SUBSIDY AMOUNT TOUCHED ₹2.52 TRILLION LAST FISCAL

Direct transfer for fertiliser subsidy unlikely in FY24

SANDIP DAS New Delhi, May 11

THE UNION GOVERNMENT is unlikely to roll out direct benefit transfer scheme for fertiliser subsidies this fiscal due to reluctance shown by states.

Sources told FE the idea of direct cash transfer was objected to, as under that model, the farmer would have to pay a substantial amount upfront for buying fertiliser prior to the actual subsidy amount being transferred to their bank accounts.

market rates before subsidies are transferred to beneficiaries' bank accounts is the main factor behind the state governments' hesitation in approving the policy.

Subsidy component of the fertiliser bill is quite high while the farmers' ability to buy fertilisers at actual market rate is limited, an official said. Out of 140 million farmers in the country, around 75% have small holdings of less than two hectares. Under the proposed pilot project for a modified scheme for direct benefits transfer to farmers where sales of subsidised fertilisers to farmers would be capped, taking into consideration the land holdings has not made much progress.

In case of urea, farmers pay a fixed price of ₹266 per bag (45 kg) against the cost of production of around ₹2,500 per bag. The balance is provided by the government as a subsidy to fertiliser users.

The retail prices of phosphatic and potassic (P&K) fertilisers, including Di-ammonium phosphate (DAP) were 'decontrolled' in 2020 with the introduction of a 'fixed-subsidy' regime as part of Nutrient Based Subsidy mechanism announced by the government.

Currently sale of all subsidised fertiliser to farmers or buyers is currently made through 0.26 million point of sale (PoS) devices installed at outlets since March 2018. Beneficiaries are identified through Aadhaar number, Kisan Credit Card and other documents.

The government releases subsidies on various fertilisers to the companies on the basis of actual sales made by the retailers to the farmers. The expenses on account of fertiliser subsidy touched the record level of ₹2.52 trillion in FY23.
