunder and lightning, near EME premises. They took shelter under a tree, which got struck by lightning.

Police said that the local residents called an ambulance that took the six men to SSG hospital. However, Navalsinh succumbed to his burn injuries, while the other five were admitted in a critical condition.

A medical officer on duty in the SSG emergency and burns ward said that the five victims are still critical. Vadodara has been witnessing spells of heavy rain since Thursday.

Surat and its neighbouring districts in south Gujarat have also been witnessing heavy rainfall for the last 24 hours.

In Tapi district's Nizartaluka, a man and his cattle died in lightning strike on Friday.

Gomabhai Bhimsingh Vasava (55), a resident of Laxmikhedra village in Nizar taluka, was returning to his house in his bullock cart from his agricultural field on the outskirts when lightning struck him and one of the cattle, as per Tapi district flood control department.

Vasava and the cattle died on the spot. The villagers later informed police.

As per the flood control department of Surat district, all talukas witnessed light to heavy downpour in the last 24 hours. Kamrej taluka witnessed the highest rainfall with 113 mm, followed by Mangrol 105 mm, Palsana 66 mm, Mandvi 31 mm, Mahuva 20 mm, Choryasi 11 mm and Umrpada 9 mm. Surat city received 16 mm rainfall and several areas were found waterlogged on Friday.

Valsad district witnessed heavy rainfall in the last 24 hours. Kaprada taluka received 50.8 mm, Dharampur 52 mm, Vapi 52 mm and Valsad town 38.1 mm.

In Navsari district, Khergam received 50.4 mm rainfall, Chikhli 25.4 mm, Navsari town 15 mm and Jalalpur 13 mm rain in the last 24 hours.

In Dangs district, Saputara 20 mm and Ahwa 15 mm rain.

Apart from this, the water level in Ukai dam on Friday stood at 275.71 feet due to heavy rainfall in the upper catchment areas in Madhya Pradesh and Maharashtra.

State govt to create 'regional grids' to channel treated waste water for reuse

Infrastructure to transport 1,000 MLD of treated water to industrial clusters to be set up in one year

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
AHMEDABAD, JUNE 28

AS THE state faces acute water shortage, the government is planning to create "regional grids" to treat sewage water and transport it to the nearest industrial cluster. The state is expected to set up the capacity to treat 1,000 MLD (million litres per day) waste water in the next one year and has plans to sell it to industries at the rate of Rs 20-30 per kilo litre.

"Israel has separate grids for transporting drinking water and treated water," JP Gupta, Principal Secretary (Water Supply) and chairman of Gujarat Water Supply and Sewerage Board (GWSSB) said on Friday, speaking on the sidelines of the 6th Gujarat Water Summit organised by the Confederation of Indian Industry. "We have already created a separate grid for drinking water in Gujarat. We are now thinking of creating regional grids in the state, where for instance Ahmedabad's sewage water will be treated and reused (by industries located) in the vicinity of the city."

Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) and special pipelines will be constructed to form these regional grids, which will enable the transportation of treated water to industrial clusters. Gujarat generates over 5,000 MLD of sewage, of which only 43 MLD is being reused. Currently, Surat reuses treated waste water by supplying it to an industrial cluster. At Bhavnagar, water is being used for a thermal power plant and Rajkot is reusing treated water for the construction industry.

"It has been clearly mandated that wherever waste water is available, thermal units or industrial units consuming more than one lakh litres of water per day will have no choice but to use treated waste water. There is no option," Gupta said.

"We are planning a project for which a feasibility study is going on. Under this project, we are planning to take Ahmedabad's sewage water right up to Dholera SIR (Special Investment Region) and Mandal Becharaji region," the IAS officer added.

Various industrial clusters have been identified by the state government, depending on the location of sewage treatment plants. For instance in Jamnagar, the waste water is proposed to serve the industrial cluster of Reliance Industries, Essar Group, Sikka thermal power plant and GSFC (Gujarat State Fertilizer & Chemicals Limited). In Surat, one project of 300 MLD is for Hazira industrial area and two others for Sachin and Pandesara industrial cluster. In Vadodara, Rajivnagar sewage treatment plant will supply treated water to IPCL (Indian Petrochemicals Limited, which has been merged with Reliance Industries) and IOC (Indian Oil Corporation) facilities through a specially laid 15 km-long pipeline.

Last year, the state government declared a policy for the use of treated waste water. "Reused water is not for human consumption. But we are using it in industries, thermal power plants and the construction industry," Gupta said. Sewage is being considered an economic resource, and the government plans to sell treated sewage water. "Though the price is yet to be decided, it could be between Rs 20-30 per kilolitre," he said. At present, fresh water is being provided to industries at Rs 40 per kilolitre.

Gujarat plans to reuse 70 per cent of treated waste water by 2025 and 100 per cent by 2030. "This timetable is being squeezed and we will probably do it by 2023," Gupta said.

Water supply down, industries face cuts

The delayed monsoon and the acute water shortage has forced the state government to cut water supply to industries in Saurashtra and Kutch regions, a state government official said on Friday.

"We have a very bad situation in Saurashtra and Kutch... Industries in this region are facing a water cut. In Saurashtra we had no source (of water). Except for Shetrunji dam, not a single dam in Saurashtra has water. Saurashtra is almost dry," GWSSB chairman JP Gupta said.

Despite the recent rains, especially in Saurashtra region, no water has flowed in to the dams, he added. Earlier this year, the state government pumped Narmada water in to the Tappar dam in Kutch and to other dams such as Aji, Macchu and Bhadar in Saurashtra region. The government official said some industries in the Dahej region of Bharuch in South Gujarat were also facing water shortage due to the downstream regions of the Narmada river not having sufficient quantities for supply.

3 bird hits in 4 days at Vadodara airport

Vadodara: As many as three incidents of bird hit have taken place at Vadodara airport in the past four days amid the monsoon season, a senior airport official said Friday. These incidents led to three aircraft of different airlines getting stuck at the airport, he said.

Small insects, food particles and water bodies that attract birds are found in abundance around the airport premises during the rainy season, leading to an increase in cases of aircraft being hit by birds, Vadodara airport director Charan Singh said. He added that measures such as bursting crackers before the departure or arrival of aircraft are being taken to scare away birds, he said. However, soon after the departure of flights, the birds fly back to the same spot again. PTI
